NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: PRESEASON NOTEBOOK

After sitting behind Darian Durant for three years, senior Matt Baker is set to take over at quarterback in 2005.

INEXPERIENCED QUARTERBACKS

No current North Carolina quarterback has ever started a college game. Senior Matt Baker is UNC's most experienced signal caller and has played in just 12 games, mostly in relief of record-setting QB Darian Durant. Baker has completed 44 of 80 passes in his career for 623 yards and three touchdowns. He enters the season as the starter and will be backed up by sophomore Roger Heinz, redshirt freshman Joey Bozich and freshmen Cam Sexton and Bobby Rome. Heinz played in just one game last season and did not attempt a pass. Sexton graduated from high school in December, then participated in Carolina's bowl practices in Charlotte and spring workouts in Chapel Hill. Unfortunately, he broke his ankle in spring practice, twisting his foot in the grass after scoring a touchdown untouched. He had surgery to repair the damage to his ankle and was expected to miss four months of action. Rome enters training camp in August. Eight of the 12 teams in the ACC return their starting quarterback in 2005.

MOST DIFFICULT SCHEDULE IN THE COUNTRY ... AGAIN

North Carolina's 2005 schedule has been ranked the most difficult in the country according to CBS Sportsline. Carolina's non-conference schedule includes home games against Wisconsin on September 17 and Utah on October 1 and a road contest at Louisville on October 8. All three of those teams finished in the top 25 last season and Utah (No. 4) and Louisville (No. 6) were in the Top 10. Seven of UNC's opponents went to a bowl game. In ACC competition, Carolina faces Miami, Virginia Tech, NC State and Georgia Tech on the road. Three of the final four games of the year are at home. Last season, the Tar Heels' slate was the toughest in the country according to the Sagarin rankings.

NINE STARTERS RETURNING ON DEFENSE

Carolina returns nine starters on defense this year, not including defensive tackle Chase Page who started all 12 games in 2003. Page tore a tendon in his hand last August and missed the entire season. Page will slide into the spot left vacant by Jonas Seawright, who graduated and signed with the New York Giants. The only position Carolina needs to replace on defense is strong safety, where Gerald Sensabaugh played last year. Sensabaugh was selected by Jacksonville in the 2005 NFL Draft. Last season, Carolina's defense improved as the season progressed and held Duke to 234 total yards in the regular season finale. That was the fewest allowed by a Tar Heel defense since the 2001 Peach Bowl victory over Auburn.

TAR HEELS TO COMPETE IN COASTAL DIVISION

With the addition of Boston College to the Atlantic Coast Conference this season, the league will be divided into two separate divisions – Atlantic and Coastal. North Carolina will compete this season in the Coastal Division along with Miami, Virginia Tech, Georgia Tech, Virginia and Duke. Carolina will play each of those teams every season, along with NC State from the Atlantic Division. In addition, Carolina will play two other teams from the Atlantic for a total of eight conference games. This year, Carolina plays Boston College and Maryland from the Atlantic Division.

A LOOK AT THE TRENDS

- The Tar Heels have seen their rushing yards per game average increase in each of the last three seasons. After struggling in 2002 with just 102.5 rushing yards per game, Carolina improved to 150.4 in 2003 and 176.2 in 2004. Last year's average was the highest since 1994.
- Carolina reversed two troubling trends last season, penalties and turnovers. The Tar Heels finished second in the league in fewest penalty yards (42.8 per game) and forced 15 turnovers, the most since 2001. Carolina had eight interceptions last season, a year after picking off a program-low two in 2004.

BY THE NUMBERS

0 Number of starts by a quarterback on the 2005 roster.

OFFENSE LOOKING TO STAY SHARP

The Tar Heels finished second in the ACC in total offense a year ago, averaging 390.7 yards per game, and had arguably the most balanced offensive attack in the league. Carolina was second in passing yards per game (214.4) and fourth in rushing yards per game (176.2). North Carolina (6.0) and Virginia (6.1) were the only two schools in the ACC to average at least six yards per offensive play. Carolina returns five starters from last year's offense, including three offensive linemen and two receivers. The Tar Heels must replace All-America center Jason Brown, record-setting quarterback Darian Durant and tailbacks Chad Scott and Jacque Lewis.

JUSTICE IS THREE-TIME ACADEMIC ALL-ACC

Senior linebacker Doug Justice has earned Academic All-ACC honors three times at Carolina from 2002-04. The Port Orange, Fla., native is one of the most experienced linebackers on the team with 20 career starts and 190 tackles. He was named a captain for last year's Miami game and responded with his best effort of the season, earning the game's defensive MVP honors from the coaching staff. No player in Carolina history has ever earned Academic All-ACC honors four times. Justice, place-kicker Clint Gwaltney (1989-91), defensive lineman Alex Simakas (1988-90), defensive back Steve Hendrickson (1982-84) and center Rick Donnalley (1978-80) are the only Tar Heels to be honored three times. Justice is an active member in the community, participating in Carolina Football's visits to the UNC Children's Hospital, reading books to elementary school students and building houses for Habitat for Humanity. Last summer, he interned in the UNC Athletic Department marketing office.

Jarwarski Pollock is 18 catches shy of becoming Carolina's all-time leading receiver.

MOST SENIORS IN BUNTING'S FIVE SEASONS

North Carolina has 17 scholarship seniors on the 2005 team, the most ever under John Bunting in his five seasons as head coach. The previous high was 14 in 2001 when the Tar Heels went 8-5 and won the Peach Bowl over Auburn. Bunting has noted often that the 2001 team was the perfect team to coach wit a majority of senior starters and many talented juniors, including All-America defensive end Julius Peppers. Here is a look at the last five senior classes and some of the top players in that class.

- 2001 - 14 seniors (Curry, Thornton, Monk, Bailey, Metts)
- 2002 - 10 seniors (Aiken, Hilton, Borders)
- 2003 - 13 seniors (Blizzard, Reid)
- 2004 - 13 seniors (Brown, Durant, Scott, Lewis)
- 2005 - 17 seniors (Page, Pollock, Richardson, Baker)

POLLOCK CLOSES IN ON UNC'S CAREER RECEIVING MARK

Senior wide receiver Jarwarski Pollock needs just 19 catches to eclipse Na Brown (1995-98) as Carolina's all-time leading receiver. Pollock enters the 2005 season fourth at UNC with 147 catches for 1,617 yards and seven touchdowns. He trails only Leon Johnson (151), Corey Holliday (155) and Na Brown (165) in the Carolina record book. Pollock established the single-season receiving record in 2003 with 71 receptions and is averaging 4.2 catches per game in his career. Pollock has caught at least three passes in 25 of his 35 career games, including a career-high 11 against NC State in 2003.

FRESHMEN CONTRIBUTE TO DRAMATIC WINS AT KENAN STADIUM

Nestled among the Carolina pine trees, Kenan Stadium was the host of several dramatic victories last season as the Tar Heels went 4-2 at home.

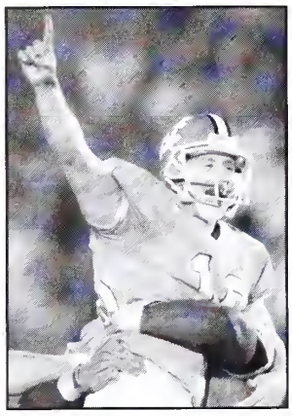

Following an explosive offensive performance by both teams in Carolina's season opening win over William & Mary, a Carolina freshman captivated the crowd with a memorable defensive effort on the final play of the following game against Georgia Tech.

Hilee Taylor vs. Georgia Tech

Khalif Mitchell vs. NC State

Connor Barth vs. Miami

Playing in just his third career game, Carolina freshman defensive end Hilee Taylor made a spectacular play against the Yellow Jackets. Georgia Tech was down to its final play when quarterback Reggie Ball took the snap and rolled to his right. Taylor sidestepped a blocker and stripped the ball from the Georgia Tech signal caller. Taylor scooped up the ball and raced the final 24 yards for a touchdown as time expired in a 34-13 Carolina victory.

Three weeks later against archrival NC State it was another freshman who stole the show. With the Tar Heels up by six points and time winding down, NC State mounted a drive to the Tar Heel 1-foot line. Wolfpack running back T.A. McLendon had been stopped on the previous play just shy of the goal line and NC State had time for one more play. Predictably, McLendon took the ball again and tried to leap over the UNC defensive line. There to meet him, however, was Khalif Mitchell, who expertly put his helmet on the ball while wrapping up the running back. The ball came flying loose and landed in the hands of Carolina safety Kareen Taylor, securing a 30-24 victory and setting off a wild postgame celebration.

That celebration was just a prelude to Carolina's next home game against the fourth-ranked Miami Hurricanes. With two weeks to prepare, Carolina was ready for the ACC newcomer and got off to a quick start, leading 21-14 at halftime. Miami eventually tied the game in the fourth quarter with 2:25 remaining, just enough time for Carolina to mount a drive. Quarterback Darian Durant calmly led the Tar Heels down the field and set up the game's final play. Connor Barth, a laid-back freshman from Wilmington, N.C., nailed a 42-yard field goal as time expired to lift the Tar Heels to a stunning 31-28 victory. It was the highest ranked team Carolina had ever defeated and was arguably the greatest victory in school history. Fans stormed the field and both goal posts were taken down in minutes.

O-LINE STILL THE STRENGTH OF OFFENSE

orth Carolina's offensive line has become one f the top units in the league under the tutelage of oach Hal Hunter who arrived in 2002. Last sea- on, the offensive line paved the way for arolina's improved running attack as the Tar eels gained over 175 yards per contest and nked second in the ACC in total offense. arolina also was second in the league in sacks llowed with just 21 in 12 games. The starting ffensive line includes senior tackles Brian hacos and Skip Seagraves, senior guard Kyle alph and sophomore sensation Charlston Gray. alph earned second-team All-ACC honors last ear and is a leading candidate for all-conference onors this season. Gray was named a first-team reshman All-America by The Sporting News nd may be the most athletic player on the line. nderrated Brian Chacos did not allow a sack uring the regular season a year ago and Skip eagraves is returning for a sixth year of eligibili- y. At center, the starter entering the fall is soph- more Ben Lemming who played in eight games s a reserve tackle in 2004. Seagraves (26), Ralph 17), Chacos (12) and Gray (7) have a combined 2 starts at Carolina.

A second-team All-ACC performer last year, Kyle Ralph leads an experienced offensive line.

MOST TRUE FRESHMEN IN MORE THAN A DECADE

In addition to the heroics of rookies Barth, Mitchell and Taylor, several other fresh-faced Tar Heels saw their first collegiate action in 2004. In act, 13 true freshman played for the first time last season, the most at Carolina n more than a decade. Carolina played 12 true freshmen in 2003 and has played 5 in the last two seasons. In the four years prior to 2003, Carolina played a total f just 22 freshmen.

From 1994-99 an average of 4.2 true freshmen saw action. Since the 2000 sea- on, the averaged as jumped to 8.4 and under head coach John Bunting (2001- 4), the average is 9.5 per season.

ON THE ROAD TO MIAMI & BLACKSBURG

After playing host to ACC newcomers Miami and Virginia Tech last year, North Carolina will pay a visit to both Miami and Blacksburg in 2005. The last time Carolina set foot in the South Beach area for a regular season game was 1961 when the Hurricanes shut out the Tar Heels 10-0. Carolina played at Miami's Joe Robbie Stadium in the 1995 Carquest Bowl, beating Arkansas 20-10. Although the two schools have met on 27 occasions, Carolina and Virginia Tech have only played in Blacksburg one time, a 39-21 Tar Heel victory in 1930.

LAST TIME IN LOUISVILLE

Carolina and Louisville are meeting this season for just the fifth time and the series is tied 2-2. The last time Carolina played at Louisville was in 1995, when the Tar Heels pulled off a dramatic 17-10 victory. Mike Thomas hit Octavus Barnes for a 35-yard touchdown with 14 seconds left to play to win the game on a Thursday night game before an ESPN national audience. Carolina dominated statistically, but was thwarted by turnovers and a myriad of other mistakes. UNC lost five fumbles – the main reason the game remained in doubt even though Carolina outgained Louisville, 406-159.

EFFICIENT IN THE RED ZONE

Last season, Carolina was one of the top teams in the league inside the red zone, scoring 87.8 percent of the time when inside the opponent's 20-yard line. The Tar Heels finished second in the league in red zone efficiency. UNC converted on 39 of 44 opportunities, scoring 27 touchdowns and kicking 12 field goals.

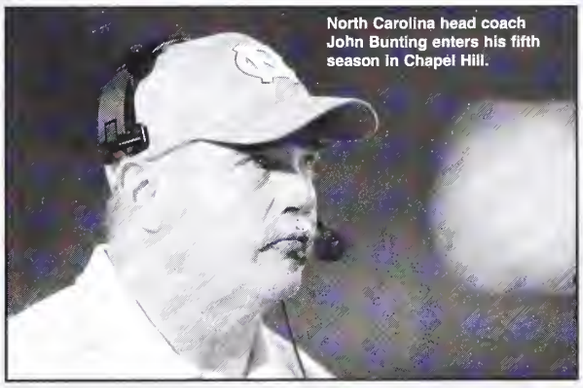

BUNTING ADJUSTS COACHING STAFF

Head coach John Bunting filled two coaching vacancies during the offseason with the linebackers coach Tommy Thigpen, a former all-conference linebacker at North Carolina, and wide receivers coach Dave Brock. Bunting also adjusted the responsibilities of several assistants and promoted John Gutekunst to assistant head coach, Marvin Sanders to defensive coordinator and Andre' Powell to special teams coordinator. Gutekunst will tutor the tight ends and Kenny Browning will shift to defensive tackles, a position he oversaw at Carolina from 1994-2000. Brad Lawing, the defensive line coach in each of the last two seasons, will continue to coach the defensive ends.

Thigpen was hired from Illinois where he coached for two years and had been asked to remain on Ron Zook's Illini staff. He was the cornerbacks coach in 2003 and the linebackers coach in 2004. A four-year letterwinner at North Carolina from 1989-92, Thigpen was a three-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference linebacker, earning first-team honors in 1991. He was co-captain of the 1992 team that went 9-3 and beat Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl, the first of seven straight bowl games for the Tar Heels in the 1990s.

Brock comes to Carolina from Temple where he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the past three seasons. Under Brock's direction, Temple's spread offense was one of the most exciting in the Big East. Last season, Temple ranked third in the Big East, generating 173.0 yards on the ground per game. The Owls also passed for 2,428 yards, the fourth-most in program history, and averaged 393.7 total yards per game.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: QUOTING JOHN BUNTING

North Carolina head coach John Bunting enters his fifth season in Chapel Hill.

ON THE 2005 SEASON

"August is a great time of the year to me. It's a chance to get back on the practice field, a chance to see which players have made strides in off-season conditioning and a chance to prove ourselves on the field. I enjoy it and I think the players enjoy it.

"I can't think of a better place to be than at this great University, coaching football and preparing our players for what we hope is a great season.

"We have a difficult schedule this season. I think our team enjoys those challenges and I can't wait to tee it up on September 10 for the first game of the year at Georgia Tech."

ON THE TEAM'S SENIOR LEADERSHIP

"Matt Baker and Chase Page and some other players on both the offensive and defensive sides have really taken a major step forward in terms of leadership. This will be the largest number of seniors I've ever had on scholarship – 17 – and I'm real excited about their leadership.

"I want them to realize how much they can accomplish if they stick together and lead this team. Last season's motto was 'Now...Together.' I hope this year's team can build on that by doing the right things on and off the field and playing together as one."

ON PREPARING FOR A SEASON WITHOUT QB DARIAN DURANT

"I spent about an hour with Darian this summer talking about his career. I can't tell you how much I will miss him. I began to miss him the moment that game was over in Charlotte and I told him that as we walked off the field. It was hard to say goodbye to him.

"Matt Baker is going to be a one-year starter for us and I think he can have tremendous success. (Offensive coordinator) Gary Tranquill has had success with one-year starters before. Scott Secules and Matt Blundin at Virginia both started just one year and both played in the NFL."

ON THE PLAY OF QB MATT BAKER

"Each year Matt's gained more confidence. He's gotten stronger and he's extremely comfortable with the offense. The only thing he lacks is game experience. He's been on the field, but now he is in charge. The offensive line has a tremendous amount of confidence in him, so does Gary Tranquill and so do I. He has to let go of any pressure he may feel and just go out there and play football.

"One of the mandates for spring was to become more sophisticated defensively. That also was to show Matt a number of looks. He saw a lot of different defensive fronts and he faced a number of different blitzes. He grew a great deal during the spring and got better.

"The most important thing for Matt is to become comfortable with the offense and get on the same page with the receivers. We open a week later than most teams, so we need to make sure he's in the right frame of mind before the first game."

ON THE OFFENSIVE PHILOSOPHY

"Our offense doesn't change a lot without Darian. I think Matt's No. 1 job is to manage. He still has to make plays, complete some passes, but I still think we can score points. We need to establish the running game like we did last season. That became more difficult with the loss of Ronnie McGill. With our offensive line and the players we have in the backfield, I think we should be able to run the ball effectively.

"I can't think of a better place to be than at this great University, coaching football and preparing our players for what we hope is a great season."

"We need to continue to get more turnovers and limit ours. Heading into the season, that will be the scariest part for me."

ON THE LOSS OF TAILBACK RONNIE MCGILL

"I'm extremely disappointed for Ronnie. He is an exceptional person, a tremendous team player and a great representative of this University. I know he will work hard to rejoin his teammates on the field as soon as he can. Like we did last season when Chase was hurt before the season began, we have to rally and come together as a team more than we've ever done before. I have confidence in the other players we have at that position, but it hurts to lose Ronnie, because he was such a team player."

ON THE PLAY OF TAILBACK BARRINGTON EDWARDS

"I have never seen anything like what I saw last fall in terms of the way a player participated on the scout team. Everyday he was upbeat. Everyday was his game day. On Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays it was game day for him against our defense, and, frankly, at times he torched us.

"He was very impressive this spring. He still needs to learn the offense. He needs to learn our routes and he needs to learn our protection schemes. He's got a lot to learn so we can count on him when the season starts."

ON THE DEFENSE IMPROVING

"In order for us to have a good season, our defense has to greatly improve. What we saw in the last four regular-season games of 2004 was a defense that knew what to do, that played organized and played more disciplined. If you want to be good on defense, you must not make mental errors. We stressed that all spring. If we want to be a top 25 team and if we want to have a successful season, then our defense has to take it to another level. We have to make a dramatic change and that starts in th opener against Georgia Tech.

"Our front is as good as it's been since the 2001 season. We may not have (Julius) Peppers and (Ryan) Sims, but we have some solid players who are All-ACC candidates like Chase Page and Tomm Davis. We have a good rotation of players and we moved Kenny Browning back to that side of the ball to work with the defensive tackles. I think we're going to be much better at linebacker. There's competition at that position. And I believe if we find someone to replace Gerald Sensabaugh at safety, then we'll have a sound secondary.

"We haven't played well on defense since 2001 with the exception of two or three ball games. We played well against Miami and fairly well against Virginia Tech and Wake Forest last year. It hurts and it bothers me that we haven't played better defense. I'm going to keep doing what I've always done and that is to keep grinding away, making our players accountable and making sure our coaches are doing the right things to mak them accountable."

ON THE CENTER POSITION

"Ben Lemming has tremendous potential. He's very powerful, very athletic an very smart. Like Jason Brown, he has th intelligence to play that position and the power to play that position. It wasn't perfect when Jason firs moved in there as a sophomore. I don't want to go through a whole lot of those growing pains like we did in 2002. Ben will compete with Steven Bell and Arthur Smith to see who can play it the best. We cannot have the ball on the ground. We got that solved this spring, but we can't afford for that to happen again like it did in Jason's first year."

ON DEFENSIVE TACKLE CHASE PAGE

"Chase was having an unbelievable summer before that injury last August. He leads by example and I'm counting on him, Tommy Davis and Doug Justice to be the kingpins on that defense. Chase ha NFL ability. He had a very good spring and is a hard-working kid. He benefits a lot by having this extra year. It may have been a blessing in disguise.

ON CAROLINA'S DIFFICULT SCHEDULI

"I've always liked the challenges of our schedule in the past. We played what most people thought was the No. 1 schedule in the country last year and some people are saying that about this season. We want to play a national schedule. I love being able to tell recruits that we've played Texas, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Arizona State, Utah and Louisville and on the horizon are Notre Dame and Colorado. I think that's terrific. Now with the ACC schedule and playing Miami and Virginia Tech every year, w have to be sensible about who our non-conference opponents are. We still want to schedule nationally but we have to be careful who we schedule."

THE CAROLINA EXPERIENCE

KENAN STADIUM AND THE KENAN FOOTBALL CENTER

• The home of the Tar Heels since 1927, picturesque Kenan Stadium has seen the likes of Charlie "Choo-Choo" Justice, Don McCauley, Julius Peppers, Ronald Curry and Darian Durant on its turf.

• Last season, the magic returned to Kenan Stadium as the Tar Heels defeated William & Mary, Georgia Tech, NC State and Miami at hame. Against NC State, Caralina stopped tailback T.A. McClendon at the goal line on the final two plays af the game to preserve a 30-24 victory. On his final attempt, McClendon fumbled the ball after a perfect hit by freshman defensive end Khalif Mitchell and Carolina recovered. Caralina returned to Kenan Stadium three weeks later and pulled off arguably the greatest upset in school history, defeating fourth-ranked Miami 31-28 an freshman Connor Barth's 42-yard field goal as time expired.

• The Kenan Football Center was added in 1997 as part of a $50 million expansion to the venerable stadium. The Center houses the Carolina football program, including the lacker rooms, weight room, training roam, equipment room, players' lounge, computer labs and study areas, 100-plus seat auditorium, caaches' offices and the Charlie Justice Hall of Honor. An additianal 8,000 seats and a preferred seating box were alsa part of the expansion project.

• The Charlie Justice Hall of Honor, located on the ground floor, is a multi-media histary of Caralina football. Photographs, awards, trophies and artifacts detailing the rich and storied history of the sport in Chapel Hill are on display.

• The football center is named in honar of the late Frank H. Kenan, one of the school's most generous benefactors. Kenan was a Durham resident and chief executive officer of Kenan Transpart Company in Chapel Hill.

• A $2 million scorebaard was added at the east end of the stadium in 2003. The scoreboard was financed through an agreement with Learfield Communications, UNC's multi-media rights halder, and includes the cast of the video board, installation and a new public address system. More than 40 new speakers were added thraughaut Kenan Stadium.

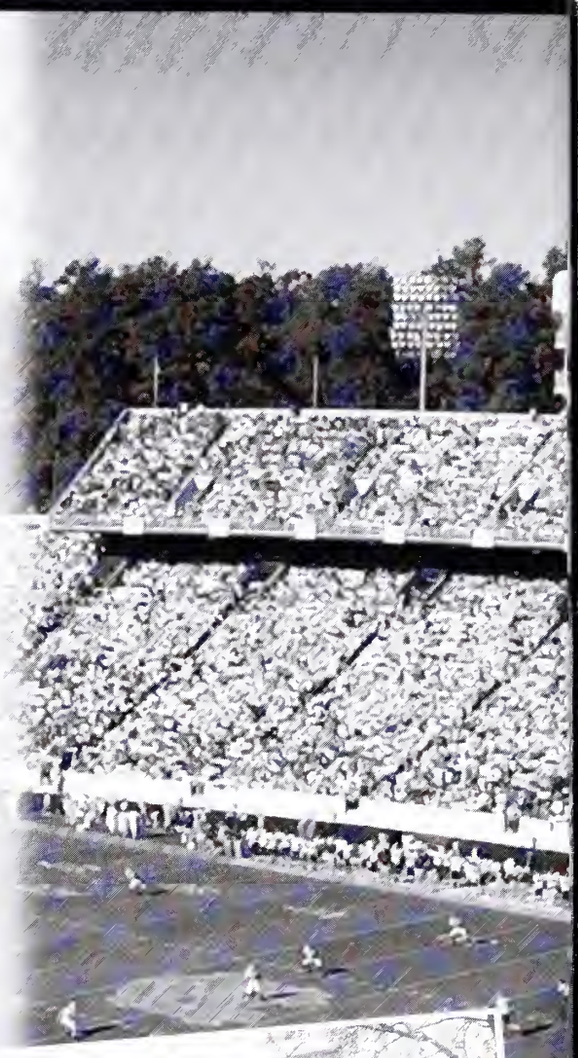

• William Rand Kenan Jr. deserves the credit far ariginally making the stadium a part of the University. The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrove Kenan.

• Constructian of Kenan Stadium began in November 1926 and was completed the fallawing August. Camplete cast of the stadium and accompanying field hause was $303,000.

• ESPN football analyst Mel Kiper ranked Kenan Stadium as ane of the 10 mast scenic venues in the country. Said Kiper, "With all the pine trees surrounding Kenan Stadium, this is a picture postcard setting any time of the year."

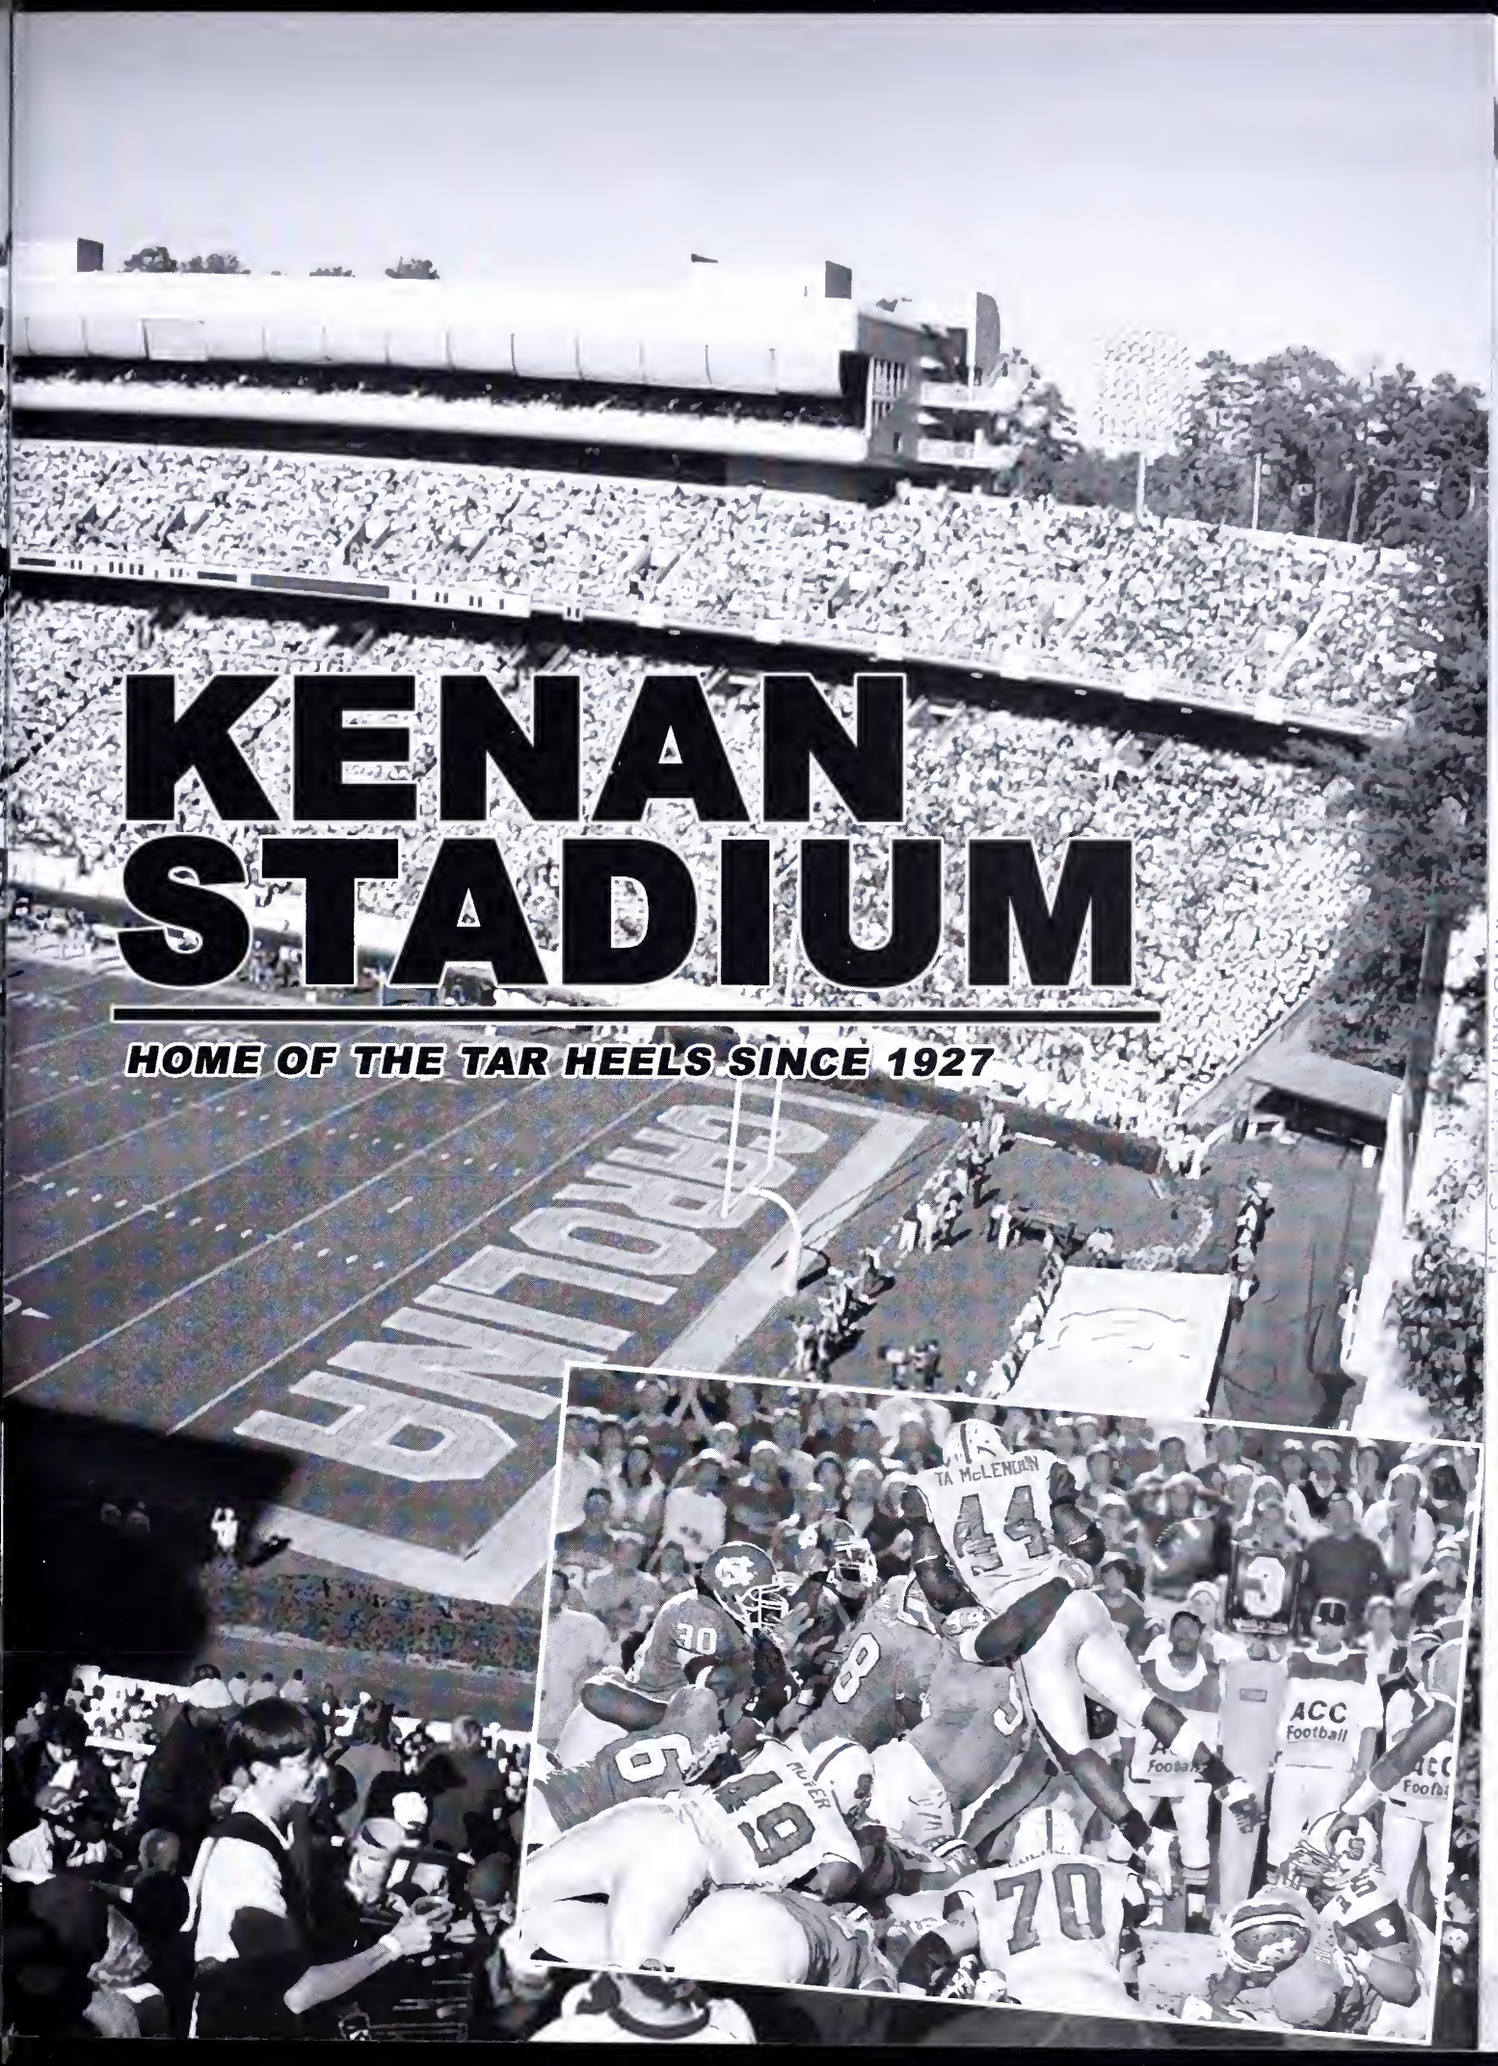

• As ariginally built, Kenan Stadium seated 24,000. In 1963, an upper deck was added ta the permanent stands, increasing capacity to 48,000. That was expanded to 50,000 in 1979, 52,000 in 1988, 57,000 in 1997 and 60,000 in 1998.

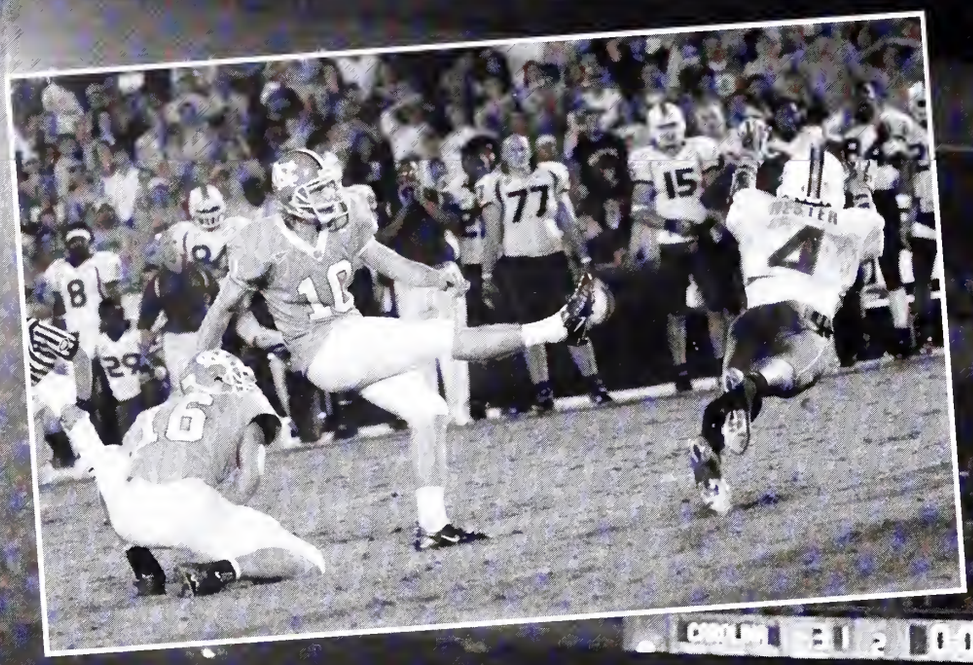

• The largest crowd ta see a game at Kenan Stadium was 62,000 against Flarida State in 1997.

A SATURDAY TRADITION IN CHAPEL HILL

CHAPEL HILL: A FOOTBALL TOWN

by Adam Lucas • October 31, 2004

I went to a game at a football school on Saturday night.

It wos a crackling atmosphere. Pulled up to my parking space about 90 minutes before the game and there were numerous tailgate parties in progress. The weather was so perfect you felt like you were in a dome, that the temperature had to be artificially controlled. Across the parking lot, one guy had o two-man band playing Jimmy Buffett songs. There was a throng of people gathered around, eating wings, drinking cold beverages, having fun.

It seemed like a decent football atmosphere.

Got to my seat, saw thousands of people already in the stands and wearing blue. They sang the alma mater with the alumni band, shouting out, "Priceless gem!" at just the right time. The homecoming king and queen were crowned. The video board in one end zone came to life and played an entrance video for the team that featured, as its crowning moment, Khalif Mitchell stuffing some guy wearing red, who promptly fumbled the football. The crowd enjoyed seeing that play again, even though most were watching it for roughly the 62nd time. The guy in front of me ate a couple pieces of fried chicken.

Then the game started. Apparently the home team was a big underdog, because everyone sitting around me kept saying, "If we can just stay in this game..." And something crazy happened: they did.

Corolina had this guy at tailback who was channeling Amos Lawrence. Most people didn't know Chad Scott from Charlie Scott before the game started. They know him now. Playing with a hip pointer, he merely delivered two touchdowns and 175 rushing yards.

About the same time the Tar Heels seemed to be realizing that this was a legitimately winnable game, the crowd seemed to realize the same thing. Fingernails were bitten. Seats went unused. No cries of "Down in front!" were heard.

It seemed like an obove-average football atmosphere.

Second half, and the Miami explosion never came. The guy in front of me says, "Well, at least we're not getting blown out." Tar Heels were making tackles, making runs, making passes, converting third downs all over the field. End of the third quorter, 21-21, tied with the big bad Hurricanes, the winningest program in college football since 1990.

There was no frame of reference for this. You tried to compare it to something, maybe mentioned the Florido State game in 2001, but quickly dismissed it. This was Miami. Check it. This was Miami.

At the end of the quarter, the jumbotron blared "Hell's Bells" by AC/DC, the perfect accomponiment to a montage of helmet-rattling Tar Heel hits. I was now on a first-name basis with the guy on the row in front of me. We slopped high fives.

Sometimes, the players on the field had to ask the crowd to be quiet. The night had become so raucous that Carolina's offense couldn't hear the plays.

Sure, some of the crowd should know better. But honestly, when's the last time a Kenan crowd had to be told to be quiet?

It seemed like a good football atmosphere.

With five minutes left in the fourth quarter of every home game, I walk from my seats on the visitors side around the perimeter of the concourse to the press box. Usuolly, it is a congested walk. Students are out there socializing, fans are grabbing some shade, drinks are being purchased.

On this night, I was completely alone. People were stonding on their tiptoes at the portals to the lower deck, trying desperately to get o glimpse of the action on the field. Guys carried their girlfriends--whose pointy-toed stiletto heels were no longer comfortable--on their shoulders. The concourse was a wasteland. Walking olong the outside, you heard the crowd get ear-splittingly loud between plays, suck in their breath when Miami snapped the boll, and then either gasp or roar depending on the outcome of the play. You didn't have to see it. You could feel it.

With under a minute left, the surge began. Students began pushing toward the edges of the student section, swarming the front row and preparing to overtake the field. Even before Greg Warren made the final snop of the game, some were already standing on the edges of the grass.

The next 60 seconds went like this: snap, kick, good. Moss hysterio. Flashbulbs went off all over the stadium, and Kenan became one big glittery disco ball. Most times, it takes goalposts several minutes to be severed. Students have to bob on them, sway back and forth. This night was different. Snap, one goalpost down. Crock, other goalpost down. The end.

Roy Williams stood at the window of his private box soaking in the atmosphere. He rode down in the elevator and told his wife he'd be home in a few minutes. She asked where he was going.

"I'm going to see John," he soid. Good luck finding him: the Carolina head coach might still be buried under well-wishers at midfield.

As this is being written, the goalposts are piled in a heap nearest the old fieldhouse. At the Kenan Football Center end, they ore completely demolished--not even o stump remains.

The bell tower chimed. On Franklin Street, horns honked and fans shouted. Passengers hung out of cars just to slap high fives with pedestrians. Students streamed toward Franklin in packs, headed for a night they'll remember mony years from now. At reunions, they'll ask each other, "Remember what we did that night we beat Miami?"

For Chapel Hill, it was a remarkable evening of football.

Thot's not right. For onywhere, it was o remorkoble evening of football. You can take me to Knoxville, take me to Ann Arbor, take me to South Bend, take me to Austin.

I'll take Chapel Hill. A football town.

THE SOUTHERN PART OF HEAVEN

• In fall 2004, Carolina enrolled more than 26,800 students from all 10 North Carolina counties, the other 49 states and more than 100 other countries. Eighty-two percent of Carolina's undergraduates come from North Carolina.

• Recent freshman classes at Carolina have set new standards of excellence as measured by the rigorous coursework students have taken in high school, as well as their grades and SAT scores. In 2004, the university's incoming freshmen continued that trend. And the most academically qualified incoming class ever is headed to Carolina in fall 2005 with with an average SAT score of 1301, up 14 points over last year's class. Admitted freshmen hail from every North Carolina county, each of the nation's 50 states and 44 other countries.

• Those students learn from a 3,100-member faculty. Many of those faculty members hold or have held major posts in virtually every national scholarly or professional organization and have earned election to the most prestigious academic academies and organizations.

• Now in its third century, Carolina offers bachelor's, master's, doctoral and professional degrees in academic areas critical to North Carolina's future: business, dentistry, education, law, medicine, nursing, public health and social work, among others. Offerings include 71 bachelor's, 110 master's and 77 doctorate degree programs. The health sciences are well integrated with the liberal arts, basic sciences and high-tech programs. Patient outreach programs affiliated with Carolina and the UNC Health Care System serve citizens in all 100 North Carolina counties.

JOHN BUNTING'S NFL CONNECTION

-YEAR NFL VET GUIDES TAR HEELS TO THE NEXT LEVEL

North Carolina head coach John Bunting played 11 seasons with the Philadelphia Eagles from 1972-82. Despite being selected the 10th round of the NFL Draft, Bunting started at outside linebacker in 119 of 133 career games. He helped lead Philadelphia to the 1981 NFC Championship and an appearance in Super Bowl XV against the Oakland Raiders. Bunting played with NFL tables Ron Jawarski, Harold Carmichael, Wilbert Montgomery, Bill Bergey, Jerry Sisemore and Carl Hairston. After his playing reer ended, Bunting coached eight years as an NFL assistant coach – four with Kansas City, three with St. Louis and one with New rleans. In 1999 he won a Super Bowl title with the Rams as the co-defensive coordinator. Bunting's impact on the NFL can still be t. In the 2002 NFL Draft, Carolina had seven players selected, including two of the top six selections.

Says former Green Bay Packers' Vice President Mark Hatley, "If we get a player from North Carolina we know he will be tough, will know the fundamentals, and he will have good technique. We know that anyone who comes from John Bunting's program ll be well-coached, because he is one of the best fundamental technique coaches that I have ever been around. That is so impor- nt right now in the NFL because guys have to be able to come in and play right away. I know the type of players he will produce."

BAKER ASSUMES LEADERSHIP ROLE

he questions came faster than the fresh- hen in the room would like.

Senior quorterback Matt Baker sits at he back of the offensive staff room on the ourth flaar of the Kenan Faatball Center. e has a red laser pointer in ane hand, he remote cantral in his other hand. ilm of last year's Caralina-Geargia ech game plays an the big-screen pra- ctian system at the front of the raom.

Far this day, Baker is the teacher. iis pupils, including all of Caralina's eshmen wide receivers, sit in swivel- g chairs down either side of the long ooden table. Senior receivers arwarski Pallock and Derrele Mitchell also attend, occasionally offering subtle point- rs, but this is undoubtedly Baker's show.

On the screen, the Tar Heels walk to the line of scrimmage for a 3rd-and-6 ploy. ker pauses the actian just before the ball is snapped.

"OK, guys, what formation is this?" he says, grobbing his loser pointer ond high- ghting certain spots on the field. "Here's the tight end. He's on the left. And he's off he line of scrimmage."

It is only the second day of this veteran/rookie tutoring session, so there is initial lence. But then Kenton Thornton offers a guess, slowly piecing together the various arts of the formation. He's right, ond Baker is pleased. He presses ploy. The room will issect the play nine different times from three different angles.

The classroom sessions ore part of an offseason crash course designed to help less xperienced players-freshmen ottended the second session of summer school-get a asic grosp of the offense before training camp begins on August 11. Baker organ- ed a steady summer routine for the offense: closses in the morning, weightlifting in he eorly afternoon, followed by conditioning and running work, followed by player- rganized on-field sessions thot came to be known os "WTAs"-Winning Teom ctivities.

The WTAs involved bosic drills like pass skeleton, and on rainy doys they moved nto the clossroom. Baker, who watched film by himself or with other quorterbacks very day during the second session of summer school, supplemented the on-field earning with weekly gatherings in the film room. There were two "classes," one for he young wide receivers and a more advonced session for the upperclassmen.

"You see some wide eyes at first," Baker says. "Even for the sophomores, they aven't really seen the whole offense yet. They've just seen what we installed last fall nd then what we put in during spring ball. There's more than that to our offense, ecause they've got to pick up the runs, the passes, the play actions, for every forma- on we have."

But Baker isn't just the teacher. His vast arroy of offseoson activities-including at east 15 extra snops daily with new center Ben Lemming-are designed to make him the eader not just at the line of scrimmage, but also in the locker room.

"I've learned a lot about how to opproach the team," he says. "You have to know hen to be loud and when to lay back. I have a lot more oppreciation for what the

COACHING PROFILES

JOHN BUNTING

HEAD COACH
FIFTH YEAR AT CAROLINA
NORTH CAROLINA, 1972

It's been a remarkable journey for John Bunting in the four years since his return to Chapel Hill as the Tar Heels' head football coach in December 2000.

He's known the highs. His first team rode a defense led by future NFL standouts Julius Peppers and David Thornton to the program's first-ever win over Florida State and domination of Auburn in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

He's known the lows. His second and third teams were beset by inexperience, injury, attrition and all manner of ill winds, winning only five games over two years.

And he's known the highs again. His fourth team notched electrifying home victories over league rivals Georgia Tech, NC State and Miami and closed the season with road wins at Wake Forest and Duke, securing the Tar Heels a bowl bid and a contract extension from UNC administrators.

"We believe in this man, we believe in this program, it's headed in the right direction," Chancellor James Moeser said after the season finale. "This team represents Carolina at its best."

"We had to change the culture, and John's done that," Athletic Director Dick Baddour added. "We weren't tough enough, and we'd forgotten how to win."

The Tar Heels played outstanding football in 2004, finishing the season 3-1 and coming within three points of a potential ACC title. Had Carolina not lost 27-24 to Virginia Tech, the Tar Heels could have shared ACC title honors with the Hokies. That's impressive for a team picked by the media to finish 10th of 11 teams in the ACC.

"We could be somewhere warm with ACC co-champion rings on our fingers," Durant said.

"We've done an about-face," senior center Jason Brown added. "The past two years were not pretty at all. We have changed the culture and we've spread the leadership down to the lower ranks with the younger guys. They're starting to understand exactly what it means to be a part of UNC football. They're learning. We're not 100 percent, we have not arrived. The hay is not in the barn. We're still working. It's a continual thing."

And no one's working harder than Bunting, the 1972 Carolina graduate and All-ACC linebacker under Bill Dooley. Throughout his four-year tenure at Carolina, Bunting has remained passionate, consistent, tough and disciplined. He's demanded as much from his staff and team.

"Look at what's happened last couple of years … building, building, building," Bunting says. "Now we've got the program going in the right direction. I said at the beginning of last season that toward the end, you'd be able to recognize that. It's a tribute to our kids and staff."

Bunting certainly knows how to win-from his playing days as a Tar Heel in the early 1970s and his pro career with the Philadelphia Eagles. He won as a coach at Division III Glassboro State and as an assistant with the Kansas Chiefs, St. Louis Rams and New Orleans Saints.

"I've been around enough great coaches and I've had enough success that I understand what this business is all about," Bunting says. "There are certain things I can control, there are certain things I cannot control. I can control how our team prepares each and every day. If we're having a bad practice, I'll let 'em know it and we'll start over. This team has learned how to practice."

Both the playing and coaching components of the puzzle acknowledge the value of the CEO's vision throughout a tumultuous two years and, at times, difficult 2004 season.

"People need to understand how important it was that there was never a sense of panic," says tight ends coach John Gutekunst, a former head coach himself at Minnesota. "John Bunting's coach here [Bill Dooley] was called 'The Trench Fighter.' Well, that's what Coach Bunting has been. He lifted the staff's spirits when we were down, yet he remained demanding and never compromised on his expectations."

"It's been remarkable how consistent Coach Bunting has been with us as coaches and players," says secondary coach and defensive coordinator Marvin Sanders. "He was no different with me after we'd gotten blown out at Utah than he was two weeks later when we beat Miami. He believed all along in what we were doing. We just had to continue to work hard at it. When the players know the coaches believe in what we're doing, they respond better. We were consistent with the players come rain or shine."

It was certainly a shiny atmosphere over the last month of the 2004 season: Last-second win over fourth-ranked Miami in front of a national TV audience; close encounter with ACC-leading Virginia Tech, only to fall when Durant was sacked on a crucial third-down late in the game; hard-fought win over Wake Forest; must-win conversion in front of a spirited crowd at Duke's Wallace Wade Stadium.

"After the Utah game, Coach Bunting talked about having a four-game season to end the year," Brown said. "He challenged us as players and as men. You have a turning point behind every huge loss like that. The thing is, where are you going to go, what do you do from there? We came together and molded as a team."

"Coach Bunting kept believing in us when no one else did," Durant added.

Prospective football players for the junior-varsity team at Springbrook High in Silver Spring, Md., gathered on the practice field in August 1965, under the watchful eye of coach Jim Collier. He noticed over the first few days that one kid seemed to be at the front of the line for the tire drill and cone drill. One seemed to have more fuel left after two hours than the others. One was stronger and certainly very fast for his size—just over 6-foot and nearly 200 pounds. He seemed to set a high standard for the other kids to follow.

Collier knew he was on to something.

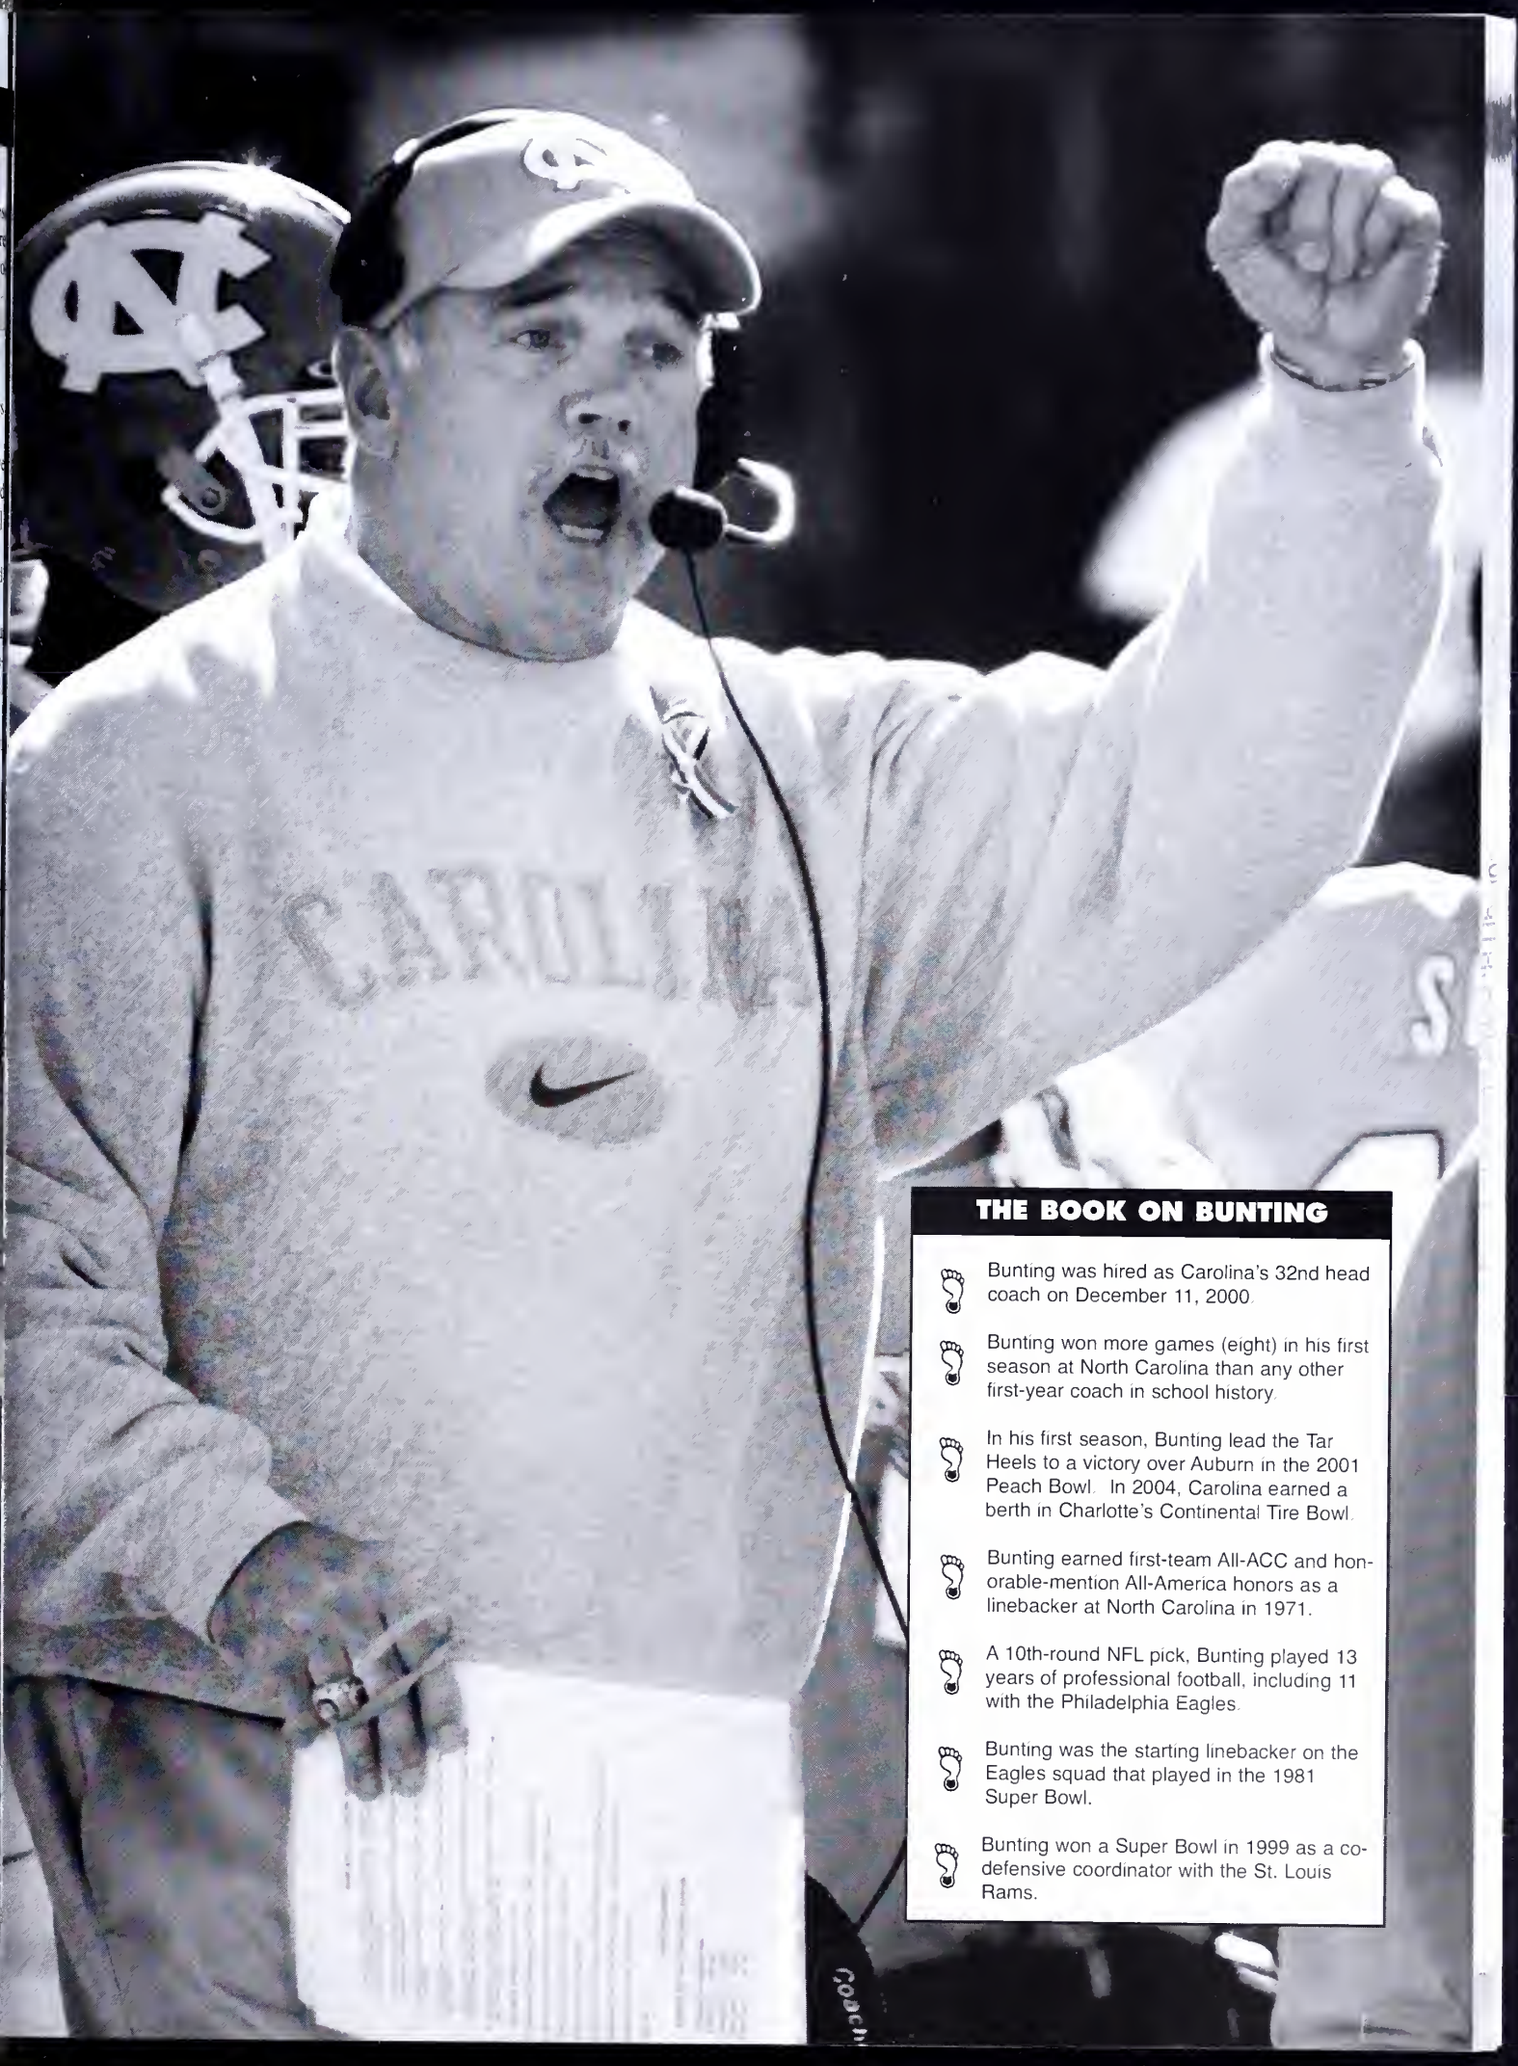

"I came home one night after practice and told my wife, 'If I'm ever going to coach a pro, I have one now,'" Collier says.

"It's not anything you can explain to people. It's a sense of drive, of hunger, it's something inside that absolutely propels someone to excel. And, of course, he had the physical attributes to go with it."

The player, of course, was John Bunting.

Over the next three seasons, Bunting would inscribe the number "31" in each of his football shoes—in honor of his hero, Green Bay Packer fullback Jim Taylor—and take the field to create loads of ills for the opposition as a fullback on offense and linebacker on defense.

Bunting's efforts caught the eye of a young assistant coach on the staff of new Tar Heel coach Bill Dooley in the fall of 1967. John Atherton became impressed with the pain Bunting felt after a narrow loss to a rival. "Coach Atherton told us, 'John's had a taste of losing. H doesn't like it at all. I like that in him,'" remembers Jim Bunting, John's father.

Young Bunting already had an attraction for the Tar Heels, having been smitten with their colors and demeanor as a basketball team playing at nearby College Park against the University of Maryland. He picked Carolina over Maryland and became a three-year starter at the beginning of his sophomore year, 1969. Bunting would earn all-conference honors as a senior and help in the gradual escalation of the program's fortunes—5-5 in '69, 8-4 in '70 and 9-3 in '71.

Bunting celebrates with All-America center Jason Brown following Carolina's victory at Wake Forest last season.

His trademarks were not physical skills—he ran 4.9 in the 40 and stood only 6-1, 210 pounds—but toughness, mental acuity and white-hot desire to be the best.

"John's got linebackers' eyes," says John Anderson, a classmate and fellow linebacker. "The intensity burns through. It's like you can see them a mile away."

"John was so fierce," says Flip Ray, who played defensive tackle in the class ahead of Bunting. "He would take or deliver the hardest hit you can imagine, then get right back up. His jaw would tighten, his eyes would burn with intensity.

"He wouldn't have to say anything. Just seeing him stare out from behind that facemask was all anyone else needed for motivation."

Bunting's final team collected the ACC Championship and lost 7-3 to Georgia in the Gator Bowl. Since then, only the 1972, 1977 and 1980 teams have won the league title, a distinction that has become imminently more difficult the last decade with the ACC's expansion. At the news conference to announce his hiring, a reporter asked Bunting about the huge Super Bowl ring he collected during his tenure in St. Louis.

Bunting paid homage to the Rams' accomplishment—capped by a 23-17 win over Tennessee in the 2000 Super Bowl—then reached in his pocket and pulled out a smaller, older ring.

"This ring right here is just as important to me," he said. "It's my 1971 ACC Championship ring that I won with a bunch of hard-working guys who had one common goal. That's what we're going to work to get done here."

That elicited a hearty round of applause from the smattering of former players, athletic department staffers, Tar Heel players and other Carolina supporters interspersed with the news media. That was the first true insight into this coach who had lived in relative obscurity to the rank-and-file Tar Heel fan for the last three decades.

Many Carolina people were unaware that since leaving Chapel Hill Bunting had done the following:

• Served as a cornerstone to the building job Dick Vermeil performed at Philadelphia from 1976-82, a period that included the Eagles winning the 1981 NFC Championship before losing to Oakland in the Super Bowl.

"His passion for the game and the team were clear from the beginning," says Vermeil. "He was a player you could build around, one who exemplified the characteristics you want in a football player. John defined the expression, 'Winning with character.'"

• Exhibited extraordinary courage and desire to recover from a serious knee injury during the 1978 season. He had cartilage removed and ligaments repaired—major surgery at the time with a long convalescence. Many players don't recover.

"Surgical and rehab techniques weren't what they are today," says Frank LeMaster, a fellow Eagles linebacker at the time. "He was in rehab six days a week, five hours a day. He had ice on his knee constantly. He paid the price dearly."

• Became a defacto assistant coach by organizing weekly film study sessions for linebackers and being a sounding board for defensive coordinator Marion Campbell.

"John Bunting as a player knew more about our defense than Marion Campbell, who was a defensive genius," All-Pro linebacker Bill Bergey says. "More than once Marion was challenged by John, not in a threatening way, but in a, 'Why don't we do this …' kind of way. Marion would always do it his way, because he didn't want to be shown up by a player. But afterward, you'd see them over to the side talking about it. Marion wanted to know what John thought."

• Played an integral role in the 1982 NFL players strike, which saw an eight-week work stoppage. Bunting was the Eagles' players representative to the NFL Players Association and was a member of the players' executive committee. Teammates and NFL officials felt the Eagles were one of the most unified and informed clubs in the league because of Bunting's work.

"It was amazing the power John had over a lot of guys making a lot of money," says K.C. Keeler, an Eagles teammate. "They'd follow him blindly."

• Dived heart-and-soul into the coaching business in 1988 when he was named head coach at Glassboro State College in southern New Jersey. After two rebuilding seasons, Bunting's teams won 28 games the last three years, as well as two league titles and one trip to the national semifinals.

"Anyone who played for John, loved him," says Richard Wackar, a former Glassboro State (today known as Rowan University) coach and athletics director. "He could get more out of the kids than they believed they had in them."

"His word was gold," says Joe Low, who played for Bunting at Rowan. "It was the essence of a team playing for a coach."

• Returned to the NFL for eight years as an assistant coach—four at Kansas City, three at St. Louis and one at New Orleans. His linebacking corps at each stop were considered among the best in the league. The high point of this tour of duty was winning the Super Bowl with Vermeil when one of his linebackers, Mike Jones, made the game-saving tackle at the one yard-line on a Tennessee Titan on the final play of the game.

"He's a great teacher," says Jay Williams, a member of the Rams' efense that year. "I'm telling you, man, he's a great, great coach."

When the Carolina job became open following the 2000 season, Bunting realized that, at age 50, this would probably be his last opportuity at the job he'd coveted for so long. His bosses with the New Orleans Saints—in particular head coach Jim Haslett and general manger Randy Mueller—understood the passion Bunting had for Carolina nd believed the job was such a perfect fit that they allowed him to purue and interview for the job even though the Saints' season was not ver. That is not standard operating procedure in the NFL.

Bunting had the support of his former Tar Heel teammates, who nderstood the man's inner workings and were willing to trust the future f their beloved program to the man who'd never coached at the Division 1-A level. Gayle Bomar, a Tar Heel quarterback in the late-960s, had a long phone conversation with Bunting during the search rocess and hung up believing Carolina could not find a better man for ıe job.

"John blew me away with how passionate he was about the job, that Carolina was where he wanted to be, that he wanted to get the program ack to where it had been," Bomar says. "I could tell he had that fire in is belly. He didn't talk about the money, didn't talk about being a head oach. All he wanted to do was help Carolina realize its potential. There vas not an ounce of doubt in his voice at all. At that point, I jumped on ıe bandwagon. I said, 'This guy needs to be here.'"

Baddour and Moeser formed the same opinion once they had the pportunity to meet with him. Bunting was hired and immediately rought a jolt of energy to a program that had lost the edge it enjoyed uring back-to-back Top 10 seasons in 1996-97.

"John Bunting is a man of passion," Baddour said.

"This man will energize our fan base," Moeser said.

"He has the swagger of a winner," defensive tackle Ryan Sims said.

"You could feel the power around him," defensive tackle Will Chapman added.

Two of the most significant early moves Bunting made were to re-taff the strength and conditioning area of the program—Jeff Connors vas hired from East Carolina to direct this crucial department—and to chedule defending champion Oklahoma on the road for his first game of the 2001 season. Those were major statements.

"What an incredible show of respect the Oklahoma game was for us, and he didn't even know us at the time," says former center Adam Metts. "It set the tone for the offseason. If you want to be the best, you've got to play the best."

Carolina lost at Oklahoma, then on the road as well at Maryland and Texas. But a foundation had been laid and Bunting and the Tar Heels never quit. They shocked Florida State at home on Sept. 22nd, then reeled off four more victories and were in the running for a Bowl Championship Series berth going into a road game at Georgia Tech in early November. Unfortunately, the Tar Heels lost that game and the next one, at home against Wake Forest, but rallied to beat Duke, SMU and Auburn to finish 8-5.

Bunting was a All-ACC linebacker at North Carolina and appeared on the cover of the Tar Heels' 1971 media guide.

Throughout 2001, Bunting was confident that the consistency of demands from him and his staff made an impression on the players.

"We stayed the course," Bunting says. "We wanted to do things our way. We've been very demanding and disciplined. A lot of players couldn't meet our standards and aren't here. A lot of players had to change their ways of doing things. They had to make the right choices, do the right things or suffer the consequences."

Prior to Carolina's victory over the SEC West champion Auburn in the Peach Bowl, 13 Tar Heels received their degrees in the December graduation ceremonies. Those highlights were followed in April by an NFL Draft that saw six Tar Heels selected and four more sign free-agent contracts.

- Winning.
- Graduating.
- Playing a game you love at the highest levels.
- Having an opportunity to succeed in the professional ranks.

Those are the cornerstones to what the Carolina program under John Bunting will offer to its players.

"Coach Bunting is a fair and honest man," says linebacker David Thornton, who bolted from obscurity to a fourth-round NFL selection under Bunting. "He has a passion for his players on and off the field. He gave me the opportunity to play and didn't look at me differently because I was a former walk-on. He wants to put the best players on the field. It's a blessing that he came here when he did."

Defensive end Julius Peppers was the No. 2 pick overall in the draft and pointed to Bunting's attention to detail in helping refine his talents during his final year of collegiate football.

"Coach Bunting tried to get me adjusted to the NFL with a training-camp approach and bringing an NFL mentality to Carolina. He took me in his office and told me what it was going to be like at the next level. He had me watch tape of guys like (NFL defensive end) Joe Johnson and telling me things that would improve my game."

More and more Bunting will apply his thumbprint to the Carolina program. Fans appreciate his openness, his honesty, his regular-guy persona. Players know that no one played the game any smarter or tougher than Bunting did during his run as a Tar Heel.

He's living a dream, coaching on the campus he loved so much as a young man three decades ago. One of his favorite touches is the Old Well Walk, where the team busses deliver the players and Bunting to the Old Well two hours before home games. From there they walk through a tunnel of cheering fans through Polk Place to Kenan Stadium. It's an emotional stroll each week for Bunting.

"I have to fight back the tears every time," Bunting says. "But that's the way I am. I love this place. I couldn't be happier being back here after all these years."

"John is the total package as a football coach and as a person. I'm very close to him and I'm very proud of him. When you know someone as long as I've known John, you really get to know them. I have experienced the highs and the lows when he was both a player and a coach. We are both wearing world championship Super Bowl rings because of his contribution. He helped lead a defense that maybe wasn't as talented as some of the others in the league and we finished sixth in the league in total defense. We won that Super Bowl because of people like John Bunting and the type of defense he molded that season.

❑ Kansas City Chiefs Head Coach Dick Vermeil

"He has great people skills and does s job in a professional manner. He brings out the best in his players and they ve to play for him."

❑ Ron Jaworski
Former Philadelphia Eagle teammate & current ESPN NFL analyst

"He's done a great job (at NC) and I think he'll continue do a great job. I don't think ey could have hired anybody tter. I know he's got fine aching ability. He under- ands the pro game as well as e college game. There's no uestion that he prepares guys r the NFL."

❑ Carolina Panthers Head Coach John Fox

"John was, in my opinion, t the most gifted linebacker in e National Football league, t was absolutely the best pre- ared and the smartest. That's hy he played so long and so ell. He called all of our efenses in Super Bowl XV with e Eagles. I had him come to work with me with the Chiefs. I knew he'd be an utstanding coach, and he was. It didn't take him long to get to where he should , which is as a head coach."

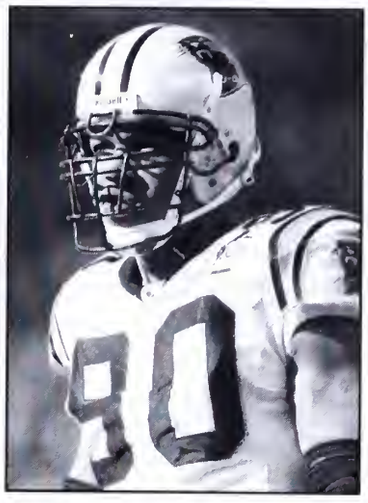

❑ Kansas City Chiefs President Carl Peterson

"The most important thing is John understands what it takes to play in the FL. He's been there and he's played a long time so he can give advice to these ung guys on their work ethic and what it takes to play in the national Football eague, both on and off the field. Anytime you have a guy that's played in the ague and has also coached in the league, it's nothing but a plus for the organi- tion, especially from the standpoint that every player that comes in here in col- ge football wants to play in the National Football League, and John can give rst hand advice."

❑ New Orleans Saints Head Coach Jim Haslett

"He brought a different scheme to us. He brought more of an NFL feel to our ractices and to our games. He played 13 years in the pros. He's got a Super owl ring. He's coached the No. 1 defenses in the NFL. That speaks for itself. e's got an ACC championship ring, so whatever he tells you, it's going to be the uth. It meant a lot to me to have somebody like that."

Played for Bunting in 2001

"He helped me out a lot, especially with little things. He tried to get me adjusted to the NFL with a training camp approach and bringing an NFL mentality to Carolina. He took me in his office and told me what it was going to be like at the next level. He had me watch some tape of guys like (NFL defensive end) Joe Johnson and telling me things that would improve my game."

❑ Defensive End Julius Peppers
No. 1 draft pick of the Carolina Panthers
Played for Bunting in 2001

"I think John Bunting is going to be the next Dean Smith of football. Why? Because John Bunting knows the game and he's a great motivator. But not in the traditional sense. He makes you think about what you can become and he puts a lot of emphasis on the seniors to implement what he's trying to do and what his goals are for the team and spread it to the younger guys on the team. The man is a great football coach. When I'm an alum from here, I'm going to be glad to say I played for him."

❑ Center Adam Metts
Played for Bunting in 2001

"He's a fair and honest man. He has a passion for his players on and off the field. He gave me the opportunity to play and didn't look at me differently because I was a former walk-on. He wants to put the best players on the site. It's a blessing that he came here when he did."

❑ Linebacker David Thornton
2002 NFL Draft Pick of Indianapolis Colts
Played for Bunting in 2001

"Anyone who comes here and wants to be a better football player and a better person will get that if they come to Carolina under John Bunting. This guys knows football and is totally committed. If you really want to be the best, this is the guy to get around."

❑ Paul Miller (UNC '72)
Former UNC teammate

"I played with John back in the early 1970s and late 1960s. To me, John was one of the most intense football players I've ever come across and what always impressed me about John's football ability was how he studied the game. He was a real scholar in the game of football. The one thing that I can assure you is that the team will be ready to play on Saturday with John Bunting at the helm."

❑ Don McCauley (UNC '70)
2001 College Hall of Fame Inductee &
Former Bunting Teammate

"John Bunting is a man of passion. He's passionate about the University of North Carolina. I know that he understands the mission of this University and will do everything he can to see that this program is operated in the values that are acceptable to this institution. And I also know he will motivate his players to go 110 percent every game and every practice."

DAVE BROCK

WIDE RECEIVERS

FIRST YEAR AT CAROLINA
16TH YEAR OVERALL

Wide receivers coach Dave Brock enters his first season with the Tar Heels in 2005.

Brock comes to Carolina from Temple where he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the previous three seasons. Under Brock's direction, Temple's spread offense was one of the most exciting in the Big East.

In 2004, Temple ranked third in the Big East, generating 173.0 yards on the ground per game. The Owls also passed for 2,428 yards, the fourth-most in program history, and averaged 393.7 total yards per game. Owls quarterback Walter Washington was 11th nationally in total offense, 21st in scoring and led the nation in rushing touchdowns by a quarterback.

In 2003, the Owls threw for 2,697 yards, second most in Temple history, and set school records for passing first downs (135) and total plays (859).

A native of Moorestown, N.J., Brock has 15 years of coaching experience, including five as an offensive coordinator, in stints at Temple, Hofstra, Salisbury State and Western Connecticut State. He was Hofstra's wide receivers coach from 1997-2001.

Brock coached seven seasons at Hofstra, where he was named associate head coach in 2002. He began at Hofstra in 1995 and served as the team's offensive coordinator during the 2000 and 2001 seasons.

In 2001, Hofstra posted a 9-3 record and concluded the season ranked No. 7 in Division I-AA behind an offense that was second in the nation in total offense (491 yards/game), fourth in passing offense (301 yards/game) and fifth in scoring offense (37.9 points/game). In 2000, Hofstra finished the year ranked No. 7 with a 9-4 record and also ranked among the nation's top 20 in scoring offense, passing offense and total offense.

During Brock's last five seasons at Hofstra, the team averaged 35.8 points per game and 446.8 yards per contest. In addition to his coaching responsibilities at Hofstra, Brock also served as the football program's Academic Support Liaison from 1995-2001, while also functioning as the team's Financial Aid Liaison from 1997-2001.

Brock played linebacker at Ferrum (Va.) College before earning a bachelor of science degree in political science from Salisbury (Md.) State University.

He began his coaching career as an assistant at Salisbury State in 1988, then served as secondary coach/recruiting coordinator at Western Connecticut State from 1991-93. He returned to Salisbury State in 1994 as the secondary coach and recruiting coordinator before coaching running backs at Hofstra in 1995. Brock served as Hofstra's wide receivers coach/recruiting coordinator from 1997-99.

HAL HUNTER

OFFENSIVE LINE

FOURTH YEAR AT CAROLINA
21ST YEAR OVERALL

Hal Hunter enters his fourth season as Carolina's offensive line coach.

The Tar Heel offensive line has developed into one of the top units in the league under Hunter's tutelage and last season, three players earned All-ACC accolades, including first-team center Jason Brown, second-team guard Kyle Ralph and honorable-mention tackle Willie McNeill. In addition, Brown earned All-America honors and was a finalist for the Rimington Trophy, which is awarded to the nation's top center. Brown was selected in the fourth round of the 2005 NFL Draft by the Baltimore Ravens.

In 2003, second-team All-ACC guard Jeb Terry became the first Tar Heel offensive lineman drafted since 1992 when he was selected by Tampa Bay in the fifth round of the 2004 NFL draft. Terry also was a standout in the classroom, twice earning Academic All-ACC honors.

Carolina's offensive line has paved the way for more than 150 rushing yards per game in each of the last two seasons. In 2004, the Tar Heels averaged 176.2 yards rushing per game, the highest mark since 1994, and were second in the league in total offense (390.7 yards/game). In addition, Carolina was second in the league in sacks allowed.

In Hunter's first season at UNC, the Tar Heel offense set several school passing records, including passing yards per game, completions and attempts. The Tar Heels finished 22nd in the country in passing offense (266.6 yards per game).

Hunter came to Carolina after two seasons as Indiana's offensive coordinator where he led the Hoosiers to two of their most successful offensive seasons ever. Under his guidance, the Hoosiers averaged more than 435 yards per game in each of the last two years and finished in the top 20 in total offense in both seasons.

In 2000, Hunter designed an offense to fit the skills of talented quarterback Antwaan Randle El, who was named Big Ten Player of the Year and earned first-team All-America honors. Indiana led the Big Ten and finished fourth in the nation in rushing offense (averaging 269.5 yards per game), was 19th in the country in total offense, rushed for 33 touchdowns and allowed just nine sacks in 11 games. IU became only the second school in Big Ten history to have two 3,000-yard career rushers on the same team (Randle El and Levron Williams).

The previous season (2000), Hunter's first at IU, the Hoosiers were seventh in the country in rushing offense, averaging 266.4 yards per game, and 12th in the nation in total offense despite starting an entirely new offensive line. Indiana led the Big Ten in rushing offense and finished second nationally in yards per carry (5.8), trailing only Nebraska.

Prior to his time at Indiana, Hunter spent a successful five-year stint as offensive line coach at LSU from 1995-99 and was promoted to assistant head coach in 1999. Hunter also served as the interim head coach at LSU for one game in 1999. At LSU he developed one of the Southeastern Conference's most dominant offensive lines as the Tigers led the SEC in rushing in both 1997 and 1998. In 1997, he was credited with the development of Outland Trophy finalist Alan Faneca, a two-time All-America selection and 1998 first-round pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers. That same year, LSU's offensive line also featured first-team All-SEC and All-America center Todd McClure, a 1999 draft selection of the Atlanta Falcons. In his one game as interim head coach, Hunter led the Tigers to a season-ending 35-10 win over Arkansas. Athlon magazine recognized Hunter as the SEC's top offensive line coach in 1997.

Prior to arriving at LSU, Hunter served as an assistant coach at Vanderbilt from 1991-94, tutoring the Commodores' tackles and tight ends for three seasons. In 1994, he was placed in charge of the entire offensive line. Vanderbilt ranked second in the SEC in rushing in 1991, 1992 and 1994.

Before heading to Vanderbilt, Hunter spent four seasons as the offensive line coach at Akron.

Hunter is a 1982 graduate of Northwestern, where he earned Dean's List honors and graduated in the top 10 percent of his class with a 3.6 GPA. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in communications studies with a concentration in economics. He lettered at linebacker for the Wildcats in 1978, but a neck injury prematurely ended his career. Hunter stayed with the program and assisted with the defensive line and served as a strength coach.

In 1982, he coached outside linebackers and was the strength coach at William & Mary. Hunter also has coached the offensive line at Pittsburgh (1983-84), Columbia (1985) and Indiana University of Pennsylvania (1986).

Hunter's father, Hal Sr., has over 45 years of experience in college and professional football and is currently the pro personnel coordinator for the Carolina Panthers.

MARVIN SANDERS

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR/ DEFENSIVE BACKS

SECOND YEAR AT CAROLINA
14TH YEAR OVERALL

Marvin Sanders Jr.

Marvin Sanders enters his second season as North Carolina's defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach. Last year he shared the coordinator role with John Gutekunst.

Under Sanders, Carolina's defense improved throughout the 2004 season, winning three of its four final regular season games. In those four games, the Tar Heels allowed an average of 338 yards per game, including just 234 yards in a bowl-clinching victory over Duke. That was the fewest yards allowed since the 2001 Peach Bowl. Sanders also made an impact in the UNC defensive backs as Carolina intercepted eight passes, the most since 1999.

Sanders came to Carolina after coaching one season at Nebraska, where he helped lead the Huskers to a 10-3 record, including a victory over Michigan State in the Alamo Bowl. Nebraska, Sanders' alma mater, ranked first in the nation in pass efficiency defense and led the nation with 32 interceptions in his one season in Lincoln. Sanders was instrumental in the development of 2003 Thorpe Award candidate and All-America safety Josh Bullocks. Bullocks set Nebraska and Big 12 Conference records with 10 interceptions, a mark which tied for first in the country.

Sanders became a member of the Nebraska coaching staff in 2003 after serving two years as the secondary coach at Colorado State (2001-02) under Sonny Lubick. Colorado State posted a 17-9 record during Sanders' two seasons in Fort Collins. The Rams posted a 10-4 record and won the Mountain West Conference championship in 2002.

Before his two seasons at CSU, Sanders spent one season at New Mexico State, where he coached defensive ends and outside linebackers. Sanders spent five seasons at Nebraska-Omaha from 1995 to 1999. He was the Mavericks' secondary coach for all five seasons and was the team's defensive coordinator for his final three years in Omaha. UNO won two North Central Conference titles and appeared in the NCAA Division II playoffs twice during Sanders' tenure.

A native of Markham, Ill., Sanders was the secondary coach at Minnesota-Morris in 1994, where he also served as sports information director. Sanders coached at Nebraska Wesleyan in 1992 and 1993. He has 13 years of experience as a college coach.

Sanders earned three letters at Nebraska from 1987 to 1989. He started the first seven games of his senior season at free safety, before suffering a shoulder injury. Sanders finished the 1989 campaign with 26 tackles and two interceptions in nine games and earned honorable-mention All-Big Eight honors.

Sanders received his bachelor's degree in business administration from Nebraska in 1990. He is married to the former Susan M. Hyland of Omaha, Neb. They have a daughter, Chandler Marie (13) and a son, Payton (9).

TOMMY THIGPEN

LINEBACKERS

6TH YEAR OVERALL

A former All-ACC linebacker at North Carolina, Tommy Thigpen enters his first season as the linebackers coach with the Tar Heels in 2005.

Thigpen was hired from Illinois where he coached for two years and had been asked to remain on Ron Zook's Illini staff. He was the cornerbacks coach in 2003 and the linebackers coach in 2004.

"Tommy was a great player at North Carolina, a former graduate assistant at North Carolina and is one of the top young coaches in the country," says head coach John Bunting. "In addition to his work at Illinois, Tommy was instrumental in helping Bowling Green become one of the top teams in the Mid-American Conference."

Thigpen achieved accolades as a Parade All-America and Virginia Defensive Player of the Year at Potomac High School in Dumfries, Va.

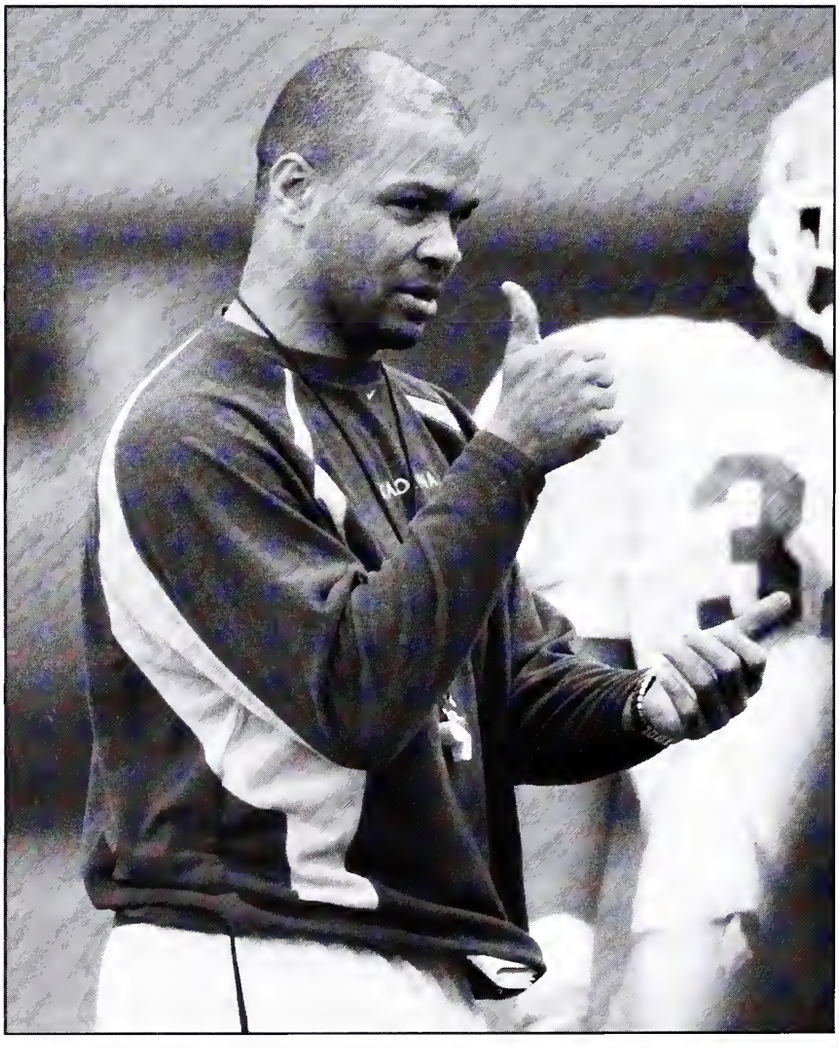

A four-year letterwinner at North Carolina from 1989-92, Thigpen was a three-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference linebacker, earning first-team honors in 1991. He was co-captain of the 1992 team that went 9-3 and beat Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl, the first of seven straight bowl games for the Tar Heels in the 1990s. He holds a bachelor's degree in political science from Carolina.

Thigpen played professionally for the New York Giants in 1993-94 and the Barcelona Dragons in 1995-96.

He began his coaching career as a UNC graduate assistant in 1998-99. He then coached linebackers at Tennessee State for one season before coaching cornerbacks and was the special teams coordinator at Bowling Green State from 2001-02.

At Bowling Green, Thigpen helped coach one of the Mid-American Conference's top defenses, as the Falcons forced 27 turnovers to lead the MAC in turnover margin in 2002. BGSU also finished second in the MAC in pass efficiency defense. Thigpen's special teams also were impressive, blocking seven punts and a potential game-winning field goal attempt by Western Michigan to preserve the Falcons' early undefeated season.

Thigpen is married to the former Jacinda Webb and the couple resides in Chapel Hill.

CHANCELLOR
SIXTH YEAR AT CAROLINA

Under the leadership of Dr. James Moeser, its ninth chancellor, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill embraces an ambitious vision for the future - to be America's leading public university.

"We want Carolina to be the best that it can be, to lead among America's best public universities," Moeser says. "In setting our sights that high, we are drawing from our heritage as the nation's first public university and our strong commitment to helping ensure North Carolina's future success."

Moeser's bold leadership has put Carolina in the national spotlight on key issues ıcluding student accessibility. The chancellor launched the Carolina Covenant, a roundbreaking initiative to make a Chapel Hill education possible debt-free for w-income students. The Carolina Covenant was a first for a major U.S. public niversity when he announced it in 2003. Several campuses, including Harvard, irginia and Maryland, later created similar programs. Carolina has expanded the arolina Covenant, which began last year, to cover about 345 students in fall 2005 ıd added a mentorship program with faculty volunteers.

The University's ties to North Carolina are so important that Moeser launched ı effort in 2004 to strengthen the connections between Carolina and the lives of ate citizens and their communities. Through his "Carolina Connects" initiative, loeser travels the state to highlight the many ways in which the University serves e communities and people of North Carolina. He eks out opportunities to learn about other ways arolina can connect with the state and its issues.

"The University serves North Carolina every day meaningful, relevant ways," Moeser says. "In ıort, 'Carolina Connects.' The University has ways played a major leadership role in the life of orth Carolina, and I know from what I have seen rough 'Carolina Connects' that we can continue to ake a significant difference."

When Moeser began as chancellor in August 00, his first challenge was to help secure support r the $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher edu- ıtion. The referendum, overwhelmingly approved y voters, was the nation's largest higher education ond package. Moeser pledged to North Carolinians ıat if they passed the bond referendum, Carolina ould triple their investment through private fund- ising efforts.

Carolina has made good on Moeser's pledge. The nds mean $510 million worth of renovations, pairs and new buildings on the Chapel Hill campus 21st Century students can learn in a 21st Century vironment. Guided by a visionary master plan for owth now rapidly coming to life, the University is using other funding sources cluding private gifts and overhead receipts from faculty research for buildings sential to excellence. The resulting $1.5 billion capital construction program is nong the largest at any major American university.

Moeser announced a $1.8 billion goal for the Carolina First Campaign in ctober 2002. The multi-year private fund-raising effort is helping position arolina as the nation's leading public university. By mid-2005, the campaign had ised nearly $1.48 billion mark in gifts and pledges from alumni and friends. arolina First has created 146 new endowed professorships toward a total goal of 0 and 493 new scholarships and fellowships for students toward a target of 000. Faculty support and the quality of students and facilities are among key pri- ities for the campaign.

Under Moeser's leadership, the University completed an academic plan to guide ture decisions and investments in academic priorities. Early in his tenure, loeser acted decisively to start a campuswide initiative committing at least $245 illion over a decade to genome sciences. The public-private partnership received ı anonymous $25 million gift for a proteomics research center. Evidence of suc- ss includes the School of Public Health's selection by the U.S. Centers for isease Control and Prevention to house one of the nation's three centers of excellence for genomics and public health.

Attracting research funds is among the contributions the University makes to the North Carolina economy, and Carolina has steadily improved during the Moeser era. Overall, the Carolina faculty set another University record last fiscal year for sponsored research funding, attracting more than $577 million. The University consistently ranks among the top public and private universities receiving funding from the National Institutes of Health and the National Science Foundation. And the University hopes to extend such success in the sciences through Carolina North, a proposed living-learning community on UNC-owned property just north of the main campus.

The University is equally dedicated to the arts and humanities - which will continue to benefit from planned facility improvements including the newly completed Memorial Hall renovation - as well as to the University Library, perennially ranked among the best research libraries in North America, and to key resources such as the Center for the Study of the American South. "We are committed to providing our students and citizens with the finest in the arts and to preserving the magnificent architectural archive of the historic campus," Moeser says. "We express and teach our values by what we build."

The chancellor has strongly supported efforts to enhance undergraduate education and improve the student judiciary and Honor Court systems. Moeser has championed the University's longtime commitment to diversity and an open intellectual community. In 2003-04 he co-chaired a Chancellor's Task Force for a Better Workplace that produced recommendations that are improving working conditions for employees.

Moeser was unanimously elected chancellor in April 2000 by the UNC Board of Governors and arrived after four years as chancellor of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, where he was credited with strengthening academics and fund raising.

A concert organist, Moeser began his career in 1966 at the University of Kansas as assistant professor and chairman of the organ department. He became dean of the School of Fine Arts in 1975 and later was named Althaus Distinguished Professor of Organ. In 1986 he joined The Pennsylvania State University as dean of the College of Arts and Architecture and executive director of University Arts Services. Six years later Moeser became vice president for academic affairs and provost of the University of South Carolina, a post he held until his selection as Nebraska's chancellor in 1996.

Teresa Elmore, owner of Designs Unlimited in Burlington, chats with Chancellor James Moeser during his visit to her shop as part of the "Carolina Connects" tour of North Carolina. Moeser saw how Elmore participates in a joint project of the Lineberger Comprehensive Cancer Center and the School of Public Health - BEAUTY (Bringing Education and Understanding to You). The study assesses how beauty salons can share information about cancer prevention. Sixty-two salons in central North Carolina participate.

The chancellor serves on the Board of Directors of the National Merit Scholarship Corp. and two Association of American University committees examining the cost of research and internationalization. He is a past member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges and chaired its technology-transfer commission. He served on the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities.

Moeser often is invited to speak at major national education meetings about topics including accessibility and academic freedom. The NCAA recently selected him for its new Presidential Task Force on the Future of Division I Intercollegiate Athletics and its fiscal responsibility subcommittee. He is part of the CEO Group of Six, a group of university presidents and chancellors from each of the nation's major athletic conferences that has tackled issues including academic reform. Recently approved NCAA changes mirrored proposals the CEO group had discussed for some time.

At home, Moeser is a member of the North Carolina Board of Science and Technology and a trustee of the North Carolina Symphony Society Inc.

A native of Colorado City, Texas, Moeser grew up in Lubbock and graduated from the University of Texas at Austin with a bachelor of music degree with honors in 1961 and a master of music in musicology in 1964. The Graduate School at Texas honored him with its 2001 Outstanding Alumnus Award. He studied in Berlin and Paris on a Fulbright Scholarship and earned a doctorate from the University of Michigan in 1967. A past president of the American Guild of Organists, Moeser performed widely as a concert organist.

Moeser is married to Dr. Susan Dickerson Moeser, a fellow concert organist and music lecturer and University organist at Carolina. His children are a son, Chris, an attorney in Phoenix, Ariz., and a daughter, Carter, a physical therapist in Tacoma, Wash.

DICK BADDOUR

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS
39TH YEAR AT CAROLINA

Carolina is one of the most widely recognized and respected athletic programs in the country, known both for its commitment to academic integrity and competitive excellence in men's and women's sports. The leader of this 28-sport program is Goldsboro native Dick Baddour, who counts nine years as Director of Athletics among his 39 years of service to his alma mater.

The 1966 UNC graduate is committed to keeping the Tar Heels among the nation's elite, while maintaining the University's proud traditions of graduating its student-athletes and playing within NCAA and ACC rules. It's a balance Baddour often emphasizes to Carolina's coaches and staff.

"We want to be successful in every sport, but we also expect our coaches to recruit outstanding young people who are ready to excel academically, athletically and socially," says Baddour. "Fortunately, that has been the norm here for generations. That's why Carolina alumni are so proud of their athletics program – we have been blessed to compete successfully and we've been able to do that with great people."

In Baddour's eight years as Director of Athletics, the Tar Heels have won 44 Atlantic Coast Conference championships, eight more than Duke, which is second with 36 titles. The eight schools that competed in the conference prior to the recent expansion average 19 ACC titles in those eight years. Seventeen different UNC men's and women's sports have won ACC titles in that time.

Carolina has posted the highest ACC finish in the NACDA Cup, which measures postseason NCAA success, in six of the last eight years. The Tar Heels were second-best in the ACC in the other two years, including 2004-05, when Carolina placed yet again in the Top 10 nationally.

The 2004-05 season was another outstanding one for the Tar Heels with 22 teams earning NCAA postseason berths and three – field hockey, women's basketball and wrestling – winning ACC championships. Those ACC titles don't include men's basketball and women's soccer, which won regular-season championships. Roy Williams led the men's basketball team to UNC's fourth NCAA championship and John Bunting's football team was invited to play in the Continental Tire Bowl in Charlotte after electrifying Kenan Stadium wins over NC State and fourth-ranked Miami.

It was the fourth consecutive year in which at least 20 Tar Heel teams participated in NCAA post-season play.

Last year was also the first for the Carolina Leadership Academy, a training program for student-athletes, coaches and administrators. The program develops lea ership skills through interactive workshops, 360-degree feedback, one-on-or coaching, peer mentoring and educational resources. Nearly 300 student-athlet received training in the first year, which was viewed as an overwhelming succe by UNC's coaches.

Baddour has partnered with the UNC School of Public Health and Gatorade c "Get Kids in Action," an action program designed to fight childhood obesity. T Heel student-athletes work with area school children to promote exercise and pro er nutrition.

During Baddour's tenure, the Tar Heels have won national championships men's basketball, men's and women's soccer and field hockey, won two footba bowl games and had numerous Top 10 national finishes in Olympic Sports. UN has had 15 individual national champions in the last four seasons.

Baddour has hired head coaches in seven sports, overseen renovations or crea ed plans to update virtually every facility in the athletic complex, expanded th direction and staffing for student-athlete services and worked tirelessly to set th program on sound financial footing currently and for future years.

Baddour emphasizes the number one priority for attending Carolina is acaden ic achievement. Last year, 170 student-athletes made the Dean's List on average each semester and 298 Tar Heels made the ACC Academic Honor Roll. That UNC's highest figure ever on the Honor Roll, which includes students with a gra point average of 3.0 or higher. The Tar Heels had the highest graduation rate of th men's basketball teams that advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 and UNC fared we in the initial findings of the APR, the NCAA's newest tool for measuring gradu tion rates.

Fiscal responsibility has been a key directive as the costs of running an athle ics program continue to grow. Baddour has instituted measures to ensure a sour financial future. He worked out funding for several facility enhancement project scholarships and operating budgets, and negotiated partnerships with Nike to ou fit the athletic program and with Learfield Communications, UNC's multi-med rightsholder. The Nike deal was widely praised as one of the most socially co scious contracts of its kind with respect to global labor issues.

Baddour began his UNC career in 1967 as assistant dean of men. In 1971 l became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. He served as Assistant Dea at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. THE ERNIE WILLIAMSON ATHLETICS CENTER

Honoring the Tradition . . .

UNC will soon welcome a new facility that will honor the rich traditions of Tar Heel Basketball and the storied Carolina Athletics program. The Ernie Williamson Athletics Center will be the new home for much of Carolina Athletics, including a state-of-the-art museum dedicated to the outstanding legacy and bright future of Carolina Basketball. Located immediately east of the Dean E. Smith Center and the Maurice Koury Natatorium, the new structure will become an immediate destination of choice for any Tar Heel fan.

Named in honor of former Educational Foundation President and Carolina legend Ernie Williamson, the 31/2-story building will house many entertaining and important parts of Carolina Athletics:

- The Carolina Basketball Museum
- Rams Club / Educational Foundation Offices
- Athletics Department Offices
- Athletics Ticket Office

With the Ernie Williamson Athletics Center, the many facets of the the UNC Athletics Department and the Rams Club will no longer be spread around and off campus, but will once again work together under one roof. In addition, the project will include a redesign of the old Foundation offices into a media center for use by sports information and marketing. A much-needed renovation of the existing Memorabilia Room is included – designed to properly honor Carolina's Olympic sports programs.

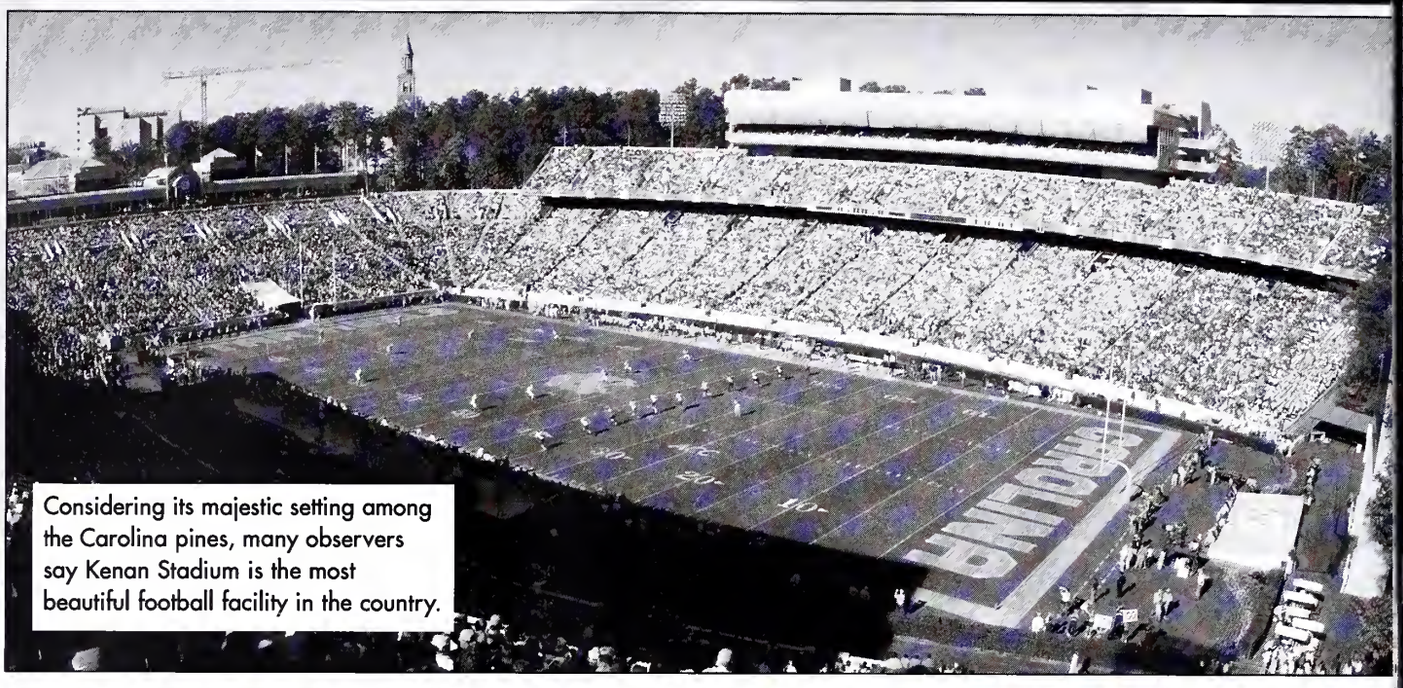

Many donor opportunities exist for supporters who want to be a part of this magnificent project dedicated to Carolina Athletics and Tar Heel Basketball. For more information on this project, donor opportunities within the building and museum, or to leave your mark on what will soon be the home of Carolina's most-storied program, please contact:

KENAN STADIUM
CAROLINA 31 2 0:00 0 28 MIAMI

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: KENAN STADIUM

Considering its majestic setting among the Carolina pines, many observers say Kenan Stadium is the most beautiful football facility in the country.

Carolina football plays its home games at Kenan Memorial Stadium (cap. 60,000), one of the most picturesque athletic venues in America. Kenan Stadium has been the home of the Tar Heels since 1927 and the thrill of playing in or attending a game there is as exhilarating now as it was when it was first constructed.

The stadium's beauty, charm and simple elegance have not been diminished with the expansion project that added nearly 8,000 seats, a state-of-the-art football facility, chancellor's box and preferred seating box. The renovation and expansion project was financed through a combination of private contributions through the Educational Foundation and bonded indebtedness from the athletic department through the sale of revenue-generating bonds. The Educational Foundation and its members have committed more than $50 million to the project.

The most recent addition to Kenan Stadium is a $2 million scoreboard at the east end of the stadium that was financed through an agreement with Learfield Communications, UNC's multi-media rights holder. The $2- million-figure includes the cost of the video board, installation and a new public address system. Over 40 new speakers were added throughout Kenan Stadium in 2003.

Considering its majestic setting among the Carolina pines, many observers say Kenan Stadium is the most beautiful football facility in the country. One national sports magazine rated Kenan one of the five best places in America to watch a college football game. For scenery, atmosphere and charm, it cannot be surpassed.

The stadium has been expanded several times since its completion in 1927. In each instance, though, great care was taken to keep its fundamental beauty intact. The addition of the Frank H. Kenan Football Center and the North Side Stadium Preferred Seating Box have further enhanced the stadium's status as a campus landmark.

"Kenan Stadium brings back so many memories," says head coach John Bunting. "So many players have given so much of themselves on that field. I had some great times as a player in Kenan Stadium and as head coach, I want to help produce many more memories for our fans. In my opinion, it is the best place to experience college football."

The Kenan Football Center houses the Carolina football program, including the locker rooms, weight room, training room, equipment room, players' lounge, computer labs and study areas, 100-plus seat auditorium, coaches' offices, theater and Hall of Honor.

The Charlie Justice Hall of Honor, located on the ground floor, is a multi-media history of Carolina football. Photographs, awards, trophies and artifacts detailing the rich and storied history of the sport in Chapel Hill are on display. The 18 Carolina players who have been honored by placing their names and numbers on display in the stadium are also featured in the Hall of Honor. Special plaques, flags and an audio-visual presentation on each player are highlighted.

The James A. Heavner Theater was made possible by a special gift by the former executive producer of the Tar Heel Sports Network and president of Vilcom. The theater is a 30-person mini-theater equipped with surround sound and seven dramatic videos presenting the history of UNC football.

A number of rooms in the Kenan Football Center have been dedicated in the honor or memory of Carolina's benefactors, fans and athletic personalities. They include the Brinkley Lounge, the fourth floor reception area named for Harvey M. Brinkley Jr.; the Don McCauley/Paul Miller Head Coach's Suite; the Norman M. (Buddy) Black Jr. Lounge, the fourth floor hospitality area; the Oscar Davenport/Chris Keldorf Quarterback Meeting Room, as given by Bob Biggerstaff, the Jo Allison Clary Smith Weight Room; the Carolina Football Players' Locker Room, named in behalf of the more than 400 former Tar Heels who donated more than $2 million to the project; the Nassif Offensive Staff Meeting Room; the Ann and Paul Lawing Coaches' Locker Room; Koury Box North, box seating on the north side of the stadium named for Maurice J. Koury; the John W. Pope Academic Support Facility; the John W. Pope Stadium Box, a stadium box on the north side; the John D. Swofford Auditorium and the Jimmy W. Garrell coaches meeting room.

The expansion project, in which great care was taken to ensure that the surrounding environment would be altered as little as possible, ties the north and south concourses to either end of the lower deck via the third level of the Kenan Center, making fan movement around the stadium much easier.

The football center is named in honor of the late Frank H. Kenan, one of the school's most generous benefactors. Kenan was a Durham resident and chief executive officer of Kenan Transport Company in Chapel Hill. He passed away at age 83 in 1996.

Kenan, a 1935 Carolina graduate, was the great-great-grandson of General James Kenan, a member of the University's founding board of trustees. An Atlanta native, Kenan had a tremendous impact on the growth of the University. He served on many campus boards, including the Board of Visitors and the Educational Foundation Board of Directors.

In recent years the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust, of which he was a trustee, has donated more than $100 million to schools in the Kenan served on the steering committee of arolina's Bicentennial Campaign, the University's rgest fund-raising effort. Gifts by him, his family nd the trust during the campaign exceeded $31 million. The largest portion of that was targeted for the usiness school. In 1991 the school was renamed the enan-Flagler Business School after a $10 million ift.

The preferred seating box that rises above the second deck of the grandstand on the north side of the adium has outdoor seating for almost 1,200 spectators. That includes the Chancellor's Box on the second level of the box 45 feet above the ground. The ourth level, 68 feet high, has outdoor seating for ore than 1,000, plus concessions and a 7,500 quare foot lounge. There is a smaller lounge and ood preparation areas on the third floor.

The Kenan Football Center and preferred seating ox are the predominant changes in a multi-year renvation plan that began in 1995. A new playing field as installed that spring. The new turf includes an nproved drainage system beneath the field that rains through the field itself rather than off the des of the field as in the past. Prior to the 1996 eason the restrooms and concession stands were xpanded and renovated.

Another significant stadium expansion took place rior to 1988 and involved adding 2,000 choice seats etween the 40-yard lines where the press box and hancellor's box formerly stood. A new press box as constructed on top of the upper deck on the staium's south side. It is a one-level elongated structure, running from 10-yard line to 10-yard line.

Also part of the 1987-88 project were a permaent lighting system, a chancellor's lounge on the orth side of the field and a football lettermen's ounge on the south side. The lights are part of a eneral Electric low-mount system which minimizes he height of the lightpoles. Cost of the entire project as $7 million. It was funded by private gifts and bonds.

William Rand Kenan Jr. deserves the credit for originally making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and graduated from Carolina in 1894. An international industrialist, Kenan discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry. During his business career he was president of The Florida East Coast Railroad, The Florida East Coast Hotel Company, The West Palm Beach Water Company and the Florida East Coast Car Ferry Company.

He was a director of Florida Power and Light Company and built the first power plant in Miami in the early 1900s.

Two recent additions to the front entrance of Kenan Stadium include a statue of Carolina legend Charlie "Choo-Choo" Justice (left) and a sculpture of the "World's Largest Ram."

The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. Construction began in November 1926 and was completed the following August. Complete cost of the stadium and accompanying fieldhouse was $303,000.

Originally, the stadium was to be built through funds raised by alumni donations, and by June 1926, a group of nearly 40 alumni had contributed $27,926. At this time, however, a copy of the prospectus and plan of financing the stadium came into the hands of Kenan, who expressed an interest in the proposal. Kenan was considering establishing a memorial to his parents, and the pressing need for a stadium and the possibilities of the beauty, dignity and permanence it presented, suggested to him that the benefaction he contemplated may well take the form of a memorial stadium. The Stadium Committee immediately endorsed his proposal and on the very day in November 1926 on which Kenan visited the planned site, he announced his financial gift to build the stadium.

Kenan remained very interested in Kenan Stadium throughout his lifetime. In the 1950s he gave a $1,000,000 contribution to construct a second deck on the stadium. After Kenan's death in 1965 the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust, which was established by his will, donated $1,000,000 to enlarge and modernize Kenan Fieldhouse.

In 1988 the Kenan Trust made another $1,000,000 gift to complete the new chancellor's box on the North Side. Another lasting memory of William R. Kenan Jr. is the Kenan Athletic Scholarship Endowment, valued at over $1,000,000. Each year a student-athlete is awarded a full scholarship from this fund.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

In the first game played there, Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, on November 12, 1927.

Carolina's all-time record at Kenan Stadium is 238-148-16. The most points scored by the Tar Heels in Kenan came in the third game played there as Carolina whipped Wake Forest, 65-0, in the 1928 season opener.

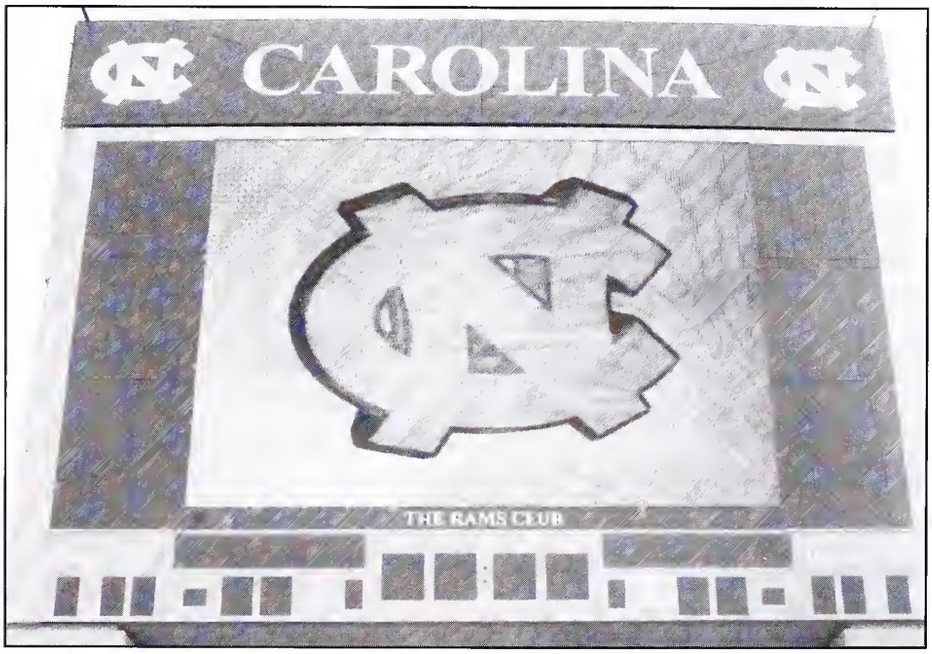

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in 1963 the benefactor added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands which increased capacity to 48,000. That was expanded to 50,000 in 1979, 52,000 in 1988, 57,500 in 1997 and 60,000 in 1998.

At the East end of the stadium is the Kenan Fieldhouse, home of the Student-Athlete Development Center. A 20,000 square foot building, it is a one-of-a-kind facility. For study purposes, it contains a language lab, video room, computer lab, theatre-style lecture hall, several reading rooms and numerous tutorial rooms. UNC's academic counseling staff has the advantage of using the most modern techniques in assisting student-athletes.

Capacity crowds have come to be expected at Kenan. In 1997, the Tar Heels played in front of a record-shattering crowd of 62,000 on Nov. 8, 1997, as fifth-ranked Carolina battled No. 2 Florida State. The largest crowd to watch a game prior to the most recent major expansion was 54,300 as Carolina defeated N.C. State, 31-17, in 1994.

The 1983 season saw another first in the stadium — a game played under artificial lights. The Carolina-Duke game was played in the late afternoon so it could be televised throughout the ACC area. Portable lights were brought in since the second half was played after sunset. Portable lights were also used in the 1987 Clemson game which was televised nationally by ESPN.

The 1991 season opener versus Cincinnati and that season's Clemson game, which was televised nationally by ESPN, were the first true night games ever played at Kenan Stadium.

A state-of-the-art scoreboard was installed in East end zone of Kenan Stadium 2003.

2004 REVIEW

Predicted to finish 10th in the 11-team Atlantic Coast Conference at the preseason media kick-off, North Carolina tied for third in the ACC and earned a berth in the Continental Tire Bowl in Charlotte. The Tar Heels (6-6 overall, 5-3 ACC) had one of the best offensive teams in the league finishing second in total offense. The third place finish was the highest for the Tar Heels since finishing third in 2001.

Kenan Stadium was the site of several exciting victories, including wins over William & Mary, Georgia Tech, NC State and Miami. Three of those games ended with Tar Heels making plays to either win or cement a victory. Against the Yellow Jackets, linebacker Hilee Taylor forced a fumble, scooped up the ball and raced the final 21 yards for a touchdown as time expired in a 34-13 victory. A few weeks later, Carolina made another great defensive play, stopping NC State's T.A. McClendon at the goal line on successive attempts. The Tar Heels won the game 30-24.

Following a disappointing 46-16 loss at Utah on October 16, North Carolina limped home to Chapel Hill 3-4 overall and looking ahead at a schedule that featured difficult home games vs. No. 4 Miami and No. 18 Virginia Tech and road games at Wake Forest and Duke. What followed was one of the most memorable turnarounds in school history.

First, the Tar Heels knocked off No. 4 Miami, 31-28, beating a top five team for the first time in school history. After a three-point loss to the Hokies, Carolina beat Wake Forest 31-24 when Darian Durant connected with Jesse Holley in the final two minutes and safety Gerald Sensabaugh picked off Wake's final offensive play of the game with just nine seconds remaining. In the season finale vs. Duke, Carolina reclaimed the Victory Bell with a 40-17 win. Three days later, head coach John Bunting accepted a bid to the Continental Tire Bowl in Charlotte. Over 65,000 Tar Heel fans, thought to be the most ever to see a Carolina team in person, packed Bank of America Stadium in Charlotte to watch the final game of the season.

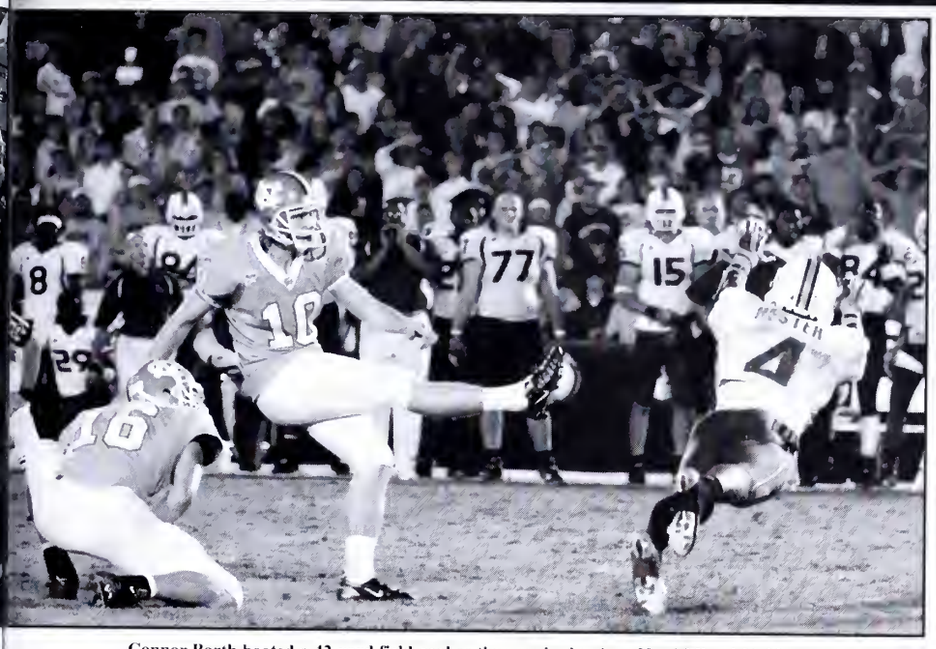

TAR HEELS FACED NATION'S NO. 1 SCHEDULE

According to the Sagarin rankings, North Carolina's 2004 schedule ranked as the most difficult in the country. The schedule difficulty of a given game takes into account the rating of the opponent and the location of the game. Carolina played eight ranked teams and three teams that finished in the top 10 in the country.

TAR HEELS EARN HONORS

North Carolina senior center Jason Brown earned first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association (ACSMA). Following the fall semes-er, Durant announced he was transferring from the UNC program, only to change his mind just wo months later and rejoin the team in time for spring drills. He went on to have two of the most rolific passing seasons in school history as a sophomore and junior, setting single-season records n nearly every statistical category in 2003. NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: 2004 REVIEW

CAROLINA 49, WILLIAM & MARY 38
KENAN STADIUM
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) - North Carolina's Ronnie McGill rushed for three fourth-quarter touchdowns and the Tar Heels rallied from a 10-point third-quarter deficit to beat Division I-AA William & Mary 49-38, giving coach John Bunting his first season-opening win in four tries.

• Trailing 31-28 entering the fourth quarter, North Carolina rallied for a 49-38 victory against William & Mary. The fourth-quarter comeback was the first for the Tar Heels since rallying for a 30-22 win at Syracuse in 2002. The Tar Heels trailed the Orangemen 22-16 entering the final quarter at the Carrier Dome.

• The win was also Carolina's first in a season opener since a 30-9 win over Tulsa to open the 2000 season.

• Sophomore Ronnie McGill (13 carries, 133 yards, 3 TD) and senior Jacque Lewis (15 carries, 123 yards, 1 TD) both eclipsed the 100-yard mark Saturday against William and Mary. This marked the first time Carolina had a pair of 100-yard backs in the same game since Curtis Johnson (111 yards) and Leon Johnson (110 yards) both did so against Georgia Tech in 1994.

• Three different Tar Heel tailbacks scored rushing touchdowns: Jacque Lewis, Chad Scott and Ronnie McGill added three in the fourth quarter. McGill's first fourth-quarter score put the Tar Heels ahead 35-31 for their first lead of the day. McGill's three scores tied a career-best. He also scored three times against Wake Forest last season.

• Carolina's 49 points were the most since the Tar Heels scored 52 points at Duke in 2001.

• It was only the second time in school history that two players have rushed for 100 yards (McGill, 133; Lewis, 123) and one player has passed for 200 yards (Durant, 234). The other time came against Georgia Tech in 1980.

• The Tar Heels played nine true freshmen against William and Mary: Connor Barth, Trimane Goddard, Durell Mapp, Khalif Mitchell, Hilee Taylor, Martel Thatch, Del Roberts, Kenny Price and Antwan Balmer played for the Tar Heels. Carolina played 12 true freshmen during the 2003 season. Redshirt freshmen Bryan Bethea, Kyndraus Guy and Charleston Gray also saw their first collegiate action versus the Tribe.

• Carolina amassed 575 total yards, its most since Sept. 30, 1995 when UNC had 637 yards vs. Ohio.

VIRGINIA 56, CAROLINA 24
SCOTT STADIUM
CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) - Wali Lundy scored three touchdowns and Marquis Weeks returned a kickoff 100 yards against North Carolina for the second time in three years to give No. 15 Virginia a 56-24 victory on September 11.

• Two North Carolina freshmen defensive linemen made their first career start against Virginia. True freshman Khalif Mitchell started at defensive tackle and redshirt freshman Kyndraus Guy started at defensive end. Junior Mahlon Carey also started his first game as a linebacker. He started games as a tailback and a safety in the previous two seasons.

• Place-kicker Connor Barth's 22-yard field goal in the second quarter was the first field goal by a UNC freshman since Josh McGee made nine in 1996.

• The 56 points Carolina allowed to Virginia are the most allowed in the series since Virginia scored a 66-0 victory in 1912. The 549 yards allowed to Virginia were the most in the history of the series.

• The two teams combined to score 80 points. That is the most in the series since a 44-40 Virginia win in 1973.

• Quarterback Darian Durant was 11 of 15 for 128 yards and one touchdown. He has now thrown a touchdown in nine consecutive games. The 128 passing yards are the fewest for Durant since 76 yards against Auburn in the 2001 Peach Bowl.

• The 238 kickoff return yards Carolina allowed to Virginia are the most in UNC history. The previous was 209 by Virginia in 1936.

• Quarterback Matt Baker threw for a career-high 171 yards after entering the game in the fourth quarter. Baker was 8 of 9 for 171 yards and one touchdown.

• Wide receiver Daunte Fields made his first career catch in the fourth quarter on a 46-yard toss from Baker.

CAROLINA 34, GEORGIA TECH 13
KENAN STADIUM STADIUM
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) - Jacque Lewis rushed for a career-high 161 yards and two touchdowns, while North Carolina's beleaguered defense was surprisingly stingy in a 34-13 victory over Georgia Tech on September 18.

• With the win over Georgia Tech, the Tar Heels won consecutive games at Kenan Stadium for the first time since beating Duke and SMU at home to close out the 2001 season. The win also snapped a six-game losing streak to the Yellow Jackets. UNC last defeated Tech in 1997 and last won at home in the series in 1996. Tech had won three in a row at UNC.

• Carolina started the year 2-0 at home for the first time since 2001.

• Senior tailback Jacque Lewis rushed for a career-best 161 yards and two touchdowns on 161 carries for his second 100-yard game this season and the third of his career. Lewis ran for 102 at Duke in 2002 for his only 100-yard game entering 2004. The Georgia Tech game marked the first time Lewis had rushed for two touchdowns in the same game.

• The 21-point margin of victory was Carolina's largest in an ACC game since beating Duke, 52-17 (35 point margin) on Nov. 17, 2001.

• With his third quarter touchdown pass to Adarius Bowman, Darian Durant set a school record for touchdowns responsible for with 65 (55 pass, 10 rush). The previous mark of 64 was held by the legendary Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice, who played for the Tar Heels from 1946-49.

• Carolina forced five Georgia Tech turnovers, its highest total since forcing five at Arizona State in 2002. Carolina had three interceptions (two by Jacoby Watkins and one by Fred Sparkman) for the first time since the 2000 Duke game. The five forced turnovers are the most for the Tar Heels in an ACC game since the 2001 Florida State win.

• Sophomore Jacoby Watkins' second quarter interception of a Reggie Ball pass was the Tar Heels' first in the last 12 games dating back to Carolina's loss at Wisconsin last season. Then-safety Mahlon Carey had two picks against the Badgers in the second quarter game. The interception was the first by a Tar Heel cornerback since the 2002 game at Arizona State, a span of 22 games. Watkins also added a second interception in the end zone in the fourth quarter.

• Freshman Hilee Taylor's 21-yard fumble recovery for a touchdown was Carolina's first fumble recovery for a score since Julius Peppers had a 12-yard return at Wake Forest in 2000. Taylor's sack of Reggie Ball on the final play of the game was Carolina's first sack of the season.

GAME 4: SEPTEMBER 25
LOUISVILLE 34, CAROLINA 0
KENAN STADIUM STADIUM
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) - Eric Shelton ran for three touchdowns and No. 24 Louisville earned its second shutout of the season with a 34-0 victory over North Carolina on September 25.

• Carolina senior quarterback Darian Durant was 10 for 19 for 80 yards and no touchdowns against Louisville. The 80 yards passing were Durant's fewest since he threw for 76 yards against Auburn in the 2001 Peach Bowl. Durant also saw a streak of 10 consecutive games with a touchdown pass snapped. The last game Durant did not have a touchdown pass was against Virginia in 2003.

• It is the first time in Durant's career he has thrown for less than 100 yards in a start (this was his 26th career start). However, a fourth down throw in the third quarter would likely have gone for a touchdown but was dropped.

• With a season-best five catches against Louisville, senior Jarwarski Pollock moved into eighth on the career reception chart at Carolina with 111. He has nine catches on the season and needs eight more to tie L.C. Stevens for seventh on the all-time list. Na Brown holds the Tar Heel record with 165 career receptions.

• Defensive tackle Terry Hunter and tailback Vince Wilson saw their first collegiate action against Louisville, bringing the total number of true freshmen to play this season to 13. This number is the highest for Carolina in at least 10 years. Twelve true freshmen saw action for the Tar Heels last season.

• Redshirt freshman John Choate saw his first game action at punter for the Tar Heels. His first career punt pinned Louisville at its eight-yard line midway through the first quarter. He averaged 34.8 yards on four punts.

• With no points in the first half, Carolina was shutout in a half for the first time this season. The last time the Tar Heels went a half without scoring was the first half of the Duke game last season.

• Freshman Hilee Taylor recorded a sack for the second consecutive game against Louisville. Taylor, who has both UNC sacks this season, dropped Cardinal quarterback Brian Brohm for a 12-yard loss in the first half.

• Carolina was shutout for the first time in any game and the first time at home since a 37-0 loss to Florida State on August 30, 2003.

• The Tar Heels allowed 30 first downs, the most allowed since Wake Forest had 31 in 2003.

DOAK CAMPBELL STADIUM
TALLAHASSEE, FLA.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Wyatt Sexton threw three touchdown passes in his starting debut and Leon Washington ran for 153 yards and a touchdown as No. 9 Florida State defeated North Carolina 38-16 on October 2.

• Carolina's 363 total yards of offense and 263 passing yards were the most ever in 16 meetings with the Seminoles. The previous best in total yards was 359 in 2002. The previous best passing effort was 244 yards in 2000.

• Quarterback Darian Durant was 18 of 30 for 254 yards and a touchdown. That is the most ever passing yards by a UNC player against Florida State. The previous high was 235 by Ronald Curry in 2000. Durant also matched the UNC individual-high for completions against FSU with 18. He also had 18 completions against the Seminoles in 2003. Durant's 262 total yards of offense topped the mark of 211 set by Ronald Curry against FSU in 2000.

• Wide reeeiver Jarwarski Pollock had eight catches for 100 yards and a touchdown. That matches the most receptions and receiving yards by a UNC player against FSU. Pollock also had eight catches last season in the game in Chapel Hill. The 100 yards receiving matched Bobby Blizzard's total in 2002.

• Pollock's third-quarter touchdown catch was his first in 15 games. He last caught a TD pass in the second game of the 2003 season against Syracuse.

• Cornerback Lionell Green picked off his first career pass in the third quarter off of FSU quarterback Wyatt Sexton.

• Defensive end Tommy Davis played one of the best games of his UNC career, finishing with seven tackles, including three tackles for loss and a sack.

GAME 6: OCTOBER 9
CAROLINA 30, NC STATE 24
KENAN STADIUM
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. - North Carolina's much-maligned defense stopped T.A. McLendon inches short of the end zone with 6 seconds left - after a touchdown by McLendon on the previous play was disallowed - and the Tar Heels hung on to beat North Carolina State 30-24 on October 9.

• Carolina's 30-24 victory over NC State snapped the Wolfpack's two-game winning streak in the series. Carolina now leads the series, 61-27-6.

• Carolina rushed for 164 yards, while NC State gained 304 yards on the ground. It marked the first time in the last 13 meetings that the team with the fewest yards rushing had won.

• Quarterback Darian Durant had three touchdown passes versus NC State, his first three-TD game this season and first in 13 games (since last year's game vs. NC State). It was the seventh three-touchdown pass game of Durant's career.

• NC State entered the game with the nation's No. 2-rated defense. Carolina gained 356 yards of total offense, the most the Wolfpack has allowed this season (previous high was 279 yards in overtime last week vs. Wake Forest).

• Fullback Madison Hedgecock's 12-yard gain early in the second quarter came on his first carry of the season. It was Hedgecock's fifth career carry and first since the 2002 season. The 12-yard carry equaled his previous career output. He had carries of 25 and 16 yards in the fourth quarter and finished the game with 69 yards on the ground on 10 carries. Entering the game, Hedgecock had four carries for 12 career yards.

• Connor Barth's 50-yard field goal in the first quarter was the longest by a freshman in Carolina history, eclipsing the previous mark of 49 yards by Jeff Arnold (1976) and Josh McGee (1996). Barth hit 3 of 3 attempts on Saturday and now is 7 of 8 on field goal attempts this season.

• Wide receiver Jesse Holley's 23-yard touchdown reception in the second quarter was his first touchdown catch in 10 games (since the Clemson game in 2003).

• Lionell Green's sack of Jay Davis on the final play of the first quarter was his first career sack and the first by a Tar Heel cornerback this season.

• Tailback Jacque Lewis' 53-yard run in the second quarter was the longest of the season to date for the Tar Heels. It was the second-longest carry of Lewis' career (behind a 56-yard run at Wisconsin in 2003).

• Sophomore linebacker Larry Edwards's fourth-quarter interception was the first of his career. The NC State game was his first start of the season.

UTAH 46, CAROLINA 16
RICE-ECCLES STADIUM
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Alex Smith threw four touchdown passes and run for another score to help No. 11 Utah rout North Carolina 46-16 on October 16. Smith wound up 29-for-37 and 341 yards as Utah (6-0) earned its third victory this season over a team from a Bowl Championship Series conference.

• Madison Hedgecock scored his first career touchdown on a 1-yard carry on the Tar Heels' opening drive. He later scored again in the second half on another 1-yard carry.

• Carolina scored on its first drive to take a 7-0 lead. It marked the first time this season that the Tar Heels had scored first.

• North Carolina stopped Utah on the Utes first drive of the game. That marked the first time this season Carolina had prevented an opponent from scoring on its first drive this season. UNC's opponents had scored four touchdowns and two field goals in the previous six games.

• Carolina surrendered a school-record 669 total yards of offense to the Utes. The previous record was 657 by Arizona State in 2002. Carolina won that game, 33-31.

CAROLINA 31, MIAMI 28
KENAN STADIUM
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) - North Carolina might have kicked Miami right out of the national title race. Conner Barth booted a 42-yard field goal on the final play of the game, giving North Carolina a shocking 31-28 upset of the fourth-ranked Hurricanes on October 30.

• Connor Barth's 42-yard field goal as time expired gave Carolina a 31-28 win over fourth-ranked Miami. The win is Carolina's first ever over a team ranked in the Top 5 in the Associated Press poll. The previous high ranked team that the Tar Heels had beaten was No. 6 Florida State in 2001, No. 6 Duke in 1960 and No. 6 Navy in 1957.

• Carolina is now 2-4 against ranked teams this year. The Tar Heels are now 13-55-1 against teams ranked in the AP Top 10. UNC is now 1-31-1 against teams ranked in the Top 4 all-time.

• Carolina amassed 545 yards of total offense, the second time this year the Tar Heels went over 500 yards. It was the most allowed by the Hurricanes this season (previous was 507 by Louisville). UNC had 575 against William and Mary in the season opener.

• Darian Durant threw a pair of touchdown passes and now has 61 in his career, which ties Florida State's Chris Rix (60) for fourth on the ACC's all-time list. Durant has now thrown a touchdown pass in 31 of his last 37 games. Both Mike Mason and Scott Brumett caught their first touchdown passes of the season.

• Senior tailback Chad Scott started for the first time in his Tar Heel career against Miami and responded with a career-best 175 yards and two scores on 25 carries. His 40-yard run in the second quarter tied a season and career best. His previous career high was 117 yards against Mississippi State in 2001 when he played at Kentucky. Scott left midway through the third quarter with a right hip pointer but returned early in the fourth quarter.

• Scott is the third Tar Heel this year to rush for 100 or more yards. Jacque Lewis had 123 against William and Mary and 161 against Georgia Tech. Ronnie McGill had 137 against William and Mary.

• The loss was Miami's first in which it scored at least 28 points since a Sept. 9, 2000, loss to Washington. That score was 34-29 Huskies.

• This was the first time an unranked team had beaten Miami since East Carolina beat No. 9 UM 27-23 on Sept. 25, 1999.

• Miami had the fourth-longest win streak in the country at 10 coming into the game.

GAME 9: NOVEMBER 6
VIRGINIA TECH 27, CAROLINA 24
KENAN STADIUM
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) - Mike Imoh ran for 243 yards and two touchdowns November 6 as No. 18 Virginia Tech won 27-24 over North Carolina, which missed a 54-yard field goal with about a minute left that would have tied the game.

• Imoh's 243 yards are the most in history by an individual against Carolina, surpassing Willie Joyner of Maryland, 1982 (240), and P.J. Daniels of Georgia Tech in 2003 (240). It was only the third time ever an opponent rushed for 200 or more yards against Carolina in Kenan Stadium.

• Virginia Tech compiled 370 yards of total offense, the lowest figure allowed by Carolina this season (previous low was 393 Georgia Tech).

• Virginia Tech passed for 100 yards in the game, the lowest figure allowed by UNC this year (previous low was 164 by Georgia Tech). However, Virginia Tech had 270 yards rushing, only the fifth-highest total against Carolina this season.

• Chad Scott (122 yards) ran for over 100 yards for the second game in a row (he had 175 last week vs. Miami). He is the first Carolina player to rush for 100 yards in back-to-back games since Jonathan Linton vs. NC State and Georgia Tech in 1997 (a span of 84 games).

• Chad Scott's 48-yard touchdown run in the first quarter was the longest run of his UNC career and Carolina's longest touchdown run of the season.

• Carolina recorded three sacks in the first quarter, equaling the Tar Heels' team single-game high for the 2004 season. UNC finished the game with a season-high four sacks for 22 yards.

• Wallace Wright's 49-yard touchdown reception in the second quarter came on his first catch of the year and Darian Durant's longest TD pass of the season. The catch was Wright's second career catch (both went for TDs). Wright finished the game with two catches, doubling his previous career output.

• Carolina's Tom O'Leary blocked a Hokie punt and D.J. Walker returned it one yard for a touchdown at the 10:30 mark of the fourth quarter to pull UNC within 27-24. It was the first time Carolina has blocked a punt and recovered for a touchdown since the Las Vegas Bowl in 1998 (when Quinton Savage blocked a San Diego State punt and David Bomar recovered it in the end zone).

• Carolina finished the season 4-2 at Kenan Stadium, UNC's first winning record at home since 2001 (5-1).

GAME 12: DECEMBER 30
CONTINENTAL TIRE BOWL
BOSTON COLLEGE 37, CAROLINA 24
KENAN STADIUM
CHARLOTTE, N.C.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Headed off the field on a stretcher with a broken leg, Paul Peterson heard the roar of the crowd and knew his teammates were about to score. He glanced up at the scoreboard just in time to see kicker Ryan Ohliger take a fake field goal into the end zone for a 21-yard touchdown run that sealed Boston College's 37-24 victory over North Carolina in the Continental Tire Bowl.

Clinging to a 27-24 lead over North Carolina (6-6) in the fourth quarter, Peterson was injured as he tried to run outside for a first down on third-and-1 and was brought down awkwardly by Tommy Davis.

Ohliger, a 5-foot-9 freshman, took the handoff from Ryan and raced into the end zone, breaking a tackle a long the way, for a 34-24 lead with 10:32 to play.

"We kind of expected them to do a fake, but we were more favoring the pass than the run," Carolina linebacker Tommy Richardson said. "That was a great call by Mr. O'Brien."

Peterson continued his trip to the locker room as the Eagles celebrated. X-rays showed a broken left tibia, and team officials said he would need surgery.

Before leaving, the quarterback went 24-of-33 for 236 yards and two touchdowns, helping Boston College win a bowl game for the fifth straight season.

The Eagles gave the Big East its first win in the 3-year-old bowl game. It was BC's final game in the league - it joins the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2005.

Virginia represented the ACC in the first two Tire Bowls, so the inclusion of North Carolina was a welcome change of scenery. Tar Heels fans snapped up over 65,000 tickets, washing out the scattering of Boston College supporters in a sea of light blue.

They had plenty to cheer about early as North Carolina seized the momentum by scoring a pair of touchdowns after Peterson's fumble and Ohliger's missed field goal.

"We certainly had opportunities to win today and that's what it's about - winning," North Carolina coach John Bunting said.

North Carolina quarterback Darian Durant threw for 260 yards and three TDs in his final game as a Tar Heel. He finished his storied career with 51 school records, including all major passing and total offense records.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: FIRST-TEAM ALL-AMERICAS

GEORGE BARCLAY, Guard, 1934

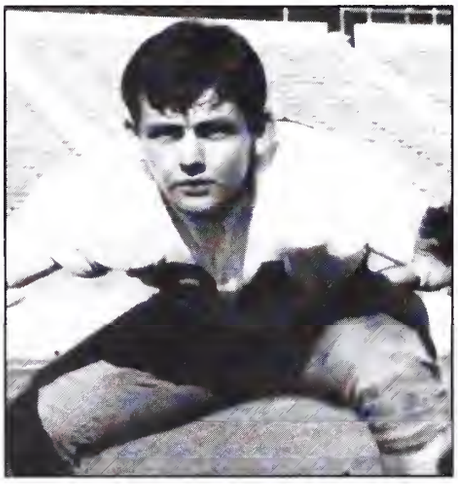

Barclay was Carolina's first football All-America. The 5-11, 185-pound guard and linebacker was a three-year standout for Chuck Collins and Carl Snavely. A fine blocker and an extraordinary tackler, Barclay lined up in the offensive interior next to tackle Jim Tatum. He was captain of the 1934 team which went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as head coach at Carolina for three seasons, from 1953 to 1955.

ANDY BERSHAK, End, 1937

A 185-pound end, Bershak was a two-way performer for the Tar Heels. He was a fine receiver, but was even better on defense. He played two years for Carl Snavely and one for Ray Wolf. Bershak, an honor student, was also a basketball starter. He was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.

STEVE MARONIC (below), Tackle, 1938

Maronic was a two-way tackle for the Tar Heels and team co-captain in 1938. He was an "iron man," playing almost 60 minutes in every game that season. He turned in two of his best performances in front of the New York media against NYU at Yankee Stadium and Fordham at the Polo Grounds. Those games solidified his All-America chances. Maronic also was a place-kicker and hit 13 straight PATs in his final season.

PAUL SEVERIN, End, 1939-40

Severin was a two-time All-America selection by the Associated Press (1939 and 1940) and made most of the all-star teams in his senior season. His career was filled with big plays—a touchdown catch to tie Tulane in 1939, two scoring catches against Penn that same season and a touchdown-saving tackle from behind of Duke's great Steve Lach in a 6-3 win over the Blue Devils in 1940.

CHARLIE JUSTICE, Halfback, 1948-49

Twice a runner-up for the Heisman Trophy, Justice is rated by many as the best all-around player in the history of Southern football. He was a true triple-threat performer, leading Carolina in rushing, passing and punting from 1946 to 1949. He sparked Tar Heel teams which appeared in the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. He was the school's all-time total offense leader with 4,883 yards for more than 40 years and also ranks as the Tar Heels' fourth-leading career scorer, eighth-leading rusher and 18th-leading passer. He had a career punting average of 42.6 and averaged 14.2 yards on punt returns and 26.6 yards on kickoff returns. In 1948 he received the national player of the year award from the Washington Touchdown Club and was the recipient of the Walter Camp Memorial Trophy. Justice is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

KEN POWELL, Defensive End, 1949

Powell teamed with Art Weiner to give UNC a formidable pass receiving threat in the post-Wold War II "Justice Era." He was outstanding in the 1947 Sugar Bowl against Georgia and earned first-team All-America honors at defensive end in 1949 by NEA. That organization named Powell to its All-America Team on defense, the first time it selected All-Americas on both offense and defense. He finished his career with 23 receptions for 324 yards and three touchdowns.

ART WEINER, End, 1948-49

A great all-around end, Weiner led the nation in receiving in 1949 with 52 catches. He had been seventh nationally in receiving the previous year with 31 catches. His 106 career catches are the ninth-most in school history and until 1997 he held the UNC career record with 18 touchdown receptions. Many remember him best for a game-saving defensive play on the last snap of the 1949 Duke game. Weiner was named the most outstanding lineman in the Senior Bowl. Weiner was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1992.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: FIRST-TEAM ALL-AMERICAS

RV HOLDASH, Center, 1950

While Carolina's football fortunes slipped in the years immediately following the Charlie Justice Era, Holdash still received national attention for his outstanding play. A center on offense and linebacker on defense, Holdash was a three-year regular who never missed a game during his varsity career. He perhaps sealed All-America honors in 1950 with a sensational performance in a 14-7 loss at Notre Dame. Irish quarterback Bobby Williams called him "the best I've played against."

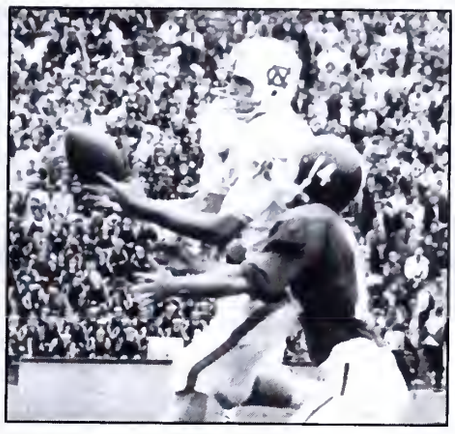

AL GOLDSTEIN, End, 1958

An outstanding two-way end, Goldstein earned All-America honors in 1958 by making 24 catches for 490 yards, averaging an amazing 20.4 yards per reception. Adept at making the seemingly impossible catch, he had a 68-yard TD reception at Virginia. He also starred defensively and had a 46-yard interception return for a touchdown against Maryland.

BOB LACEY, End, 1963

Lacey led the Atlantic Coast Conference in receiving in 1963 with 48 catches for 533 yards. His pass-catching was a key factor as Carolina rolled to a 9-2 record, defeating Air Force, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Lacey was also the team's top receiver in 1962 with 44 catches. He was the first Tar Heel player to have at least 40 catches in two seasons. His career total of 102 receptions is the 10th-best in school history.

DON McCAULEY, Halfback, 1970

McCauley shattered the Carolina and the Atlantic Coast Conference record books with a dazzling senior season in 1970. He rushed for 1,720 yards and scored 21 touchdowns, setting marks which still stand. His 1,720 yards was an all-time collegiate high at the time, breaking O.J. Simpson's NCAA record. McCauley led the nation in all-purpose running that season. He was twice the ACC Player of the Year and still ranks fifth in career rushing at UNC. He had a lengthy professional career with the Baltimore Colts. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2002.

RON RUSNAK, Offensive Guard, 1972

Rusnak was a unanimous All-America selection in 1972 as Carolina posted an 11-1 record. At 6-2 and 220 pounds, he did not have the size to play professional football, but Rusnak was a great college player. He was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice, starting on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. In 1972 he won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the ACC.

KEN HUFF, Offensive Guard, 1974

Huff was a key man on one of the most explosive units in Carolina history. He was the leader of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels accumulate 4,691 yards, at the time a school record, in 1974. The 6-4, 255-pound Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Sparked in great part by his play up front, the Tar Heels had two backs rush for over 1,000 yards in the same season. Huff was the third player selected in the NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

CHARLES WADDELL, Tight End, 1974

Waddell rates as one of the best all-around athletes in Carolina history. He won three football letters, two in basketball and one in track. Not only was he a fine receiver at tight end, but he was also a dynamic blocker. He set a school single-game record in 1974 with three touchdown catches against Clemson. He had 41 career catches for 518 yards and seven TDs. His professional career was cut short by a knee injury.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: FIRST-TEAM ALL-AMERICAS

DEE HARDISON, Defensive Tackle, 1977

A two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection, Hardison played on one of the top defensive teams in Carolina history. UNC led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, giving up just 7.4 points a game. The Tar Heels led the ACC in total, rushing, passing and scoring defense. A big reason was the play of Hardison, a 6-3, 252-pound tackle who dominated the line of scrimmage all season. After leaving Carolina he began a lengthy NFL career with the Buffalo Bills.

RICKY BARDEN, Defensive Back, 1979

One of the top defensive backs in Carolina history, Barden was a repeat All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in 1978 and 1979. Barden made nine career interceptions. He started at cornerback for two years and then was shifted to strong safety for his final year where he broke up nine passes and was the third-leading tackler on the team. His 156 yards on interception returns are the third-most in school history.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR (above), Outside Linebacker, 1980

From midway in his junior season until the end of his senior year in 1980, Taylor dominated the football field as few defensive players ever had. Now regarded as the finest outside linebacker in the history of the game, Taylor had a remarkable senior season which featured a school-record 16 quarterback sacks and six other tackles for losses. In Carolina's only close games in an 11-1 season, Taylor made the game-saving defensive plays against Texas Tech and Clemson. He was a runaway selection as ACC Player of the Year.

RON WOOTEN (above), Offensive Guard, 1980

Wooten won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1980 as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He was the leading vote-getter in the offensive line on the All-ACC team. He was one of the leaders of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels lead the ACC in total offense and which also helped produce two 1,000-yard backs. He went on to become a starting guard with New England in the NFL.

DAVID DRECHSLER (above), Offensive Guard, 1981-82

Drechsler became Carolina's first two-time All-America since Charlie Justice and Art Weiner when he earned first-team honors in 1981 and 1982. He played every position in the offensive interior during his Carolina career, but settled in at guard. The 6-4, 253-pound Drechsler played on Tar Heel teams which were 37-10-1 and were unbeaten in four bowl games. He also was the winner of a post-graduate scholarship from the NCAA. Drechsler went on to become a starter with the Green Bay Packers until a back injury forced him to give up the game.

WILLIAM FULLER, Defensive Tackle, 1982-83

Fuller is one of just six Carolina players to win first-team All-America honors twice. Although powerfully built at 6-3 and 250 pounds, Fuller's greatest asset was his quickness. He used that quickness to make 13 tackles for losses and six sacks in 1982 and 17 tackles for losses with five sacks the following year. He was the only unanimous choice on the 1983 All-ACC team and is one of just three defensive linemen ever to make All-ACC for three straight years.

BRIAN BLADOS, Offensive Tackle, 1983

When two Carolina tailbacks ran for over 1,000 yards in 1983, much of that yardage came behind Blados. The 6-6, 305-pound left tackle dominated the line of scrimmage as Carolina set a school total offense record and finished seventh nationally in yardage. Blados was named on 90 of 100 ballots in voting for the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team. He was a first round choice by the Cincinnati Bengals in the NFL draft.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: FIRST-TEAM ALL-AMERICAS

HARRIS BARTON, Offensive Tackle, 1986

Barton was a four-year starter for the Tar Heels, first at center and then at tackle. With so many teams playing even-man front defenses, Barton was moved to tackle in 1984 to take better advantage of his skills. He excelled at left tackle, the key blocking spot in the Carolina passing game. As a senior, he led an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels rank first in the Atlantic Coast Conference and sixth nationally in total offense. An excellent student, he was chosen for a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first-round selection in the NFL draft.

PAT CROWLEY, Offensive Guard, 1989

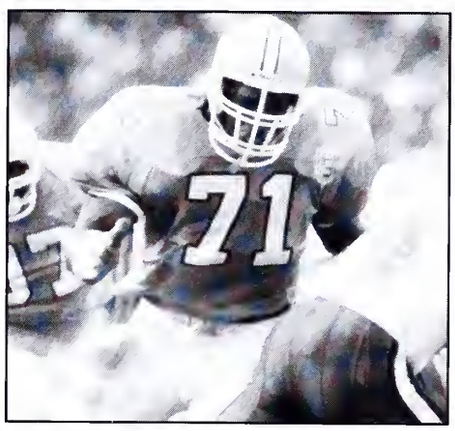

Crowley was a standout offensive guard and a leader of the first of Mack Brown's teams. He won first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1987, 1988 and 1989 and became only the second offensive lineman in conference history to win three all-league honors (Virginia's Jim Dombrowski was the other). He started every game in his college career and helped open the way for a pair of 1,000-yard backs (Derrick Fenner in 1986 and Kennard Martin in 1988). He is one of three Tar Heels to be named first-team All-ACC in three seasons.

BRACEY WALKER, Free Safety, 1993

The first Carolina defensive back to ever receive first-team All-America honors by a major organization, Walker burst onto the scene in 1992 when he was one of the stars of the Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State. Walker blocked two punts in that game, returned one of them for a tying touchdown and set up the game-winning interception with a jarring collision. He was the Defensive MVP of the Peach Bowl. In 1993 he led the Tar Heels with 100 tackles and was the co-leading vote-getter on the All-ACC first team defense. He also blocked four more punts, two of which were recovered in the end zone by Carolina, and was named the National Special Teams Player of the Year by Sports Illustrated.

MARCUS JONES, Defensive Tackle, 1995

Jones became the first Tar Heel to earn consensus first-team All-America honors since Harris Barton in 1986 and the first defensive lineman since William Fuller in 1982-83. Jones had 25 career sacks and finished with 222 tackles. That included 46 behind the line of scrimmage. He broke Lawrence Taylor's school record for sacks and held that mark until Greg Ellis broke the record in 1997. He was named the Atlantic Coast Conference Defensive Player of the Year in 1995 and earned first-team All-ACC honors for the second straight season. He became the first Tar Heel defender to repeat all-conference selections since Tim Goad in 1986-87. As a senior he had a career-high 94 tackles, despite facing constant double- and triple-team efforts. He registered an ACC-leading 19 tackles for losses for 74 yards, seven of which were quarterback sacks. He was hampered in the first half of the season by a knee sprain. Over the last five weeks, however, he averaged 10.8 tackles per game and had 16 tackles for losses for 65 yards, including six sacks for 41 yards, and pressured the quarterback 13 times. Quite fittingly, Jones capped his career by sacking Arkansas quarterback Barry Lunney on the Razorbacks' final offensive play in Carolina's 20-10 win in the 1995 Carquest Bowl.

DRE' BLY, Cornerback, 1996-97

The first freshman in ACC history to earn consensus first-team All-America honors, Bly became just the fifth freshman in NCAA history to be named to the Associated Press All-America first team in 1996. He was also a first-team All-America selection by the Walter Camp Football Foundation, the Football Writers Association of America, The Sporting News and Athlon Sports and a finalist for the Jim Thorpe Award as the National Defensive Back of the Year. He earned Atlantic Coast Conference first-team honors and was the league's Rookie of the Year. He is the only UNC freshman to earn first-team All-America honors. He made two second-half interceptions, broke up two passes and had seven tackles against West Virginia in the 1997 Gator Bowl. Bly led the nation in interceptions and interceptions per game. He set an ACC single-season interceptions record with 11, one more than Bob Sullivan of Maryland had in 10 games in 1965. The Chesapeake, Va. native had three multi-interception games, including three against Georgia Tech, two at Florida State and two at Virginia. In 1997, Bly became the first player in UNC history to repeat consensus first-team All-America honors. He had five interceptions, including one he returned for a touchdown in a comeback win over Virginia. In 1998, he set the ACC all-time record with his 20th interception (not counting the two he had in the Gator Bowl). He was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation. Bly is the only player in ACC history to earn first-team All-America honors on three occasions.

GREG ELLIS, Defensive End, 1997

A defensive end from 1994-97, Ellis is the Tar Heels' career leader in quarterback sacks. The Wendell, N.C., native had 32.5 sacks for 253 yards in his career. He anchored a defense that was second in the country in total yards allowed in each of his final two seasons. Carolina posted a 21-3 record in that span and had consecutive Top 10 finishes in the polls. Ellis is one of only four players in Carolina football history to be named first-team All-ACC three times. He was voted by his teammates as a team captain and the best overall senior. He was the eighth selection in the first round of the 1998 NFL Draft by the Dallas Cowboys.

A first-round draft selection of the Cincinnati Bengals, Simmons had 317 tackles over his last three seasons. He was named first-team All-America as a senior by the Associated Press, Walter Camp Foundation and Football News and was a first-team All-ACC selection and second-team AP All-America as a junior. Schmitz also set the ACC career record for punting average at 44.4 yards per kick. He had at least one 50-yard punt in all 11 UNC games in 1999 and 32 kicks of over 50 yards. He had 63 punts of 40 yards or more in 72 attempts on the season. One of the top two-sport athletes in Carolina history, Peppers became the first Tar Heel defensive player to win a national college football award by winning both the Lombardi Trophy as the nation's top lineman and the Bednarik Award as the nation's top defensive player. In just three seasons, Peppers finished second at Carolina in career sacks and tackles for loss. In 2000, he led the nation with 15 sacks and established a school record with 24 tackles for losses. The following year, Peppers led a defense that finished first in the ACC and 15th in the nation in total defense. He became just the second Tar Heel and the first since Lawrence Taylor to earn unanimous All-America honors. A forward on Carolina's basketball team, Peppers averaged 7.1 points and 4.0 rebounds to help the Tar Heels claim a share of the 2001 regular-season ACC championship. NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: CHARLIE JUSTICE

Charlie Justice was more than just a great football player. He was a bonafide superstar...a hero...a legend in his own time. He had an impact on his home state that no other athlete had ever had before or few have had since.

During his four years in Chapel Hill, from 1946 to 1949, Justice helped guide he Tar Heels to three major bowls. For one week uring the 1948 season Carolina was ranked as the ation's No. 1 college football team. The Tar Heels nded that year rated third, the best finish in school istory.

It is no wonder then he was held in great esteem y everyone in the state. Certainly, the time was ight for a hero like Charlie Justice. World War II ad just ended and people wanted to turn their atten- ion to more pleasant things. They wanted someone o help them forget the trauma they had just suf- ered. So they looked for heroes and they found Charlie Justice.

In his book, They Made the Bell Tower Chime, Bob Quincy summed up Charlie Justice's college career quite succinctly. An excerpt is repeated here:

The Justice era of 1946-49 was the most exciting n Carolina's football history. Charlie was the ring- eader of a circus of thrills. He set the pace, but his backing was superb.

The Tar Heels operated from the single wing with he kinds of variations that at times resembled the Harlem Globetrotters' pre-game ball-handling act. The four seasons netted 32 victories, seven losses nd two deadlocks, plus three major bowl appear- nces.

The 170-pound Justice was one of the nation's nost sought-after players when he enrolled at Carolina. Some called him the hottest property in he history of football at that time. He had been a tandout at Asheville's Lee Edwards High, leading he Maroons to two unbeaten seasons. He was All- Southern two years at Asheville, and as a member of the Shrine Bowl football team in 1942 he scored hree touchdowns against South Carolina, a record hat still stands.

The Navy became home for Charlie during the war years, and he became a phantom on a pro-stud- led Bainbridge Navy Squad. After two years of romping for Bainbridge against opponents across he country, he was a target for pro offers from he Philadelphia Eagles and Washington.

Charlie wanted an education, and scouts stayed in pursuit. He chose Chapel Hill after seriously considering South Carolina and Duke. An off-hand remark by Snavely—"I hope he comes out for football"—became a classic understatement.

In the Virginia game his freshman year he gained 170 yards in 17 carries with runs of 18, 20, and 56 yards. He had seen little practice because of a leg injury, but the Cavaliers were certain he carried a spare appendage.

Choo Choo (he acquired the name at Bainbridge when a gob remarked, "He runs along just like a choo choo train,") was excitement. He was all eagerness on the sidelines and all business when he moved into the tailback slot. He thrived on duty, and he was a master of the quick kick, a devastating rusher, a good passer, and a fake artist who could charm a cobra.

Jack Fitch, a thick-legged back who occasionally shared duty with Justice when not playing on the wing, sized up Charlie's style by noting, "Justice has the ability to be running at full speed, stop suddenly, and then be back at full speed almost instantly. He was never regarded as fast in terms of a track man. He had a change of pace that couldn't be matched, and he knew how to follow blockers as well as any back I've ever watched."

The Snavely system called for a spinning fullbaek, fakes and counter fakes, fullback pass plays and reverses. It was a dashing brand of football made more exciting by players' ability and maturity to accept Snavely's often complicated maneuvers.

A book, "Choo Choo", documents the career of Charlie Justice. He was a folk hero and deserved the special treatment. The great Benny Goodman and the late Johnny Long recorded the Campbell-Beebe song, "All The Way Choo Choo." It sold by the thousands.

Typical of Justice was the Georgia game of 1948. He scored three times against the Bulldogs in a 21-14 triumph, the climax being an 84-yard punt return. At mid-way point that season, the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the nation.

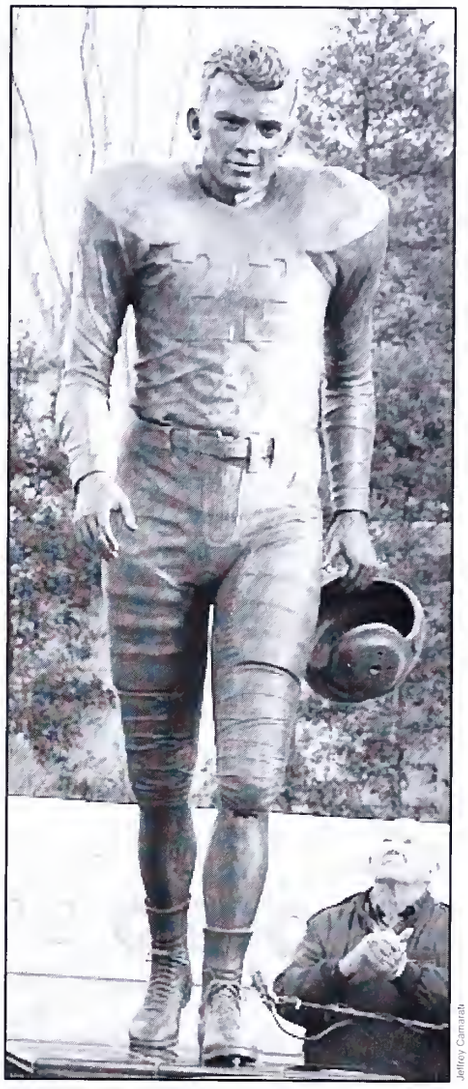

Justice erased more records than a company of auditors during his four years at UNC. He scored 234 points and passed or ran for 64 touchdowns. As a ball carrier he accumulated 2,634 yards.

His total offense record of 4,883 yards lasted for 45 years until quarterback Jason Stanicek broke the mark in 1994. Justice, graciously, was on hand to congratulate Stanicek.

Justice seemed to peak when the traditional games were being played. He led the Tar Heels to four straight wins over Duke. He was an All-America mention as a freshman and made many of the major teams as a junior and as a senior. He was runnerup for the Heisman Trophy to Doak Walker of SMU in 1949.

Charlie's finest moment came in the College All-Star Game of 1950 at Chicago's Soldier Field. He was voted the MVP of the game for good reason. The All-Stars walloped the Philadelphia Eagles, led by Steve Van Buren, 17-7. Justice gained 133 yards individually, or 48 more than the Eagles posted as a team. He set up a touchdown on a 60-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron.

Justice passed away in Cherryville on October 17, 2003. He was 79. The next day, Carolina played Arizona State at Kenan Stadium and the number 22 was painted at the 22-yard line in Justice's honor.

A statue of legendary Tar Heel Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice was dedicated last fall.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: HONORED JERSEYS

Twenty-six former University of North Carolina football players have been honored in a special fashion as their names and jersey numbers have been placed on the facade of Kenan Stadium's upper deck. The men honored include five who have already had their jersey numbers retired, Carolina's consensus first-team All-Americas and any athlete who was named Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year. Consensus All-Americas are those players who made the majority of the first-team selections in any given year. In 2003, the Athletics Council and Athletic Director Dick Baddour voted to also honor five first-team Associated Press All-Americas and two players who were among the ACC's greatest 50 football players.

GEORGE BARCLAY #99

A guard and linebacker from 1932 to 1934, whose number has been retired. He was the school's first football All-America and is a member of the state of North Carolina's Sports Hall of Fame. A guard and linebacker at 5-11, 185 pounds, Barclay was a standout for three seasons under coaches Chuck Collins and Carl Snavely. A tremendous blocker and ferocious tackler, he was captain of the 1934 team that went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as UNC's head coach from 1953 until 1955.

ANDY BERSHAK #59

A great two-way end from 1935 to 1937 who was a consensus All-America in 1937. His number also has been retired. Bershak was a brilliant defender and his team's top receiver. He also was a starter on the basketball team and an honor student. Bershak was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.

BILL SUTHERLAND #46

A blocking back on the 1946 Sugar Bowl team, whose number has been retired. He died in an auto accident after his freshman year, stunning his teammates and Coach Carl Snavely. Sutherland was named one of the Tar Heels' three captains for what would have been his sophomore season and Snavely worked to ensure that his number would be retired.

CHARLIE JUSTICE #22

One of the most famous and popular athletes in the history of the state. Justice was a consensus All-America and twice runner-up for the Heisman Trophy. During his four seasons, 1946-49, Carolina went to the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. A single-wing tailback, he still holds many of the school's total offense records. In addition, he was a sensational punter and kick returner. He was the 1948 National Player of the Year.

ART WEINER #50

An outstanding two-way end from 1946 to 1949, whose number has been retired. Weiner won All-America honors in 1948 and 1949 and was the nation's leading receiver as a senior. He teamed with the legendary Charlie Justice to form perhaps the most potent offensive duo in school history. Voted the top lineman in the Senior Bowl, Weiner is a member of the National Football Hall of Fame. He is still ninth in UNC receptions with 106.

DANNY TALBOTT #10

A star quarterback from 1964 to 1966 and the 1965 ACC Player of the Year under Head Coach Jim Hickey. Talbott led the league in total offense and scoring that season. He had 318 yards of total offense in one game against Georgia, at the time a school record.

DON McCAULEY #23

The ACC Player of the Year as a junior and senior and a consensus All-America in 1970, his final season. McCauley was the first of Carolina's NCAA-record 23 backs to rush for 1,000 yards. He twice led the ACC in rushing with 1,092 yards in 1969 and 1,720 in 1970. That latter total at the time broke O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA record. He also led the nation in all-purpose running as a senior and his 126 points that year still is the league record.

RON RUSNAK #62

An offensive guard on three bowl teams from 1970 to 1972 who won unanimous All-America honors in his senior season. At 6-2, 220 pounds, Rusnak wasn't as big as some linemen, but had great technique. He was the cornerstone of the offensive front on the 1972 team, which went 11-1. Rusnak was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. He won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1972 as the best blocker in the ACC.

KEN HUFF #68

A three-year starter at offensive guard from 1972 to 1974 and a consensus All-America as a senior. Huff was a dynamic blocker at 6-4 and 250 pounds. He was the key figure on the 1974 line which helped Carolina boast a pair of 1,000-yard backs and lead the ACC in total offense, rushing and scoring. Led by Huff, UNC accumulated 4,691 yards, at the time a school record. The Tar Heels were fifth nationally in total offense and ninth in scoring that season. Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference and was the third player selected overall in the 1974 NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

MIKE VOIGHT #44

A hard-running tailback from 1973 to 1976 who was the ACC Player of the Year as both a junior and senior. Voight is second in Carolina history in rushing with 3,971 yards and third in scoring with 254 points. He had three 1,000-yard seasons and twice was the top ground-gainer in the ACC. In 1976 he scored 110 points and ran for 1,407 yards, including 261 in his final game —a dramatic 39-38 shootout with Duke.

DEE HARDISON #71

A defensive tackle from 1974 to 1977 and a consensus All-America as a senior. Hardison was the star of one of Carolina's greatest defenses in his final year. He dominated the line of scrimmage all season long as the Tar Heels led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, giving up just 7.4 points a game. Carolina also topped the ACC in total, rushing and pass defense that year. No team would lead the league in all four again until Florida State in its 1993 national championship season.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR #98

An outside linebacker from 1977 to 1980 who is regarded as the greatest player of all time at that position. Taylor was a consensus All-America and the ACC Player of the Year in 1980. He had a Carolina-record 16 quarterback sacks that season for losses totaling 127 yards. Sparked by his play, the Tar Heels went 11-1 in 1980 and won the ACC championship.

WILLIAM FULLER #95

A defensive lineman from 1980 to 1983 who was a consensus All-America as a senior. Also honored as a first-team All-America as a junior, he is one of only six Tar Heel players to be named first-team All-America twice. Fuller, who utilized his tremendous quickness to slice through offensive lines, had 22 tackles for losses in both 1981 and 1983. He is one of only three defensive linemen ever to make the All-ACC team three times.

ETHAN HORTON #12

The Associated Press ACC Player of the Year as a senior, Horton rushed for 1,247 yards in 1984 after a 1,107-yard performance in 1983. He was named the game's co-MVP in UNC's 1981 Gator Bowl win over Arkansas and was the MVP of the 1982 Sun Bowl.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: HONORED JERSEYS

In 2003, the Athletics Council and Athletic Director Dick Baddour voted to honor five first-team Associated Press All-America and two players who were among the ACC's greatest 50 players.

KELVIN BRYANT, #44

A three-time first-team All-ACC tailback, Bryant ranks fourth at UNC with 3,267 rushing yards. He had three consecutive 1,000-yard rushing seasons from 1980-82. Despite injuries, he had 1,015 yards in seven games in 1981. He rushed for more than 100 yards in a game on 19 occasions and scored six touchdowns in a game against East Carolina in 1981. Bryant holds the NCAA record for most touchdowns scored in two and three consecutive games (11 and 15, respectively). He played eight years of professional football.

MARCUS JONES #71

A defensive end/tackle from 1992 to 1995 who was a consensus All-America and the ACC Defensive Player of the Year as a senior. Jones had 24 career quarterback sacks to break Lawrence Taylor's school record. A two-time first-team All-ACC selection, Jones led a Tar Heel defense which had the ACC's No. 1 rated total defense in 1995. He finished his career with 222 tackles, including 46 for losses. Jones helped Carolina to four straight bowl invitations and wins in the 1993 Peach and 1995 Carquest Bowls.

GREG ELLIS #87

A defensive end from 1994 to 1997, Ellis is UNC's all-time leader in quarterback sacks. The Wendell, N.C., native had 32.5 sacks for 253 yards in his career. He anchored a defense that was second in the country in total yards in each of his final two seasons. Carolina posted a 21-3 record in that span and had consecutive Top 10 finishes in the polls. Ellis is one of only four players in Carolina football history to be named first-team All-ACC three times. He was voted by his teammates as a team captain and the best overall senior. He was the eighth selection in the first round of the 1998 NFL Draft by the Dallas Cowboys.

BRIAN SIMMONS #41

An outside linebacker from 1994 to 1997, Simmons was a major contributor in Carolina's rise to the Top 10 in his final two seasons. A first-round draft selection of the Cincinnati Bengals in '97, Simmons had 317 tackles over his last three seasons. He was named first-team All-America as a senior by the Associated Press, Walter Camp Foundation and Football News and was a first-team All-ACC selection and second-team AP All-America as a junior. The New Bern, N.C., native finished his career with 36 tackles for losses and 11 sacks.

DRE' BLY #31

The Chesapeake, Va., native is the only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to earn first-team All-America honors in three different seasons. Bly became the first freshman defensive player in college football history to earn consensus first-team All-America honors in 1996. When he repeated consensus honors in 1997, he became the first two-time consensus All-America in UNC football history. In 1998, he set the all-time ACC record for interceptions with 20 and was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation. Bly led the nation as a freshman with 11 interceptions in the regular season and added two more pass thefts in the Gator Bowl win over West Virginia. Bly was named first-team All-America in 1996 by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, the Football Writers and the Walter Camp Foundation. In 1997, Bly added five more interceptions and was named All-America by the Associated Press, the Walter Camp Foundation, the Football Writers and Football News.

JULIUS PEPPERS, #49

A unanimous All-America selection in 2001, Peppers won the 2001 Lombardi Award as the nation's top lineman. He also won the Chuck Bednarik Award as the nation's top overall defensive player, earned All-America honors in 2000 and was a two-time first-team All-ACC selection. Peppers ranks second at UNC and sixth in the ACC in career sacks, despite playing just three seasons. He led the nation with 15 sacks as a junior. One of the top two-sport athletes in ACC history, Peppers was a forward on UNC's basketball team where he helped the Tar Heels advance to the 2000 Final Four and earn a share of the 2001 ACC regular-season title.

HARRIS BARTON, #67

Barton was a four-year starter for the Tar Heels, first at center and then at tackle. With so many teams playing even-man front defenses, Barton was moved to tackle in 1984 to take better advantage of his skills. He excelled at left tackle, the key blocking spot in the Carolina passing game. As a senior, he led an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels rank first in the Atlantic Coast Conference and sixth nationally in total offense. An excellent student, he was chosen for a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first-round selection in the NFL draft.

BRIAN BLADOS, #60

When two Carolina tailbacks ran for over 1,000 yards in 1983, much of that yardage came behind Blados. The 6-6, 305-pound left tackle dominated the line of scrimmage as Carolina set a school total offense record and finished seventh nationally in yardage. Blados was named on 90 of 100 ballots in voting for the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team. He was a first round choice by the Cincinnati Bengals in the NFL draft.

IRV HOLDASH, #25

While Carolina's football fortunes slipped in the years immediately following the Charlie Justice Era, Holdash still received national attention for his outstanding play. A center on offense and linebacker on defense, Holdash was a three-year regular who never missed a game during his varsity career. He perhaps sealed All-America honors in 1950 with a sensational performance in a 14-7 loss at Notre Dame. Irish quarterback Bobby Williams called him "the best I've played against."

BOB LACEY, #85

Lacey led the Atlantic Coast Conference in receiving in 1963 with 48 catches for 533 yards. His pass-catching was a key factor as Carolina rolled to a 9-2 record, defeating Air Force, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Lacey was also the team's top receiver in 1962 with 44 catches. He was the first Tar Heel player to have at least 40 catches in two seasons. His career total of 102 receptions is the 10th-best in school history.

AMOS LAWRENCE, #20

The only ACC player and one of only four players in college football history to rush for 1,000 yards in four consecutive seasons, Lawrence holds the UNC career record and is second in ACC history with 4,391 yards rushing. He rushed for more than 100 yards in a game on 25 occasions and his 286 yards rushing vs. Virginia in 1977 was NCAA freshman rushing record at the time. Bryant was named the co-MVP in the 1979 Gator Bowl and was the MVP of the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl.

PAUL SEVERIN, #87

Severin was a two-time All-America selection by the Associated Press (1939 and 1940) and made most of the all-star teams in his senior season. His career was filled with big plays—a touchdown catch to tie Tulane in 1939, two scoring catches against Penn that same season and a touchdown-saving tackle from behind of Duke's great Steve Lach in a 6-3 win over the Blue Devils in 1940.

Tommy Thigpen earned all-conference honors on three occasions at North Carolina. In 2005, he was hired as the Tar Heels' linebacker coach.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: 1,000-YARD TRADITION

When Jonathan Linton rushed for 99 yards in Carolina's 50-14 win over Duke in the 1997 regular-season finale, he became the 14th Tar Heel running back to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. Linton finished that 11-1 season with 1,004 yards. UNC players have accomplished the feat 24 times, second only to Nebraska, which has 26.

Those 24 1,000-yard seasons have been achieved in the last 34 years, beginning with Don McCauley, who had back-to-back 1,000-yard campaigns in 1969 and 1970. Linton was the fourth different Tar Heel back to gain 1,000 yards in the 1990s. Natrone Means had 1,030 yards as a sophomore in 1991 and 1,195 yards in leading UNC to nine wins in 1992. In '91, Means topped 1,000 yards on his final carry of the season, a 68-yard touchdown run versus Duke. He vaulted past 1,000 in similar fashion a year later as he reached the magical figure on a wild, 76-yard scoring scamper at Maryland.

Means entered the NFL Draft after his junior year, but Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson responded with tandem 1,000-yard seasons in 1993. That was the fourth time in UNC history that not one, but two, players topped the 1,000-yard mark.

Carolina's 24 1,000-yard seasons are 11 more than second-place Virginia (13). Virginia Tech is second with 12.

In a 12-year period from 1973 to 1984, Carolina had at least one player break the 1,000-yard mark each season. Three times in that era, the Tar Heels had two tailbacks get 1,000 yards in the same season. It has been rare in college football for a school to produce two 1,000-yard backs in one year. When it has happened it has generally been with option attacks– the veer or the wishbone. But, on all four occasions when Carolina has had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers, the players actually shared the same position– tailback in an I-formation.

Carolina and USC have each had two players rush for 1,000 yards three times– Mike Voight and Kelvin Bryant of the Tar Heels and the Trojans' Charles White and Anthony Davis.

In addition, Carolina's Amos Lawrence had an amazing four 1,000-yard seasons. Lawrence, Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett, New Mexico State's Denvis Manns, Wisconsin's Ron Dayne and Texas's Cedric Benson are the only major college players ever to hit the 1,000-yard mark four times. Lawrence rushed for a career-high 1,211 yards in 1977 as he earned ACC Rookie of the Year honors. He didn't even play in the first game that year and still managed to run for over 1,200 yards in just 10 games. He was eighth in the nation in rushing and became the first freshman to ever lead the ACC in a major offensive category.

Lawrence, from Norfolk, Va., added 1,043 yards in 1978, 1,019 yards in 1979 and 1,118 yards and a career-high 11 touchdowns in 1980.

McCauley rushed for 1,720 yards in 1970. At that time it broke O.J. Simpson's all-time NCAA single-season yardage record. McCauley's 1970 season is one of the finest in ACC history. His 1,720 yards, 19 rushing touchdowns, 10 100-yard rushing games, 2,021 all-purpose yards and 126 points all were single-season ACC records. The first UNC back to earn consensus All-America honors since Charlie Justice, McCauley capped his brilliant career with a memorable game against Duke as he rushed 47 times for 279 yards and five touchdowns in a 59-36 win over the Blue Devils.

Many of Carolina's 1,000-yard rushers went on to successful careers in the professional ranks. McCauley played with the Baltimore Colts for 11 seasons and broke many of the club's rushing and scoring records. Bryant was the USFL's Player of the Year in that league's first season. He later joined the NFL's Washington Redskins in 1986.

Means led San Diego to the Super Bowl in 1994 and was named to the Pro Bowl. He set the single-season rushing record for the Chargers in just his second season when he compiled 1,350 yards in 1994. Means was second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in rushing yards and he set a Charger record with five consecutive 100-yard games. He was the offensive spark which led Jacksonville to the AFC Championship Game in 1996 in the franchise's second year of existence.

Natrone Means rushed for over 1,000 yards in 1991 and 1992.

Several of Carolina's top performances have come against ACC rival Duke, including Kennard Martin's 291 in 1988, McCauley's 279 in 1970, Mike Voight's 261 in 1976 and Means' 256 in the season finale in 1990

Two of the top single-season efforts ever in the ACC are McCauley's 1,720 yards in 1970 and Voight's 1,407 in 1976. McCauley and Voight are the only Carolina players to be named ACC Player of the Year in two seasons. McCauley was the top ACC player in 1969 and 1970 and Voight earned that award in 1975 and 1976.

Ethan Horton is the only other UNC player to be named ACC Player of the Year in the same season he rushed for 1,000 yards.

Leon Johnson is the only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be in the top five in career all-purpose yards, top five in career touchdowns, top five in career scoring, top 10 in career rushing yards and top 10 in career receptions.

He is first in all-purpose yards in league history, second in touchdowns and eighth in scoring. He scored 50 touchdowns in his career, just one shy of the all-time ACC record held by Ted Brown of N.C. State. He scored 306 points, one of just eight players in league history to top the 300-point mark. He and Brown are the only two non-kickers to accomplish that feat.

Linton became the first player in Carolina history to rush for 100 yards and catch passes for 100 yards in the same game. He rushed for 138 yards and added 137 receiving yards in Carolina's 16-13 win at Georgia Tech. Despite suffering a knee injury days before the Gator Bowl, Linton rushed for 68 yards and caught six passes for 81 yards in UNC's 42-3 win over Virginia Tech.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: BOWL HISTORY

North Carolina has played in 25 postseason bowl games, including nine in the last 12 years heading into the 2005 season. The Tar Heels are 12-13 all-time in bowl games and are 6-3 since 1990.

UNC is second behind Clemson in bowl appearances among schools that were charter members of the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the Tar Heels have the most appearances of any charter school since the league was formed in 1953.

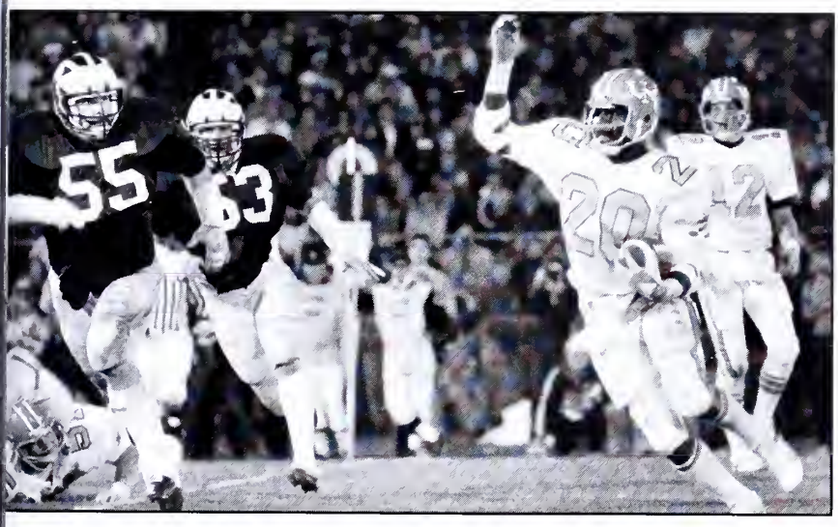

Beginning with the Sugar Bowl in 1947, Carolina has played in 11 different bowl games. The Tar Heels are 5-2 in the Gator Bowl, 2-2 in the Sun, 1-0 in the Bluebonnet, 1-0 in the Carquest, 1-0 in the Continental Tire, 2-3 in the Peach, 0-1 in the Cotton, 0-1 in the Liberty, 0-1 in the Aloha and 0-2 in the Sugar.

A description of every Carolina bowl game can be found on the next 12 pages.

1947 SUGAR BOWL

New Orleans, La.
Georgia 20, Carolina 10
January 1, 1947

The 1947 Sugar Bowl, which matched Carolina against Georgia, is one of the most famous Tar Heel games of the Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice years and produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive right end Joe Tereshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass at the Georgia 24-yard line. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced 52 yards to the Carolina 14.

The Tar Heels argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score the tying touchdown on a quarterback sneak by Johnny Rauch.

Carolina's lone touchdown came on a Walt Pupa two-yard run following an interception by Tar Heel guard Bob Mitten.

The Tar Heels' last lead at 10-7 came on a Bob Cox field goal.

The Georgia game-winner came on a 67-yard touchdown pass from Trippi to Dan Edwards less than three minutes after the UNC field goal.

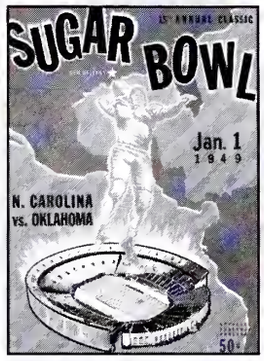

The Dawgs' Charley Trippi rushed for 77 yards, while Justice carried 18 times for 37 yards.

1949 SUGAR BOWL

New Orleans, La.
Oklahoma 14, Carolina 6
January 1, 1949

The Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl in 1949 and were defeated 14-6 by the University of Oklahoma, representing the Big Seven Conference. A record crowd of 85,000 turned out to see the Charlie Justice-led Tar Heels battle Bud Wilkinson's Sooners.

Carolina threatened early, advancing via a Justice to Art Weiner 23-yard pass play to the OU 15. Justice's next pass, however, was intercepted by linebacker Myrle Greathouse who rumbled 59 yards to the Carolina 13. Sooners' quarterback Jack Mitchell scored the first points of the day on a two-yard run.

The Heels capitalized on an OU fumble later in the first quarter and Justice marched the team down to the two, from where Hosea Rodgers scored. The conversion was wide right.

Carolina advanced to the OU eight late in the first half, but could not score.

The Sooners regained the lead for good in the third quarter. Quarterback Darrell Royal connected for 37 yards with Frankie Anderson and two plays later, Lindell Pearson ran it in from eight yards out.

Justice was brilliant, rushing for 84 yards and passing for another 57.

1950 COTTON BOWL

Dallas, Texas
Rice 27, Carolina 13
January 1, 1950

Charlie Justice had another great day in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but it just wasn't enough as the Tar Heels fell to fifth-ranked Rice, 27-13. The Owls had a 9-1-0 record, while Carolina came in at 7-3 and was ranked 16th.

Rice and Carolina played to a scoreless draw in the opening quarter, but Rice opened the scoring in the second quarter when quarterback Tobin Rote hooked up with Billy Burkhalter for a 44-yard touchdown. Bobby Lantrip's three-yard run built a 14-0 halftime lead, and the Owls kept right on rolling i n the third quarter.

On its second possession of the second half, Rice traveled 77 yards in six plays, capped by Rote's 17-yard scoring pass to "Froggie" Williams. Burkhalter made it 27-0 with a 12-yard fourth quarter score.

The Tar Heels got two touchdowns in the final eight minutes. Justice hit Paul Rizzo for a two-yard touchdown pass and then Rizzo ran it in from two yards.

Justice managed 59 yards rushing and another 63 in the air, while Art Weiner led the Tar Heels with five receptions for 41 yards. Billy Hayes topped the UNC rushing attack with 107 yards on 19 carries.

The 1950 Cotton Bowl marked the end of the "Choo-Choo" Justice era that began in 1946. The Tar Heels went 32-9-2 in that time and played in three major bowl games.

1963 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 35, Air Force 0
December 28, 1963

It had been 13 years since Charlie Justice had led Carolina to the 1950 Cotton Bowl, so when the Tar Heels got a chance to play in the 1963 Gator Bowl, they made the most of it. The Tar Heels walloped the Air Force, 35-0.

Ken Willard was the hero of the day. He ran for 94 yards on 18 carries and scored the first touchdown which keyed the runaway victory. When Willard wasn't running in this rout, he did his share of the offensive blocking.

Joe Robinson scored on a five-yard pass and also caught a two-yard conversion to give the Tar Heels a 20-0 lead at intermission.

Coach Jim Hickey's Tar Heels had 23 first downs to the Academy's 14, and piled up 370 yards in total offense compared to 260 for the Falcons.

Gary Black completed all six of his passes for 71 yards and one touchdown and he rushed for another score. Junior Edge was good on five of his nine throws for 42 yards.

Carolina finished the season 9-2, its best record in Hickey's eight years at the helm.

1970 PEACH BOWL

Atlanta, Ga.
Arizona State 48, Carolina 26
December 30, 1970

The Tar Heels exploded for 26 second quarter points but couldn't hold off Arizona State in the final two quarters as the Sun Devils rallied for an exciting 48-26 victory before 52,126 fans at Grant Field.

Carolina spotted unbeaten ASU 14 points on a pair of touchdowns runs, from eight and 33 yards, by Bob Thomas.

Don McCauley got the Tar Heels on the scoreboard with a one-yard plunge set up by a long pass from Paul Miller to Ricky Lanier. ASU scored on its next series, though, on a 67-yard TD catch by J.D. Hill.

Carolina then scored the final three touchdowns of the first half to go into the intermission with a 26-21 lead. First, Miller passed 37 yards for a score to Tony Blanchard. Then McCauley rushed in from 17 yards out. And finally, the All-America McCauley scored again from four yards.

Arizona State dominated a second half which was played in a heavy Atlanta snowstorm and without Miller, who left with an injury.

Monroe Ely scored twice and Thomas reached the end zone for the third time in the Sun Devils' 27-point second half.

In his final game as a Tar Heel, McCauley gained 143 yards on 36 carries.

1971 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Georgia 7, Carolina 3
December 31, 1971

For the first time since 1950, the Tar Heels were playing in a bowl game for the second consecutive season. This time, the Tar Heels would fall, 7-3, to the Georgia Bulldogs.

The game produced a bowl first — brothers coaching against each other. Bill Dooley led the Tar Heels and older brother Vince coached the Dawgs.

The game was a defensive struggle with all the points coming in the third quarter.

In the opening half, Carolina had the best chance as linebacker Jimmy Webster, voted the Tar Heels' MVP this day, blocked a punt out of bounds at the Georgia 24. A fumble, though, denied Carolina any points.

A pair of long runs by Lewis Jolley brought the Tar Heels down to the Georgia 16 on UNC's first possession of the second half. But a procedure penalty forced the Heels to settle for a 35-yard field goal by Ken Craven.

A 31-yard pass play from Andy Johnson to Roy Hunnicutt set up the Georgia touchdown. Jimmy Poulos, on the very next play following Hunnicutt's catch, took it in for a score from 25 yards. Poulos rushed for 161 yards on the afternoon and was named the Georgia MVP.

1972 SUN BOWL
El Paso, Texas
Carolina 32, Texas Tech 28
December 30, 1972

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in the 1972 Sun Bowl by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic brought the Tar Heels from behind with a late scoring drive which he capped by tossing a 13-yard touchdown pass to wingback Ted Leverenz.

That play, with a minute to go in the game, gave UNC a 30-28 lead. Carolina added two points moments later as Ronnie Robinson sacked quarterback Joe Barnes in the end zone.

The Tar Heels led 9-0 in the second quarter on a field goal by Ellis Alexander and touchdown run by Dick Oliver. The Red Raiders rallied, however, for the next 21 points and a 21-9 lead. Vidnovic hit Leverenz for a 62-yard touchdown and Billy Hite carried it in from three yards to reestablish a 24-21 Carolina lead. Tech gained the advantage, 28-24, with 7:41 to play in the game.

Vidnovic completed 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. Ike Oglesby rushed for 71 yards and Sammy Johnson added 52.

The Red Raiders had a touchdown called back in the second quarter. All-America guard Donald Rives ran a blocked punt back for an apparent score, but Tech was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct and the points were nullified.

1974 SUN BOWL

Mississippi State 26, Carolina 24
December 28, 1974

Despite mounting 402 yards in total offense, the Tar Heels dropped a 26-24 decision to Mississippi State in a record-setting Sun Bowl.

Terry Vitrano's two-yard touchdown with 3:41 remaining was the game-winner. That capped a 16-play, 80-yard drive which lasted nearly seven minutes.

Carolina had taken a 24-20 lead with 10:26 to play on an Ellis Alexander field goal.

The Bulldogs totaled a Sun Bowl record 499 yards in total offense — 455 of those yards came on the ground via the veer offense. Walter Packer rushed for 189 yards, Vitrano added 164 and quarterback Rockey Felker gained another 69.

The Tar Heels also got big ground gains from Mike Voight and James Betterson. Voight picked up 90 yards on 19 carries and Betterson chipped in with 84 on 17 rushes. But Voight was stopped a yard shy of a first down on Carolina's last offensive play of the game. Chris Kupec, who led the nation in pass completion percentage, connected with Jimmy Jerome for 29 yards and a touchdown.

1976 PEACH BOWL

Atlanta, Ga.
Kentucky 21, Carolina 0
December 31, 1976

Playing without an injured Mike Voight, the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, the Tar Heels managed just five first downs and 108 yards total offense in a 21-0 loss to Kentucky.

Voight, who had rushed for 1,407 yards, injured his ankle in practice two days before the game when he stepped in a hole going out on a pass play. Ironically, Voight had caught just four passes the entire season.

The teams battled to a tie at the half, but Carolina thought it had put up points in the first quarter. On the Tar Heels' opening drive, Matt Kupec hit split end Walker Lee with a 50-yard touchdown pass, but officials ruled the Tar Heels offside and the play came back.

Early in the third quarter, Kentucky defensive end Bud Diehl knocked the ball from Kupec's grasp and the 'Cats recovered at the UNC 21. That set up the first of three rushing touchdowns by fullback Rod Stewart.

Stewart, who finished with 104 yards and the game's MVP trophy, added fourth quarter scores from 13 and three yards.

Subbing for Voight, freshman Doug Paschal led the Tar Heels with 41 yards rushing.

1977 LIBERTY BOWL

Memphis, Tenn.
Nebraska 21, Carolina 17
December 19, 1977

Thirteenth-ranked Nebraska scored two fourth quarter touchdowns and rallied for a 21-17 victory over 13th-rated North Carolina.

Reserve quarterback Randy Garcia came off the Cornhuskers' bench in the final period to toss a pair of touchdown passes, including a 33-yard game-winner to Tim Smith with 3:16 left in the game. That came six plays after Nebraska recovered a fumble at the UNC 43.

Tar Heel quarterback Matt Kupec, voted the game's Most Valuable Player despite the loss, had led the Tar Heels to a 17-7 lead in the third quarter. Kupec, who connected on seven of his 11 passes, threw touchdown passes to Brooks Williams and Bob Loomis. Tom Biddle added Carolina's final points with 4:17 left in the third on a Liberty Bowl record 47-yard field goal.

Carolina led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, allowing just 7.4 points per game through the regular season. Nebraska was the only team to score more than 14 points against UNC all season.

Bill Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual position of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech.

1979 GATOR BOWL
Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 17, Michigan 15
December 28, 1979

Matt Kupec completed 18 of 28 passes for 161 yards and one touchdown and Amos Lawrence rushed for 118 yards to lead North Carolina to a 17-15 win over Michigan.

Trailing 9-0, the Tar Heels rallied for the next 17 points and then held off a Michigan threat late in the game to post the first of Dick Crum's four consecutive bowl wins.

Carolina had two chances early on to score first, but high winds knocked down a pair of Jeff Hayes field goal attempts. Michigan did score first following a turnover and added a 53-yard touchdown reception by Anthony Carter to move ahead 9-0.

Doug Paschal put the Heels on the board with a two-yard touchdown. Early in the third, Kupec engineered a 16-play, 97-yard touchdown drive which culminated in a 12-yard pass to Phil Farris. Hayes added a 32-yard field goal in the fourth for a 17-9 UNC lead.

Michigan, thwarted once already in the fourth when Lawrence Taylor scooped up a loose ball, did manage another Carter touchdown with 1:28 left, but the two-point conversion pass to Carter fell short.

Kupec and Lawrence were named co-Most Valuable Players.

December 31, 1980

Amos Lawrence rushed for 104 yards and one touchdown and the Tar Heel defense allowed just two first downs and 36 total yards in the second half as Carolina played error-free football to defeat Texas, 16-7, in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Lawrence, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, scampered 59 yards for a touchdown on the Tar Heels' fourth play from scrimmage for a 7-0 lead. Following a Texas touchdown in the second quarter by Mike Luck, Carolina regained the advantage for good on a one-yard run by Kelvin Bryant.

Jeff Hayes converted a fumbled punt snap by the Longhorns into a 31-yard field goal with 2:03 to play in the third quarter.

The defense, which allowed 224 yards and 11 Texas first downs in the opening half, dominated the second 30 minutes. UNC safety Steve Streater was named the defensive MVP as he had an interception, recovered a fumble and also boomed a 63-yard punt, longest in Bluebonnet Bowl history.

Carolina's 11-1 record matched the best season in UNC history. The Tar Heels finished ranked eighth by the Associated Press and ninth by UPI.

1981 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 31, Arkansas 27
December 28, 1981

Kelvin Bryant rushed for 148 yards and Ethan Horton added 144 to lead the Tar Heels to a 31-27 victory over Arkansas in the Gator Bowl.

Bryant and Horton shared Most Valuable Player honors, but it was a key defensive stop by seldom-used freshman Ronnie Snipes which saved the night for Carolina.

After building a 31-10 lead midway through the fourth quarter, Carolina watched as Arkansas rallied for two touchdowns and had the ball again inside Tar Heel territory with less than a minute to play. But on third down, Snipes, who had played just two previous downs in the contest, sacked quarterback Brad Taylor for a 17-yard loss.

The game was deadlocked at 10-10 at the half, but Carolina came right out to open the third quarter and put together a 13-play, 85-yard drive which was capped by Horton's one-yard scoring run.

UNC quarterback Rod Elkins scored on a one-yard sneak on the Tar Heels' next drive. He was set up by a 21-yard run by Horton and a 13-yard scamper by Bryant.

Horton then churned out 42 yards on six plays and went in from four yards out to give the Heels a 31-10 lead with 7:29 to play in the game.

The Razorbacks scored with 5:05 to play, recovered an onside kick and scored again with 2:44 left. UNC punter Jeff Hayes took an intentional safety with 1:44 to play. That gave the ball back to Arkansas and set up Snipes' defensive gem.

1982 SUN BOWL

El Paso, Texas
Carolina 26, Texas 10
December 25, 1982

North Carolina scored the final 23 points of the game in the final quarter and held seventh-ranked Texas to 48 total yards in the second half as the Tar Heels became the first ACC team to win four consecutive bowl games.

Ethan Horton was the offensive star of the game, rushing for 119 yards in the second half as Carolina won 26-10. He replaced injured starter Kelvin Bryant, who totaled 45 yards before leaving the game with an injured ankle.

Trailing 10-3 after three quarters, the Tar Heels vaulted into the lead via three consecutive field goals. Sophomore walk-on Rob Rogers, who had connected from 53 yards in the second quarter, hit a 47-yard field goal with 14:51 to play to narrow the Texas lead to 10-6. Brooks Barwick was then successful from 24 and 42 yards, the latter putting the Heels into the lead at 12-10 with 4:56 left.

Horton tacked on a three-yard touchdown with 2:17 remaining and Mike Wilcher fell on a loose ball in the end zone for another touchdown with 1:35 to play.

The defensive series of the game came five minutes into the third quarter with Texas leading 10-3 and with the ball, third-and-goal at the Carolina one. Two times, Texas fullback Ervin Davis tried to find the end zone, but twice he was hurled back. First, it was Wilcher who made the hit and then on 4th-and-goal, Greg Poole made the stop which changed the game.

The Christmas Day affair was played with intermittent snow flurries and a wind-chill reading that hovered around 12 degrees.

1983 PEACH BOWL
Atlanta, Ga.
Florida State 28, Carolina 3
December 30, 1983

Florida State scored the first two times it had the ball and penalties and turnovers cost the Tar Heels dearly, as the Seminoles whipped Carolina 28-3 in a miserably cold and half-empty Peach Bowl.

Played before only 25,648 fans in low-20 degree temperatures, the Peach Bowl loss snapped the Tar Heels' consecutive bowl- game winning streak at four.

The Seminoles held the Tar Heels' running ame to just 32 yards and three first downs. One thousand-yard rushers Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony were held to 30 and 27 yards, respectively.

Florida State quarterback Eric Thomas, making his first start, connected with Veegie Thompson on touchdown passes on the 'Noles first two series.

Midway through the second quarter, the Tar Heels fumbled away a punt at heir own 16 and FSU converted via a 1-yard touchdown run.

Carolina put up its only points of the day on Brooks Barwick's 36-yard field oal.

The loss was the fourth in the final five games of the season and ended a sea- on in which Carolina had been ranked third in the nation.

1986 ALOHA BOWL
Honolulu, Hawaii
Arizona 30, Carolina 21
December 27, 1986

Arizona converted four North Carolina fumbles into 20 points and then held off a furious Tar Heel rally in the fourth quarter to win the 1986 Aloha Bowl, 30-21.

Carolina dug itself a 30-0 hole and did not put points on the board until freshman tailback Torin Dorn broke a 58-yard touchdown run with 2:19 left in the third quarter.

The Tar Heels fumbled five times in the first three periods and the Wildcats turned them into two touchdowns and two field goals.

Following Dorn's electrifying run, the Tar Heels quickly moved back within striking distance with two more touchdowns in the next seven minutes.

Mark Maye hit Randy Marriott with a six-yard touchdown pass after a Norris Davis interception and then followed a Davis punt block with a two-yard scoring run of his own to narrow the margin to 30-21 with 9:10 to play.

That, however, was as close as Carolina could challenge. A couple of dropped passes thwarted two more Carolina drives.

Dorn was the game's leading ground-gainer, rushing for 101 yards on only seven carries. Maye completed 17 of 34 passes for 171 yards; he hooked up with Eric Starr a game-high seven times for 53 yards.

1993 PEACH BOWL

Atlanta, Ga.
Carolina 21, Mississippi State 17
January 2, 1993

Defensive MVP Bracey Walker blocked consecutive third-quarter punts, returning one of them for the tying touchdown, and forced a fourth quarter interception which Cliff Baskerville returned 44 yards for a touchdown to lead Carolina to a 21-17 Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State.

Walker's heroics capped a fierce second-half comeback in which the Tar Heels came from 14 points behind to score three times, although just once on an offensive possession.

MSU took a two-touchdown lead in the first quarter and had two more scores in the second quarter called back due to holding penalties.

Carolina regrouped at halftime, however, and cut the lead to 14-7 just six plays into the third quarter. Mike Thomas connected with Bucky Brooks for a 53-yard completion on the fourth play of the half and Natrone Means scored from a yard out two snaps later.

Means led the Tar Heel offense with 128 yards rushing and was named the game's Offensive MVP.

Later in the third quarter, Walker blocked a punt but Carolina's field goal try was unsuccessful. On the next series UNC again forced the Bulldogs to punt and this time Walker blocked the kick, picked up the loose ball and raced 24 yards untouched for the tying score.

Early in the final quarter Walker forced a midair loose ball with a jarring hit and Baskerville plucked the ball out of the air and sprinted 44 yards down the left sideline for what proved to be the winning score.

Carolina held off two late MSU rallies to hang on to the lead. Linebacker Kerry Mock's interception stopped one threat at the UNC 17 with 2:32 to play and a fourth-down incompletion with just six seconds left halted the Bulldogs at the Carolina 21-yard line.

1993 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.

December 31, 1993

Quarterback Brian Burgdorf threw for two touchdowns and ran for another to lead 18th-ranked and defending national champion Alabama to a 24-10 victory over 11th-ranked Carolina in Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

Corey Holliday caught nine passes for 125 yards and was UNC's MVP.

After a scoreless first period, Alabama took the lead on a 22-yard field goal by Michael Proctor. Carolina quarterback Jason Stanicek then led a seven-play, 80-yard touchdown drive in just 1:36 to take the lead, 7-3, on the ensuing possession. Stanicek hit Holliday with completions of 29 and 22 yards and executed one of his trademark option pitches to freshman tailback Leon Johnson for an 18-yard gain. William Henderson plunged in from a yard out for the lead.

The Crimson Tide went up 10-7 Burgdorf scored from 33 yards out on a quarterback draw.

With 1:44 left before intermission, Stanicek led what would be the final Tar Heel scoring drive. He hit Holliday with passes of 12 and nine yards and Curtis Johnson ran twice for 20 yards before the drive stalled and Tripp Pignetti hit a 23-yard field goal to tie the game at 10.

The Alabama defense was the key to the game, holding UNC to a season-low 42 net yards rushing on 25 carries. Carolina could only muster 40 total yards and four first downs in the second half.

1994 SUN BOWL

December 30, 1994

Priest Holmes rushed for 161 yards and four touchdowns, including the game-winner with 1:17 to play, to lead Texas to a 35-31 win over the Tar Heels before a Sun Bowl record crowd of 50,612.

Holmes' four-touchdown performance wrestled away MVP honors from UNC quarterback Mike Thomas, who had the finest passing day of his career. Thomas completed 23 of 39 passes for 298 yards and two touchdowns. He set UNC bowl game records for completions and yards and tied the mark with two scoring tosses. He was 15 for 19 in the first half and completed 20 of 29 before a final desperation drive.

Wide receivers Marcus Wall and Octavus Barnes were two more standouts for the Tar Heels. Wall was selected the game's Most Valuable Special Teams Player. He gave the Tar Heels a 24-21 lead in the fourth quarter when he returned a punt 82 yards for a touchdown.

Barnes set UNC bowl game records for most catches and yards with nine receptions for 165 yards and one score. The 165 yards were also the most in Sun Bowl history.

With Carolina up, 31-21, Texas quickly went on a 68-yard touchdown drive in only 2:38. On the next series, Texas took over at its own 32 and drove 68 yards in 10 plays for the winning score. Holmes carried the last three plays on the drive for nine, two and finally the five yard touchdown run.

1995 CARQUEST BOWL
Miami, Fla.
Carolina 20, Arkansas 10
December 30, 1995

Leon Johnson rushed for a Carolina bowl record 195 yards and Mike Thomas threw for two scores as the Tar Heels knocked off Arkansas, 20-10, in the Carquest Bowl.

Johnson's 195-yard effort topped the previous high of 148 yards by Kelvin Bryant, also against Arkansas, in the 1981 Gator Bowl. Johnson had just 23 yards on eight carries in the first half, but exploded for 172 yards in the second half.

All-America tackle Marcus Jones capped his career with four tackles for losses, including a quarterback sack on Arkansas' last play from scrimmage - his final collegiate play.

Trailing by a touchdown the Tar Heels quickly moved into position to tie the game. On third-and-long quarterback Mike Thomas rolled right, threw back across the field to Ashford, who sprinted around the left flank into the end zone.

The Razorbacks managed to take a 10-7 lead in the third quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Latourette. Two series later Carolina went into the lead for good. On third-and-eight from the 28, Thomas ran the option around the right corner, turned upfield and then pitched the ball to Johnson, who was trailing the play perfectly. Johnson ran untouched for a 28-yard, go-ahead score.

1997 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 20, West Virginia 13
January 1, 1997

Oscar Davenport, starting in place of injured first-team all-conference quarterback Chris Keldorf, completed 14 of 26 passes for 175 yards and one touchdown as Carolina defeated West Virginia 20-13 in the 52nd annual Toyota Gator Bowl. Davenport, who also rushed for one touchdown, was named the game's MVP.

Carolina broke the scoring drought early in the second quarter when Davenport found Octavus Barnes in the back corner of the end zone on an 18-yard pass. As time was running down in the first half, Davenport and Leon Johnson led the Tar Heels on a five-play touchdown drive. Johnson caught a pass for 13 yards and rushed twice for 19 yards in the drive. Davenport scored on a 5-yard option keeper for a 17-3 lead.

West Virginia opened the second-half scoring with a 34-yard touchdown pass to close within seven points. A fumble recovery by Greg Williams ended one WVU threat, but West Virginia had one last chance to tie the game late in the fourth quarter. Carolina stopped the Mountaineers on 4th-and-6 at the UNC 24 with just under two minutes remaining.

Dre' Bly, Carolina's consensus first-team All-America, picked off two second-half passes. Carolina's defense forced four West Virginia turnovers; the Mountaineers had 10 in 11 regular-season games.

1998 GATOR BOWL

Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 42, Virginia Tech 3
January 1, 1998

Chris Keldorf threw for 290 yards and three scores and Carolina's defense and special teams added touchdowns as the Tar Heels pounded Virginia Tech, 42-3, in the Toyota Gator Bowl.

The victory, UNC's most lopsided in a bowl game, secured a No. 4 final ranking in the coaches' poll for the 11-1 Tar Heels. The game was Carl Torbush's first as Carolina's head coach. Torbush, UNC's defensive coordinator the past 10 years, was elevated to head coach on December 8th after Mack Brown accepted the same position at the University of Texas.

Keldorf completed 17 of 28 passes, including touchdown throws of 62 and 14 yards to wide receiver Octavus Barnes and four yards to fullback Jamie Carrick.

Carolina amassed 427 total yards and held the Hokies to just 185 yards. Leading 3-0, Keldorf hit Barnes with a 62-yard bomb down the left sideline for a 10-0 lead. Later in the first quarter, Carolina forced Virginia Tech to punt deep in Hokie territory. Quinton Savage blocked the punt and Dre' Bly scooped it up at the 6-yard line and scored for a 16-0 UNC advantage.

One minute and 10 seconds after Bly's touchdown, Ellis fell on a loose ball in the Tech end zone for another touchdown. Carolina scored 16 first-quarter points in the entire regular season, but scored 16 in the first quarter of the Gator Bowl and six more just seven seconds into the second quarter.

The 42 points were the most in UNC postseason history and the three touchdown passes by Keldorf set a UNC bowl game record. Barnes concluded his career with 16 receptions and four touchdowns in four postseason games.

1998 LAS VEGAS BOWL

Las Vegas, Nev.
Carolina 20, San Diego State 13
December 19, 1998

Ronald Curry rushed for a season-high 93 yards and a touchdown, punter Brian Schmitz was outstanding despite windy conditions and the Tar Heel defense did not allow a TD in the last 59 minutes as Carolina defeated San Diego State, 20-13.

Curry, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, gave Carolina the lead for good with a 48-yard touchdown run on the final play of the opening quarter. He rushed for 93 yards on 10 carries and accounted for 96 of Carolina's 196 total offense yards, despite playing just four series.

The game was played winds gusting to 47 miles per hour. Passing was almost impossible. In fact, Carolina won the game despite completing just four passes for 33 yards.

Schmitz averaged 44.0 yards on five punts and pinned the Aztecs inside their own 11-yard line four times. Late in the second quarter, Schmitz unloaded a 66-yard punt into the wind.

San Diego State took an early 7-0 lead in the first minute of the game before the Tar Heels scored 20 unanswered points to close the first half. After two second-half field goals cut it to 20-13, the Aztecs had one final chance to tie the game. With just over a minute left, Dre' Bly broke up a pass in the end zone. On the following play, Brandon Spoon tipped Brian Russell's pass in the air and the ball was intercepted at the goal line by Keith Newman with 59 seconds remaining.

2001 PEACH BOWL

Atlanta, Ga.
Carolina 16, Auburn 10
December 31, 2001

Willie Parker rushed for 131 yards and Ryan Sims led a spirited defensive effort as North Carolina won its fifth consecutive postseason bowl appearance with a 16-10 victory over Auburn in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The win capped off the greatest turnaround in school history as Carolina completed the season by winning eight of its last 10 games after starting 0-3.

Parker, who started his first game since September, was spectacular, scoring on a 10-yard run in the first quarter and setting up a second-quarter field goal with a 43-yard dash. Parker had the fifth-best rushing day in UNC bowl history and it was the 11th time a Tar Heel had rushed for more than 100 yards in a bowl game.

Parker's touchdown was set up by Carolina's defense, which allowed just 32 total rushing yards and shutout Auburn for three quarters. In the first quarter, cornerback Michael Waddell forced a fumble at the Auburn 26-yard line that defensive end Joey Evans picked up and rumbled to the Auburn 8-yard line. Two plays later, Parker's touchdown gave Carolina a 7-0 lead.

Curry, who was named the game's Offensive MVP, scored on an incredible touchdown run in the third quarter to give Carolina a 16-0 advantage.

Defensively, Carolina came up with several big plays throughout the game and held off a furious Auburn comeback in the fourth quarter. Sims, the Defensive MVP, had six tackles, including two sacks and was constantly disrupting the Auburn backfield.

After scoring twice in the fourth quarter, Auburn attempted an onside kick, but UNC's Richard Moore covered the ball and the Tar Heels ran out the clock.

MEDIA INFORMATION

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: MEDIA INFORMATION

ATHLETIC COMMUNICATIONS

Football media services are coordinated by Director of Football Communications Kevin Best and Assistant Athletic Communications Director John Martin. Please direct interview, information and photo requests to Best or Martin.

Best and Martin's office are located on the second floor of the Kenan Football Center. The Athletic Communications Office is located on the main level of the Dean E. Smith Center, less than one mile from Kenan Stadium. The office is on Level 2 directly across from the men's basketball office.

CREDENTIALS

Requests for working press credentials at Carolina home football games should be made in writing on station/newspaper/magazine letterhead to Associate A.D. for Communications Steve Kirschner. The mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515. Requests may be sent via fax (919-962-0612) or e-mail (skirschner@uncaa.unc.edu), but all requests should be sent so they reach the Athletic Communications Office at least one week prior to the game.

Because of the demand for credentials, media agencies that cover Carolina and the visiting school on a regular basis will receive top priority.

The University does not discriminate based on age, gender, orientation, race or religion.

Credentials will be mailed or they may be picked up before 5 p.m. on Friday at the Athletic Communications Office. Those credentials not picked up by 5 p.m. on Friday will be left for Saturday pickup at Kenan Stadium Will Call at Gate 6 directly beneath the Press Box. Will Call opens two hours prior to kickoff.

SIDELINE POLICY

Photographers will not be allowed on the sidelines without a UNC-issued photographer's vest. Vests will be distributed in the press box beginning 90 minutes prior to kickoff. Each photographer must sign in for his/her own vest. Under NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference guidelines, photographers are not allowed between the 25-yard lines and must remain outside the restraining lines surrounding the field. Credential holders not working will be asked to leave the sidelines. A representative of the Athletic Communications Office will be on the field to handle any questions and serve as field liaison to press box officials. We ask, for the safety of others, that equipment not be left unattended on the sidelines. If you are shooting with a tripod, please keep a safe distance from the playing field.

GAME DAY PARKING

Requests for parking passes should be made well in advance to Steve Kirschner. Single-game parking passes will be mailed.

Parking is located either in the new Ramshead Deck on Ridge Road or the East Drive Deck at the corner of East and Manning Drive.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

Following a brief cooling-off period, requested UNC players will head directly to the interview area in the player's lounge on the second floor of Kenan Football Center for a 20-25 minute interview period. The Tar Heels' locker room is closed.

Representatives from the Communications Office will take player requests from the media during the fourth quarter. Local television media who are on the field during the game should make player requests prior to the end of the game to the on-field Communications representative.

Head coach John Bunting will conduct a short interview with Woody Durham for the Tar Heel Sports Network's live broadcast while the players are in the interview area. Bunting will begin his postgame press conference in the Hall of Honor, approximately 15 minutes after the players have begun their interview period.

After night games, Bunting and the players will be available simultaneously due to deadline demands. Quotes will be gathered from both Bunting and several players for distribution in the press box. Away game procedures will vary, depending on available facilities.

Please note: Bunting is contractually obligated to do a short postgame interview with the Tar Heel Sports Radio Network. After night games, great care will be taken to get Bunting to the general media as quickly as possible. We understand everyone has deadline pressures after late games and will do our best to provide access to Bunting as quickly as possible.

PHONES

The Department of Athletics furnishes approximately 12 telephones along press row for media to file stories. All long distance calls must be by credit card, collect or billed to a third number. Anyone desiring a private phone should contact Bell South at least two weeks prior to the game. If you are calling from within the 919 area code, dial 780-2800. However, if you are calling from outside the 919 area code, then you must dial 1-800-919-2800.

Phone lines and ethernet access are available for use by photographers only in the main press area. UNC photographer Jeffrey Camarati coordinates the photographer's work area.

Note: The on-campus building number for the press box at Kenan Stadium, for which you will be asked, is #519. List Steve Kirschner as the stadium contact for placing the phone.

Fax machines are available for media use. Media should make a representative of the Athletic Communications Office aware of their fax needs prior to the end of the game.

INTERNET AVAILABILITY

The Kenan Stadium press box is wireless. Media with wireless capability should be able to connect to the internet by simply turning on their computers in the press box. Media also have access to the internet via ethernet jacks installed throughout the press box at Kenan Stadium. Please see a representative of the Athletic Communications Office for assistance in locating the ethernet jacks on game days.

INTERVIEWS WITH HEAD COACH JOHN BUNTING

John Bunting will meet with the media at 11 a.m. each Tuesday prior to a game. Bunting will meet with the print media for approximately 30-40 minutes and then meet with the TV media for approximately 15 minutes. Out-of-town media may access the print portion of the press conference by phone. You can listen and ask questions, time permitting, by using this service. Contact Kevin Best for the phone number.

Bunting is also available on the weekly ACC Teleconference on Wednesdays at 11:30 a.m. Contact

Pace is also the author a book published in 2001 entitled, "Born and Bred: John Bunting Takes Dead Aim On His Dream Job At Carolina," and serves as the sideline reporter on the Tar Heel Sports Network.

Brian Morrison at the ACC or Best for the phone number. Bunting will also be available via teleconference for 15 minutes on Sundays (day after games only) at 5 p.m. Contact Best for the number.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS

All player interviews should be arranged through Kevin Best or John Martin. Players have been instructed not to grant an interview request unless they have been set up in this manner. The interviews will generally be conducted at the conclusion of practice at the practice field or Football Center. All interviews are to be conducted on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

Telephone interviews are conducted at the player's convenience. Usually they are handled by players returning calls immediately after practice (between approximately 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.). No home numbers for players will be given out and players have been told not to accept calls from anyone asking football-related questions.

Please do not show up and wait for players unannounced on campus, at players' housing or the Football Center. The players have been instructed to politely decline the request and refer the person to the Communications Office.

Players may do taped radio interviews but will not be available for live call-in radio shows.

Note: Due to the overwhelming number of all-sports radio talk stations, players will generally not be available to appear on these shows. Hometown stations, stations in that week's opponent's market or national shows may be accommodated.

PRACTICE COVERAGE

Subject to change, Carolina will practice each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday beginning at 4 p.m. on the practice fields located directly across the street from the baseball stadium and adjacent to the UNC School of Law. Please wait at the tunnel (field side) leading into the lockerroom at the Kenan Football Center. Players and coaches are available to meet with the media after practice on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: MEDIA INFORMATION

Learfield Communications begins its fifth full year as the official media rights holder for the University of North Carolina athletic teams, primarily football and basketball.

Based in Jefferson City, Missouri, Learfield purchased Tar Heel Sports Marketing in October 1999, adding the UNC property to 14 other schools under the Learfield umbrella. Among those for which Learfield also owns the rights are Alabama, Clemson, Colorado, Oklahoma, Indiana, Miami (Fla.), Missouri, South Carolina and Wisconsin.

"Our goal is to continue and add to the tremendous tradition and fan following at Carolina," says Gary Sobba, the five year General Manager for Tar Heel Sports Marketing.

"I have worked on various college campuses for more than last 17 years," adds Sobba, "and if there is a better athletic program in the country than this one, I don't know where it is."

The Tar Heels Sports Network On Air Talent (l-r):
Lee Pace, Woody Durham, Jones Angell and Rick Steinbacher

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is in its 11th year as UNC's multimedia rights holder. All Carolina fans have heard of the Tar Heel Sports Network, which broadcasts the play-by-play of football and basketball games, but that is only one facet of the operation.

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is a full-service agency overseeing production and sales of all the University of North Carolina's football and basketball entities including television, print products, internet and radio.

THSM brings you a variety of ways to follow the Heels during the athletic season. Simply, listen to your radio on Thursday nights for the head coaches on their radio call-in shows or watch game highlights Saturday mornings on "Inside Carolina Football and Basketball," and on "Tar Heel Football Review Show" in the Triangle. When you are at Kenan Stadium pick-up the official game program.

The Tar Heel Sports Network continues to bring the great tradition of Carolina sports into your home.

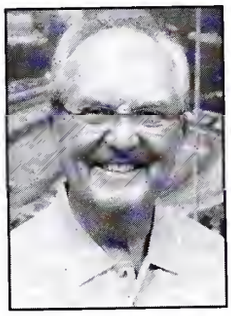

Woody Durham, beginning his 35th year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels," and Head Coach John Bunting give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk with the Coach every Thursday evening during the football season on the "John Bunting Live" call in show.

Durham also will visit with Coach Bunting on "Inside Carolina Football", a daily five-minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' Head Coach. Both of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

"Inside Carolina Football with John Bunting," hosted by Durham, is a half-hour television program seen each week on Fox Sports South. The show features highlights of the previous game, interviews with current and former Tar Heel players, and a preview of upcoming action.

NORTH CAROLINA FOOTBALL: TAR HEEL TRADITIONS

WHY TAR HEELS?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the Civil War. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'ns heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

RAM MASCOT

Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's nickname.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

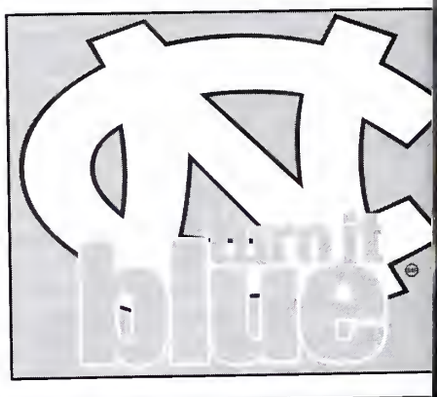

SCHOOL COLORS

The adoption of light blue and white as UNC's colors dates back to the 19th Century. When the University reopened following the Civil War, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white.

On public occasions the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body.

So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but University student body.
